RESOLUTION.—There has been considerable delay in the publication of the returns for the year under review, caused partly by the very large increase in the number and amount of voluntary contributions made by native gentlemen for works of public utility, and partly by the necessity of having to send back some of the lists to Divisional Commissioners for an accurate revision of the description of works and the names of the donors. The Lieutenant-Governor notices the increase referred to with great satisfaction, and has much pleasure in acknowledging the public spirit and liberality of the numerous donors who have provided the funds required for the execution of works designed for the public benefit.

Letters of acknowledgment will be forwarded by Government to those who have constructed important works. The gentlemen who have contributed Rs. 500 and under will, as usual, receive an acknowledgment from the Commissioner or the Magistrate of the Division.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the statement be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, and to all Commissioners of Divisions; to the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, and to all Superintending Engineers of Public Works Circles in Bengal for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution and of the statement be forwarded to the Revenue and Judicial Departments of this Government for information.

Ordered also that this Resolution and the statement be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

CHANGE IN THE CURRICULUM OF THE ROYAL AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CIRENCESTER.

THE following letters are published for general information.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 25th February 1886.

No. 109 (Revenue), dated India Office, London, the 24th December 1885.

From—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India,
To—The Government of India.

THE letter of Your Excellency in Council, No. 11 of the 4th July 1885 (Revenue and Agriculture), on the subject of omitting or rendering optional certain subjects comprised in the agricultural course at Cirencester College, has been referred to the Principal for his consideration.

2. I now forward a copy of Mr. McClellan's reply,* by which it appears that he has endeavoured, and I hope successfully, to meet the wishes of your Government in this matter, by omitting from the list of obligatory subjects for all students alike, Agricultural Law, Building Materials and Construction, and General Estate Management; and by making Drawing an optional subject with Indian Government scholars and civilians, extra courses in Veterinary Science being substituted for it.

* 14th October 1885.

No. 1, dated Cirencester, the 14th October 1885.

From—JOHN B. MCCLELLAN, ESQ., M.A., Principal, Cirencester Agricultural College,
To—The Under-Secretary of State for India.

IN accordance with your request, the despatch on the subject of omitting or rendering optional certain subjects comprised in the agricultural course at Cirencester College, dated 4th July 1885, has received my careful consideration.

Since the communication of mine of 19th November 1884, to which the despatch is a reply, after a further examination of the cases of the civilians and Native students, and of the necessity of maintaining the same diploma standard for all students of the College, I decided upon the entire omission from the obligatory curriculum, for all students, of three out of the four subjects under discussion, viz., not only (a) Agricultural law, and (b) Building Materials and Construction, but now also (c) General Estate Management.

You will observe, therefore, that all these, in conformity with the opinions of the Local and Central Governments, are no longer compulsory. They will continue to be taught as heretofore to any students who desire them, but they no longer form part of the course for the diploma, and accordingly no subjects are substituted for them.

As to the fourth subject, viz. Drawing, I do not consider it advisable to omit it in the case of all students, and the Bengal Government (18th May 1885 to the Government of India) desires its compulsory retention. But in order still further to meet the wishes of the Indian Government, I have made it an optional subject in the case of civilians and the Native Indian (Government) scholars, with the necessary alternative, however, of the substitution of extra courses, thus maintaining an equality of standard throughout with the rest of the students, without too violent a dislocation of the college system. The option can be that of the student, or, if preferred, that of any Government, as may be intimated to the Principal, but the extra courses selected are, for the reason given below, and as the Bengal Government expressly recommends, in Veterinary Science.

As to two other subjects mentioned by the Government of Bengal, viz. Mensuration and Book-keeping, I am of opinion that the Central Government and others are right in recognising the importance of not suggesting any interference with them, and the objections of the Bengal Government in respect of the latter will, I think, be obviated by calling attention to the fact that, although Book-keeping continues to be taught throughout the whole two-years' course (not three, as stated in Mr. MacDonnell's letter of 18th May), thus advantageously keeping up its practice to the end, still the time devoted to its teaching is in no way excessive or inimical to the other studies, being only one hour per week.

In regard to the impression that I have somewhat confused the distinct cases of the Covenanted Civil Service students and of the Native Indians, I had no intention of doing more than carry out what appeared to me the wish of the Government of India on the subject of Veterinary Science, as expressed particularly in the case of Mr. Symonds and again in the case of Mr. Mackenzie. Even in the despatch under consideration, it is expressly stated that, "in view of the very great importance to India of a diffusion of veterinary knowledge, we would strongly recommend that extra instruction in veterinary science should be substituted in the case of Indian Civil Servants and Scholars" for the subjects then proposed to be optional.

I enclose copies of official notices of the above modifications, and shall be obliged if you will submit this letter, or the substance of it, to the consideration of the Secretary of State for India in Council, expressing my thanks for the great assistance rendered to me by the communication of the views of the various Governments, together with my hope that our further efforts to adapt the curriculum of the College to the special requirements of students from India may obtain approval, and promote, in a yet higher degree than heretofore, the interests of the students and of the Presidencies.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 96 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

CALCUTTA, the 2nd March 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 26TH OF FEBRUARY 1886.

THE week has been characterised by the transition conditions which mark the close of the north-east or winter monsoon, and the gradual setting in of the summer monsoon. The principal features in the week have therefore been the steady rise of temperature with the corresponding fall of pressure, the replacement of northerly by southerly winds, and the consequent increase of humidity. At the close of the week the summer monsoon conditions appeared to have pretty firmly established themselves, steady south-westerly winds were blowing over the province, temperature was comparatively high, and pressure comparatively low, while humidity was decidedly above the normal.

At this season of the year, however, pressure generally falls very rapidly; but during the week under review, the fall has scarcely taken place so rapidly as usual. During the previous week pressure was 0·018″ above the normal, while the average pressure or the present week has been 0·024″ in excess of the normal. The distribution of thef excess pressure has been fairly equal, though at Gya a slightly defective pressure is reported.

Temperature has on the whole, during the week, been rather below the normal, and this has been particularly the case in South Behar, where the mean temperature for the week has been between 2° and 3° below the normal. In East and South-West Bengal, in North Behar and in Chutia Nagpur the defect has been between 1° and 2°. The actual rise of temperature during the week has not been very large, and the increase has been most marked in the south-western districts. Thus the increase in the mean temperature of Orissa for the week has been 2·3°, while in South-West Bengal the increase has been 1·4°. Some very high maximum temperatures were, however, reported on the last two days of the week, and on the 26th Cuttack registered 99·4° and Midnapore 95·3°, while on the 25th Balasore recorded 94·5°

Rainfall has been practically absent over the province for the whole week, and, except for a slight shower at Darjeeling, all the province has been rainless.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 26th February 1886 :—

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

The month under review is the first since April last that records an increase in the traffic. The total quantity lifted in November last is 24,380·58 tons against 21,546·35 tons carried during the corresponding period of 1884, the net increase being 2,834·23 tons or 13·15 per cent. This satisfactory result is due to increased despatches under all heads except ale, gunny-bags, railway material and seed, in which staples only there has been a falling off of 7·49, 345·56, 561·08 and 66·24 tons respectively. The net increase, it may be mentioned, would have been greater but for the difficulty alluded to in October's report, viz the silting of the Ganges and the consequent abandonment of the short Sara-Dumukdea route for the long lead vid Kushtea.

Increases.

Food-grains ... ... 3 003·72 tons.

The continued increase in the paddy traffic has contributed to this satisfactory result.

Ginger ... ... 70·35 tons.

Due to good crop and fair demand for export.

Jute ... ... 54·17 tons.

During the month the market for loose jute has been steady both in demand and price, but closed with a lower tendency.

Miscellaneous ... ... 151·78 tons.

A large traffic in timber has principally contributed to this increase.

Piece-goods ... ... 53·94 tons.

The falling off under this head in September and October last will account for the present increase.

Salt ... ... 132·77 tons.

The increase is a trade fluctuation and will probably be met by a falling off later on.

Sugar ... ... 33·66 tons.

There has been no change in the sugar market in the month under notice, and the present increase is but a trade fluctuation.

Tea ... ... 273·07 tons.

There has been a good demand during the month for all sorts of tea, those from the Darjeeling and Assam districts being most in favor.

Tobacco ... ... 41·14 tons.

Increase due to a good demand and fair price.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... 7·49 tons.

This traffic is chiefly regulated by the number of troops at Darjeeling.

Gunny-bags ... ... 345·56 tons.

Decreased demand for this staple for foreign exportation.

Railway material ... ... 561·08 tons

In November 1884 an unusually large quantity of sleepers were carried for the Engineering Department, and this accounts for the present falling off.

Seed ... ... 66·24 tons.

Decrease due to Calcutta market being unfavorable to despatches.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

From the statement given above, it will be seen that the gross weight lifted in all staples during the month under review stands at 26,543·74 tons against 22,847·85 tons carried during the corresponding period of 1884, the result being an improvement by 3,695·89 tons, or 16·17 per cent. The principal increases are in food-grains, ginger, jute, tea and in miscellaneous goods the decrease being chiefly in gunny-bags, railway material, salt and tobacco. The increase in food-grains is particularly encouraging, an unusually large traffic having been carried in this staple since August last.

Increases.

Food-grains ... ... 6,031·03 tons.

This is the heaviest traffic that has been recorded in this commodity since the opening of the line, it consisted of 7,640 92 tons of downwards and 385·04 of upwards.

Ginger . ... 93·54 tons.

The traffic in this staple is 825 97 per cent. better, owing to a good demand for export.

Jute ... ... 78·85 tons.

The Calcutta market for this commodity has not been so favorable as in the previous month, and the despatches have fallen short of last month's transit. The result is, however, ·8 per cent. better compared with the corresponding period of 1884.

Miscellaneous ... . 325·54 tons.

Under this head is included numerous articles of traffic, and it is not possible to trace the fluctuation with accuracy.

Piece-goods .. .. 11·65 tons.

This is a mere trade fluctuation.

Sugar ... ... 23·22 tons.

The increase is expected in the face of the falling off in July, August, September and October last.

Tea ... . 133 31 tons.

Increase due to a good demand and fair prices.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... 6·24 tons.

A falling off in public and commissariat despatches has contributed to this decrease.

Gunny-bags .. .. 443·78 tons.

There has not been much doing in this article during the month under review.

Railway materials ... ... 1,985·51 tons.

Decrease due to suspension of work for the Assam-Bihar Railway, and a smaller quantity of coal being carried for the Locomotive Department.

Salt ... ... 267 48 tons.

The decrease is a trade fluctuation and will probably be made up later on.

Seeds ... ... 73·44 tons.

Decrease due to a falling off in the demand.

Tobacco ... . 224·80 tons.

The continued increase in this traffic since April last will account for the present falling off. The long ferry of 22 miles to Kushtia still injuriously affects the traffic of the line, and until the ferry is moved to Damukdea, and the tonnage of the ferry is largely increased, the large accumulations at stations will continue.

ASSESSED TAXES.

No. 593.

The 5th February 1886.

In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Act II of 1886, and of all other power enabling him in this behalf, the Honourable the President in Council is pleased to make the following rules under the said Act:—

1. The time within which amounts deducted from salary, annuity, pension, or gratuity paid by a local authority under section 8, sub-section (1) of the Act must be paid to the credit of the Government of India is fixed at one week from the date of payment of the salary, pension, annuity, or gratuity. The payment to the credit of the Government shall be made by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement giving the following particulars for each person from whom the tax has been realised:—

(1) Name.
(2) Period for which the salary has been paid.
(3) Amount of salary paid.
(4) Amount of tax.

2. The return required by section 10 of the Act shall be in Form A hereto appended.

3. Any sums, such as payments to regimental mess or band funds or the like, compulsorily stopped from salary by the orders, or with the approval, of Government, shall be deducted from the salary previous to assessment.

A portion of salary withheld in persuance of an order of a Court is not a sum compulsorily stopped from salary within the meaning of this rule.

4. A deduction made from the amount of salary, pension, or annuity liable to assessment on account of a payment made to a life insurance company must be supported by the receipt of the insurance company for the payment and a copy thereof. When the deduction is claimed by a servant of the Government, or of a local authority, the officer paying the salary, pension, or annuity will compare the original receipt with the copy, return the original, and attach the copy to the salary, pension or annuity bill if the payee is a Government servant, and to the statement forwarded with the amount of the tax realised under Rule 1, if the payee is a servant of a local authority.

Where the Collector is satisfied that the original receipt of the insurance company cannot be produced without an amount of delay, expense, or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, he may accept such other proof of payment of the premium as he may deem sufficient.

5. The amounts exempted from assessment by section 5, sub-section (1), clause (g) of the Act and by rule 4 above shall not be deducted from income for the purpose of determining whether the income is liable to the tax, or of determining the rate at which the tax shall be levied.

6. The amount to be assessed under section 24, sub-section (1) of the Act on account of a building occupied by the owner thereof shall not in any case exceed 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner derived from all sources. It will not, however, be understood from this that a maximum of 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner is to be considered equivalent to the letting-value of his house. The letting-value will, in all cases, be ascertained on the best data available, in view of the circumstances of the locality in which the house is situated.

7. Salaries, annuities, and pensions paid in April 1886, though on account of March 1886, are liable to the tax.

8. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General or other auditing officer shall submit Return No. I in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

9. The certificates referred to in the second column of Part III of Schedule II of the Act shall be in Form B or in Form C hereto appended.

10. Any claim under section 5, sub-section (1), clause (e) of the Act to exemption from the levy of the tax on the interest of securities employed solely for religious or public charitable purposes within the meaning of that clause must be supported by a certificate from the Collector, which shall be in Form D hereto appended.

11. In the case of securities, the interest on which is payable by the Government of India, the amount deducted on account of the tax under section 13, sub-section (1) of the Act shall be paid to the credit of the Government on the same day as the payment of the interest is made.

12. In the case of securities, the interest on which is not payable by the Government of India, the amount so deducted shall be paid to the credit of the Government within one week from the date on which interest is paid. The person deducting the amount should pay it to the credit of the Government by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement showing the following particulars:—

(1) Name of owner.
(2) Description of security.
(3) Number of ,,
(4) Date of ,,
(5) Amount of ,,
(6) Period for which interest is drawn.
(7) Amount of interest.
(8) Amount of tax.

13. Interest on securities belonging to Service Funds shall not be assessed.

14. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General and Comptroller shall submit Return No. II in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

15. In calculating the amount of tax payable, the amount due on a fraction of a rupee shall be neglected. Thus the tax to be realised on a monthly salary of Rs. 166-10-8 is Rs. 4-5-2 only.

16. All public servants are forbidden to make public or disclose, except for the purpose of the working of Act II of 1886, any information contained in documents delivered or produced with respect to assessments under Part IV of the said Act, and any public servant committing a breach of this rule shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 166 of the Indian Penal Code.

17. Power to make further rules is hereby delegated to the several Local Governments.

18. Each Local Government will prescribe form of registers to be maintained by Collectors and others for the purpose of showing the demand and collections of the tax, the various classes of incomes assessed, and the working of the several provisions of the Act.

19. After the close of the year of assessment each Local Government will submit to the Government of India in the Financial Department a report on the working of the Act.

HYDROGRAPHIC NOTICE.

(Superseding all previous Hydrographic Notices.)

BAY OF BENGAL.—COAST OF ORISSA.

The following information, resulting from a recent survey of False Point Harbour, has been furnished by the Deputy Conservator to the Calcutta Port Trust, in the Bengal Government steamer Undaunted in January 1886.

[All Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 2° 40′ E. in 1886.]

FALSE POINT HARBOUR is formed by the Island of Dowdeswell (called Nurrea Banga Nassa), which is merely a sand cay with short jungle and coarse grass extending in a North and N. W. direction; the extreme Northerly point of dry land is now 6 6 miles N. N. E. of the Light-house, and consists of a few broken pieces of land formed into islands with very low jungle upon them.

REDDIE HEAD has been entirely washed away during the cyclone of September 1885, but the sand spit which formerly existed has gone further seaward.

HOOKEY TOLLAH, the small location on the inner side of Dowdeswell Island where the Port Officer and Custom House Officers resided, has been entirely washed away, and there is now only the Refuge-house and a few cocoanut-trees left standing.

THE REFUGE-HOUSE is painted white, and can be easily distinguished from seaward.

THE OUTER COAST-LINE extends two miles East from the Light-house, and consists of low islands covered with jungle. The shape of these Islands are continually changing on account of the alteration in the mouth of the Mahanádi river; but they trend gradually round until they meet Dowdeswell Island.

The water is steep-to, except off the mouth of the Mahanádi river, where the bar extends about one mile seaward, and in Easterly gales a very heavy surf gets up right along this beach.

THE INNER COAST-LINE of the bay—extending from False Point Light-house to Bakood Creek, embracing what was formerly known as Plowden Island, past the entrance to Jumboo river and towards Temple Point—is formed of high, dense jungle fringed deeply with mangroves and extensive mud flats.

From Temple Point to the South Baroni river the land is low and covered with coarse grass and scrub, interspersed here and there with thick jungle and mangrove swamps; the foreshore is fringed deeply with sand which forms the high-water line.

JUMBOO LOCATION was built in 1876, and consists of a Telegraph office, Public Works Department bungalow, and a Custom's warehouse; it is situated on the left bank of the Soonta creek, and shows well up from the anchorage. The Port Officer and the Customs authorities, since Hookey Tollah has been washed away, reside there.

FALSE POINT LIGHT-HOUSE, situated in latitude 20° 19′ 20″ N., longitude 86° 44′ 27″ E., on a sand hill surrounded with jungle, is a laterite masonry tower of reddish colour with a large ten-pointed white star in the centre facing South-East; it exhibits at 126 feet above the level of high-water an occulting white dioptric light of the first order, obscured four seconds once in every half minute, and illuminating an arc of 200°, viz, from S. S. W. through West and North to N. E. ¼ N. The light is visible in clear weather from a distance of 19 miles.

The light was first exhibited in the year 1838, but the present first class dioptric light was exhibited in 1880, and converted into an occulting light in 1884.

CAUTION.—During the months from December till March fog banks and mist occasionally rise on the land and materially interfere with the brilliancy of the light, and in some instances causes it to show a deep red colour, or disappear as if suddenly extinguished. Vessels cannot, therefore, during these months be too cautious when closing the land in the vicinity of the light, and should keep the lead going frequently.

A very good guide, when closing the land and the light not seen, is to carefully examine the nature of the bottom, and immediately the navigator finds sand mixed with mud the vessel's head should be put off shore and wait for daylight.

THE STORM-WAVE of the 22nd September 1885 rose at the Light-house 14·6 feet above the mean sea level, or 19·7 feet above low-water; a stone has been let into the ground to mark the spot.

BEACONS AND CONSPICUOUS MARKS.—The principal beacon on the North part of Dowdeswell Island is an iron tripod, surmounted with a black ball, 40 feet in height, situated 6·6 miles N. N. E. from False Point Light-house, but seaward of this the sand at low-water extends in a N. W. ½ W. direction for about 800 yards, and will probably still keep extending. A small iron beacon, surmounted with a cross, is placed N. 45° W., 565 yards from the tripod, and with the two in line makes a good anchorage mark for deep vessels.

Three quarters of a mile within Temple Point, or the West shore of the bay, is a remarkable tree, the highest in its vicinity, and known as Temple-tree, with a pole and black basket projecting from its top, which bears from Dowdeswell Island tripod W. ¼ S, distant about 4 miles.

The only mark of importance on the Southern shore is Prince Arthur's beacon, situated on the sand hills off Prince Arthur's Point, Dowdeswell Island; it consists of a pole and cage, painted white, and bears from Dowdeswell tripod S ¼ E., distant $2\frac{7}{10}$ miles.

BUOYS.—Fairway buoy, black and white chequered, with staff and white cage lies in 4½ fathoms at lowest low-water spring tides with Temple-tree bearing W. S. W. and Dowdeswell tripod S. ¼ W., distant 1¼ miles.

OUTER WESTERN BUOY, a black conical buoy with staff and black cage, lies in 18 feet, N. W. ¼ N., 7 cables from the tripod, and indicates the Western side of the Fairway channel.

SPIT BUOY, red can buoy, surmounted with a spire and red cage, lies off Reddie Point in 21 feet. N. N. W. ¾ W. from Dowdeswell tripod and indicates the extreme North spit of sand, and also marks the Eastern side of the Fairway channel.

A small red nun buoy, about one cable to the W. S. W. of the spit buoy, marks the extreme shoal water off the apex of the sand at Reddie Head.

FOUR buoys denote the boundary of the Inner anchorage; on the Western limit two black buoys, and on the Eastern limit two red buoys; each buoy lies in about 12 feet at lowest low-water.

ANCHORAGE.—The Outer anchorage, for vessels making a short stay, is Tripod beacon and Cross beacon in line bearing S. E., in 4 fathoms, and about midway between the Outer Western buoy and the small red nun buoy off the spit of Reddie Head.

For the Inner anchorage vessels can take up any position between the buoys marking the channel.

TIDES.—It is high-water, full and change, at the Inner anchorage off Hookey Tollah at 1X hours 15 minutes; ordinary springs rise 7 feet and neaps 4 feet. The range of tide, however, is much affected by the fresh water out of the numerous creeks, and also by the prevailing winds; the best or highest tides occur during the N. E. monsoon, and the least or lowest tides in the month of May. The tidal streams within the harbour set fairly through the several channels, and at springs average a velocity of 2 knots an hour. After heavy rains, when the freshets come down the Bakood and Jumboo rivers, the ebb stream, which runs out round Reddie Head and past the red spire buoy, is very swift, sometimes attaining a rate of 4 or 5 knots an hour.

At half a mile outside and Eastward of Reddie Point the flood stream sets to North; at the Fairway buoy to N. W., whilst midway between the buoy and Reddie Point, it sets to W. S. W. Great attention, therefore, is necessary in entering the port on a flood tide, as explained in the directions which are given further on.

In the offing the flood sets to N. E., the ebb to S. W., at the rate of about one knot per hour; but the velocity is much influenced by the prevailing wind, so that the flood stream (augmented by the ocean current) in the S. W. monsoon attains sometimes a speed of 4 knots.

SUPPLIES, TRADE, &c.—Good water can be procured at the Canal Lock about one mile up the Jumboo river by using the vessels' boats. Firewood is plentiful and cheap.

Provisions are scarce and expensive; sheep, vegetables, &c., can be obtained from Katak, and from villages within a radius of 20 miles; but it is better to obtain all provisions and live-stock from Calcutta by means of the weekly British India steamers.

False Point is the most important harbour of Katak and the Orissa district; the exports are chiefly rice, horns, hides and oil-seeds, the value of which for the year 1884-85 amounted to Rs. 26,31,456.

The value of imports, the principal of which were cotton twist, piece-goods, metal opium, liquor, and gunnys, was for the same period Rs. 3,29,087.

Small comfortable steamers belonging to Messrs. Bulloch & Co. meet all the British India vessels, and convey passengers and cargo to Katak through the canal at very moderate rates.

DIRECTIONS.—Vessels from the Southward, bound to False Point Outer anchorage in the S. W. monsoon, on approaching the Light-house, should not shoal into less than 10 fathoms. When the Light-house bears N. W., distant 4½ miles, in soundings of 10 fathoms olive mud bottom, alter course to N. N. E., for about 7 miles, or until the tripod on Dowdeswell Island bears N. W. ½ W. Thence a N. W. by N. course for about 3½ miles will place a vessel in about 7 fathoms mud, one mile off shore, with Dowdeswell tripod bearing Southward of West. Haul in gradually until Temple-tree, the Jumboo location buildings and flagstaff, on the West shore of the bay, are well open to the Northward of Dowdeswell Island and anchor as convenient.

If proceeding to the Inner anchorage, pass westward of the red spire buoy, off Reddie Point (taking care to guard against an eddy, extending from the pitch of the point to the 3-fathom line), and steer up the harbour, being guided by the buoys, to the required anchorage. It should be observed that with a strong flood-stream (which will reveal itself by drifting a vessel rapidly to the Northward) it will be found best to steer in on a Southerly course, bringing the vessel's head through the S. E. quadrant to East and N. E., so as to breast the tide before anchoring. Instances have occurred of steamers steering in towards Reddie Point, and attempting to turn to starboard, or through S. W. and N. W. on the flood-tide; thus they were rapidly swept across (see tides) the channel to the Westward, and grounded in the shoal water extending from Temple Point.

From abreast Hookey Tollah, boat channels, winding through mud banks and partially buoyed, lead to the Bakood and Jumboo creeks. There is also a channel available for boats, through mud flats and mangrove, leading to False Point Light-house, the banks on either side being marked with stakes.

BOUNDARIES OF THE PORT.—On the North.—A line drawn from Temple-tree through, and beyond the Fairway buoy to meet the Eastern limit.

On the South.—A line drawn from Prince Arthur beacon on the South side of Dowdeswell Island to Black Point beacon (entrance to Jumboo river).

On the East.—A line drawn from Prince Arthur beacon (on the South side of Dowdeswell Island) through and beyond the tripod beacon on Dowdeswell Island to meet the North limit.

On the West.—The right bank of the Jumboo river as far Northward as the Canal Lock, and thence in a line to Temple-tree, including the river and creek banks, to within 50 yards above high-water mark.

The 25th March, the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd, and 29th April; and the 6th and 13th May 1885.

1. In Notification No. 179, dated 18th August 1879, under the provisions of Part II of Act III of 1876, Government has reserved to itself the rights of property in the water in the following canals and river beds forming part of the Sarun irrigation scheme :—

Licenses will be required—

(a) For the construction of temporary dams in the canal beds.
(b) For the irrigation of lands by flow or lift.
(c) For the construction of village channels and distributaries leading from the canals for the irrigation of lands.
(d) For water used for the purpose of any manufacture by any person other than a Canal Manager.

3. Government reserves at present its right to levy tolls for irrigation, and to charge for filling tanks, watering cattle, or for water for other domestic purposes.

4. The revenue administration of the Sarun irrigation scheme is vested in the Collecter, who is ex-officio head of the Canal Revenue Department. The Executive Engineer of the Gunduck Division as canal officer is charged with the maintenance and management of the canals, but all orders passed by him under the Act or these rules are appealable to the Collector, under whose general directions he will act. All orders relating to the canal revenue will usually be issued by the Collector (through the Executive Engineer or not, as the case may be), and all correspondence intended for the Collector in this department should be addressed to the Collector direct, or through the Executive Engineer, Mozufferpore, or the Assistant Engineer, Gopalgunge.

5. For administrative purposes, the Sarun district is divided into the sub-districts enumerated in the following rule, and shown in a map deposited in the Collector's office. The boundaries of the sub-districts and their number may be hereafter modified.

6. The following guarantors are, till further orders, appointed Canal Managers, and will, within the undermentioned sub-districts, act as the agents of Government in managing the affairs of the canals.

Ditto	Sitalpur	ditto.

7. The more particular duties of a canal manager will be—

1st—To receive applications and grant permits, printed in the prescribed form for the use of water under sections 74, 75, and 77 of the Irrigation Act.

2nd—Subject to the instructions of the canal officers to distribute, under the provisions of section 76, the water-supply allotted to his sub-district.

3rd—To recover and credit to Government the water-rates.

8. Canal Managers have no power under Parts III, IV, and V of the Act; and all claims to remission under section 76 of Part VI should be referred to the canal officer or his assistant for disposal. Complaints regarding unauthorised use of canal water under sections 79, 80, and 81 are also to be referred to the canal officer or Collector for decision. All proceedings connected with the recovery of water-rates by distraint or other compulsory process will be undertaken by the Collector.

9. Any Manager desiring the construction of a temporary dam across the Roopan Chap Sota, or across the bed of the Daha, Gandaki, Dhanai, or Gangri rivers must prefer a written application to the canal officer, specifying the object of the work and the length of time for which it is required. It will be at the discretion of the canal officer to reject the application or to grant it on such conditions as he may think fit, one of the conditions being the power reserved to the canal officer of cutting the bund, if it should ever appear to him in the public interests necessary to do so.

Provided, however, that no such dam shall be constructed without due provision being made, by means of a proper escape channel, for the supply to the guarantor or guarantors, on the same river below such dam, of the share of water to which he or they may be entitled under the decision of the canal officer.

10. Any person other than a Manager who may desire to construct a temporary dam across the bed of any of the rivers mentioned in the last rule must prefer his application to the Canal Manager in charge of the sub-district in which the site of the proposed dam lies. The latter will then forward the application with his remarks to the canal officer for orders.

11. Any person, whether he be a Canal Manager or not, who constructs a dam across any of the river beds referred to in rule 9, without having first obtained the written permission of the canal officer, or who, after the construction of an authorized dam, does or abets the doing of any act to impede the free flow of water through the escape channel provided for such dam, will be liable to prosecution under section 93, Act III (B.C.) of 1876, Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code, or otherwise as may seem proper to the Collector.

12. With reference to rule 7, paragraph 2 above, it will be competent to the Canal Manager, subject to the control of the canal officer, and on his own responsibility,* to allow the construction of such temporary dams in any of the village channels (subsidiary to the main river beds mentioned in rule 9) within his sub-district, as he may consider necessary for the proper distribution of the water-supply allotted thereto.

* With reference to the possible damage to crops, &c.

13. If one or more of the riparian proprietors desire to have a permanent dam or regulator constructed in any channel or river bed, he or they shall present an application to that effect to the Collector, who will consult the Canal Manager and the canal officer as to the desirability of constructing such dam or regulator. Should its construction be deemed desirable, the Collector will cause plans and estimates to be prepared, and he shall also call upon the applicants to deposit the cost (including cost of establishment), or to give a guarantee securing its payment when required, and providing that, if the cost of the work should, through unforeseen causes, exceed the original estimate, the balance will be made good by the applicant. The agreement will also provide for the dam or regulator being kept in proper repair, as well as for its being taken over by Government at a fair valuation, should this ever be considered expedient. The construction of such dam or regulator will be carried out by the canal officer, who shall also have power to stop all supplies of water if it is not subsequently maintained in proper repair.

14. Each application for a permanent dam or regulator will be considered on its own merits, and will only be granted on such conditions as the Collector, in consultation with the Superintending Engineer, shall consider fit.

15. A register will be kept of the owners of each permanent dam or regulator, and any person may at any time apply to the canal officer to be made a joint owner. It shall be the duty of the canal officer to report fully on the matter to the Collector, giving his own opinion as to whether the application should be allowed or rejected, provided that before reporting in favour of allowing an applicant to become a joint owner, the canal officer shall issue a notice upon the registered owner or owners, and take into consideration any objections which they may prefer. The Collector, on receipt of the proceedings may, after holding a further enquiry, if he thinks it to be necessary, pass an order (a)—rejecting the application, or (b) directing that the applicant shall be registered as a joint owner on payment of a specified sum to the registered owner or owners.

16. Persons desiring to irrigate their fields with canal water by flow or lift must apply in person or by agent to the Canal Manager, whereupon the latter shall issue a permit in the prescribed form (Appendix B). The right to irrigate without extra charge extends up to the 31st of March following, the date on which the permit was issued; provided, however, that under the operation of this rule one and the same crop be not assessed more that once. The rate charged shall not exceed Re. 1 per acre (or 12 annas per bigha), irrespective of the crops grown, except in special cases to be determined by Government.

17. Any person, other than a Canal Manager, desirous of taking water for the manufacture of indigo must apply for a permit to the Canal Manager, stating the estimated outturn, and undertaking that he will, on the 1st of October, declare the quantity he has manufactured. The charge will be at the rate of Rs. 2 per maund of indigo manufactured.

18. No person may allow water to run to waste, and no person, other than a Canal Manager, may use water for irrigation or for any other purpose without having first obtained a permit as required by the preceding two rules. Any person infringing this rule will, with the consent in writing of the Collector (but not otherwise), be charged double the ordinary rates for the water used without authority or wasted, and will, in addition, be liable, on prosecution by the Collector or canal officer, to the penalty provided by section 93 of Act III (B.C.) of 1876, or by any other law under which his offence may come. The charge in such cases will, as a rule, be laid by the Canal Manager by the submission to the canal officer or Collector of an "Unauthorized Irrigation Certificate." See (Appendix C.)

19. The privileges of guarantors are as follows:—

(1) A prior claim to a supply of water for irrigation and manufacture during the continuance of their guarantee.

(2) The right to use water for manufacturing purposes free of charge.

20. Any person may apply to the Collector to become a guarantor. If the Collector accept the application, which, at his discretion, he may or may not do, he shall proceed, in communication with the canal officer, to determine whether the new guarantee shall be utilized towards extending the canals, providing distributaries or embankments, or towards reducing the responsibility of any of the original guarantors. If the original guarantor (within whose sub-district the applicant's property or interest is situated) claims a reduction in his guarantee, and can at the same time show that the application of the new guarantor towards an extension of the canal would operate to reduce his collections below the amount of his guarantee, his claims to have his guarantee reduced shall be considered: otherwise the new guarantee may be applied towards extending the canals, and an area corresponding to the applicant's property or interests be marked off to him, within which he shall exercise the rights and privileges now exercised in their sub-districts by the guarantors mentioned in paragraph 6 of these rules.

If the applicant's interest or property be not situated within any sub-district, as specified in paragraph 6, then the Collector shall apply the guarantee towards extending the benefits of the canal system.

21. The irrigation year will commence on the 1st April; and as soon as possible after the irrigation of any land has been completed or the manufacture of indigo (by a person other than the Canal Manager) has been concluded, the Canal Manager shall present the persons who used the water with bills for water-rate (in a form approved by Government), based upon the actual area irrigated or the outturn of indigo manufactured. If these bills are not paid—(a) in the case of indigo manufacture within one month after presentation, (b) in the case of rubbi crops by the 1st March, (c) in the case of other crops within one month after the crop irrigated has been cut, the Canal Manager shall, without delay, submit a list of such unpaid bills to the Collector, who will put in force the powers vested in him for the recovery of the amount due in accordance with sections 83, 84, and 85 of the Indian Irrigation Act. Such list must be supported by the counterfoils of the bills prepared by the Manager, as well as by his personal certificate, that he has satisfied himself of the justness of the claims; and in the case of unauthorized irrigation, by the "Unauthorized Irrigation Certificates" (Appendix C) required by rule 18.

22. The sums thus recovered by the Collector will be placed in his (the Collector's) accounts to the credit of the Canal Manager as a set-off against the amount due from him under his guarantee for the year during which such recoveries are made. The Canal Manager will be entitled to a commission of 20 per cent. on all recoveries (over and above the amount of his guarantee), made either by himself or by the Collector on lists submitted on or before the 31st March. Sums due on this account will not be shown by the Manager in his accounts, but will be paid to him by cheque after the adjustment by the Collector of the year's accounts. No percentage allowance will be granted to the Manager in respect of recoveries made by the Collector on lists submitted later than the 31st March, although the amount of such recoveries will, as stated above, be credited to him as an asset against the amount of his guarantee.

23. For water used by a Manager for the irrigation of his own lands, he will be charged at the ordinary rate of Re. 1 per acre (or 12 annas per bigha), and for sums due on this account he will not be entitled to any commission allowance.

24. It will be the duty of Canal Managers—

1st—To see that all permits for the use of water be issued in the prescribed form, and a copy be kept in counterfoil in books supplied for the purpose.

2nd—That copies of bills presented for payment be kept in the counterfoils supplied, for record.

3rd—That a cash-book of all receipts of water-rates be kept in form supplied for the purpose.

4th—That for all cash received receipts be granted in the form supplied by the canal officer, which will be kept in counterfoil.

5th—That all cash received be paid monthly into the sub-divisional or district treasury, and that the treasury receipts be filed with the cash-book as vouchers.

6th—To submit such returns as may be required from time to time by the Collector.

7th—To afford every facility to the canal officer and Collector in their periodical inspection of the Canal Managers' office and accounts.

25. The amount yearly guaranteed by each Manager is payable in two equal instalments, viz. on the 30th of June and the 31st December of each year, and any arrear due on either of these dates will be deemed to be a demand under Act VII (B.C.) of 1880, and shall be recoverable by the processes prescribed by the above Act.

26. A yearly adjustment up to the 31st March will be made of each Manager's account as soon as possible after the close of the official year (31st March). For this purpose each Manager will, by the 15th April, submit to the Collector in duplicate a statement in form Appendix D, with the entries of the first ten columns duly filled in. The Collector will supply the figures for the remaining columns, and return one copy to the Manager with a cheque for the sum payable on account of commission as shown in column 14, should no arrears from him be due. The Collector will also require the immediate deposit by the Manager of any arrears which may be shown to be due. Such arrears, if not paid within one month after due notice to the Manager, will be recoverable under the Certificate Procedure Act (VII B.C. of 1880).

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

THE following Minute, recorded by Mr. Justice Prinsep, after inspecting certain Civil Courts in the interior, is published for general information.

HIGH COURT;
APPELLATE SIDE, FORT WILLIAM,
The 8th March 1886.

By order of the High Court,
C. A. WILKINS,
Registrar.

In his Despatch transmitting the Letters Patent constituting this High Court, the Secretary of State for India wrote:

"Clause 30 * * * * is a very important provision . . Circumstances may frequently arise when the deputation of a Judge or Judges of the High Court would be a measure of the highest expediency. For such cases the clause under consideration will enable the Government to provide by deputing one or more Judges from the High Court who would avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded them of making searching enquiry into the manner in which the Local Courts were performing their duties." (Sir C Wood's Despatch No. 24 of 14th May 1862.)

* of the Letters Patent, 1862.

The Judges of the High Court in 1865 accordingly determined that an inspection of the Lower Courts should be made, and Sir B Peacock, the Chief Justice, selected Mr. Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson for this duty. It would have been impossible to have attempted an inspection of all the Civil Courts in Bengal. The task would have been most laborious and prolonged, and it would have resulted in no benefit at all proportionate to the time expended.. It was, therefore, settled that the object in view would best be attained by inspecting the Civil Courts of all grades at the head-quarters of each district with occasional visits to other Courts conveniently situated on the line of country traversed. Mr. Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson proceeded in different directions, and visited nearly every district in this Presidency, being engaged on this work for several months. To ensure a regular inspection of the Subordinate Civil Courts, the High Court has invariably required District Judges at short intervals to inspect the Civil Courts subordinate to them and to report the result of such inspections.

Since then no attempt has been made at any inspection of the Civil Courts by a Judge of the High Court, except in 1875, when the Courts at the head-quarters of four of the eastern districts were inspected by Mr. Justice Louis Jackson. Personally I have always strongly advocated such periodical inspection, and I think that a perusal of the reports of previous inspections will show the necessity for this duty being regularly undertaken at intervals. This opinion has, however, not been generally held by the High Court of recent years. Some months ago the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal strongly represented the necessity for an inspection in consequence of what he himself had recently seen during one of his tours. It was accordingly settled that the work should be undertaken, and I was requested to perform the duty, the time allotted being somewhat limited owing to the state of the judicial work of the High Court.

It was not to be expected that any one Judge should be able in a few weeks to make a complete and thorough inspection of all the Civil Courts at the head-quarters of every district in Bengal. The work is very laborious and troublesome, and although the means of communication have greatly improved since 1865, there are still many difficulties in the way of rapid and convenient travelling which I need not here describe. It is also for many reasons very undesirable that such an inspection should be conducted by only one Judge. The experience so acquired cannot be communicated on paper; it is obvious that greater benefit to the High Court will be derived, if such experience be more diffused among the Judges; the inspecting Judges by communication amongst themselves will frequently be led to direct their attention to matters which must occasionally escape the notice of one of them; the recommendations made as the result of an inspection must carry more weight if coming from several Judges; and the duty will be more easily performed if delegated to more than one Judge. I hope, therefore, that, on the next occasion for inspecting the Courts, the work will be divided amongst two or more Judges, and that full time will be given for a thorough and complete inspection.

I have been able to visit only a few of the districts of this Presidency, and in my desire to make my inspection as much general as possible during the time allotted to me, I have endeavoured to select districts from various quarters representing the characteristics of the different litigation in our Courts, and by this means in some measure to ascertain how work is done in the Subordinate Courts in Behar, Orissa, in Suburban Districts, in Eastern Bengal, and in Chittagong. I am conscious that my work has been done somewhat hurriedly and not as thoroughly as I desired, but I had to choose between inspecting only a very few districts completely, and thus acquiring a very limited experience of a small number of Courts, and endeavouring to extend my enquiries so as to make a more general report, which may serve to show how necessary a thorough and complete inspection is. I hope that I may thus succeed in ensuring the performance of this task at an early date, and that such an inspection will extend to the entire Presidency, including the Courts that I have recently visited, so as to complete what I have been obliged to leave undone.

Most of the districts visited by me were selected by the Government of Bengal, but in order to make my inspection more general I added to this list. I visited the following districts in the order stated—

Cuttack.	Mozufferpore.
Nuddea	Beerbhoom.
Chittagong.	Burrisaul.
Shahabad.	Jessore (including Khoolna).

En route I also visited Patna, Hajeepore, Perozepore, and Bagirhat; but the short time that I was able to stop at these places prevents my regarding those visits as more than casual inspections. In the two places lastmentioned, I also sat with the Munsifs, but not sufficiently long to enable me to form a very definite idea of their proceedings Practically I was unable to do more than inspect the Courts at the head-quarters of the districts first-mentioned.

On an average I allowed myself one day to each Civil Court, sitting in turn with each Judicial officer and inspecting all the offices. In this latter duty I was much assisted by Baboo Krishto Prosono Bose, Serishtadar of the Judge's Court at Hooghly, a very able and experienced officer, whose services have been invaluable to me, and whose recent death is much to be lamented. After hearing each Judge try a case, or a portion of a case, it was my practice to examine the order-sheet showing the proceedings previously taken in it. Any irregularities in those proceedings were then pointed out I next examined the diary so as to learn the general course of business in the Court, and for that purpose I used to send for the records of several cases heard on previous days. The outline of my tour was never settled more than a day or so in advance. If the Courts had been so inclined, they could have no opportunity of anticipating my visits, so as to arrange their work beforehand; but even if any such preparation had been made, such as was found and described by Mr Justice Loch in 1866, it would have had little or no effect on an inspection as conducted by me. As I proceeded from district to district, I recorded notes which have been communicated to the Judges of the High Court, as well as to the officers concerned. I propose now to summarise the general result and to make such suggestions as seem to me to be likely to lead to an improvement in the administration of justice.

As regards the manner in which business is conducted and trials held in the Mofussil Courts of first instance, I have found much to commend, but I have also found everywhere a very irregular and objectionable practice before any contested case comes to trial which I will presently describe.

In Bengal, where the evidence is given and recorded in Bengali, the judicial officers, with one exception, recorded the evidence with their own hands. The depositions were afterwards read over to the witnesses generally by these officers. I observed, however, that occasionally, to save time, the depositions were read by a mohurir while the trial proceeded. This is not altogether regular, as the law (section 183) requires that the evidence of each witness when completed shall be read over in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and also in the presence of the parties or their pleaders.

In Behar the evidence is recorded in the Kaithee character which none of the judicial officers can write. Consequently, the services of a mohurir are called in, and the work is not conducted with the same expedition as in Bengal. Notes of the evidence are recorded by the judicial officers, generally in English.

The provisions of the Code regarding the admission of documentary evidence are observed, and I had no reason to find fault with the conduct of trials which took place before me. Less attention is paid to the execution of decrees, because the amount of judicial work that every officer is called upon to perform leaves him little or no time for anything else. Matters connected with the execution of decrees are therefore too often left to the office establishment, and as this establishment is too weak and is underpaid, the assistance of unpaid and irresponsible apprentices is called in. That this system has worked so well is marvellous. No one, however, who has had any practical experience of it cannot but deprecate the causes which have necessitated a recourse to it, and therefore I trust that steps will soon be taken to remove the possibility of such abuses. I shall again refer to this subject when noticing the office establishments of the Subordinate Civil Courts.

With the proceedings during the trial of a case no very serious fault can be found, although improvement in many respects must be effected before a comparison can be challenged with Courts having superior advantages. The work is intelligently, carefully, and regularly done; further elaboration in details must follow in course of time; and as all the Courts are notoriously overworked, I was not inclined to attach very great importance to what I regarded as comparatively small matters of detail. Such criticisms seemed to me to be more likely to discourage officers whose zeal and devotion to the service cannot be too highly commended, than, in the present state of the work, to bring about any very necessary improvement.

But although, after the commencement of a trial, the proceedings are open to little objection, the system, which is everywhere in force before a contested case actually comes on for trial, cannot be too strongly condemned.

A case is rarely tried on the day originally fixed, unless it be a short case or one tried ex parte. On the day fixed for its disposal, after settlement of issues, it is nearly always found that it cannot be heard because the judicial officer is engaged either on his board of short causes or is obliged to try some older case which has already been subject to the process of postponement that I am about to describe. The case is called up late in the day. If the witnesses are in attendance,—and this is rare,—they are discharged without examination, and another day is fixed, probably one month later, because arrangements have already been made for the work of the particular Court for that period, and it is not possible, without great inconvenience, to disturb those arrangements. But it not unfrequently happens that the board has been settled for a much longer period than one month, and, with the desire at least to have the appearance of endeavouring to try the case on an early date, and so to escape all risk of censure, the case is stuffed into an already over-crowded board, so that, if it is tried on that date, it displaces cases which have some claim to precedence from standing before it on the list of business, although they may not be of such old institution. Confusion consequently ensues, and it becomes almost impossible to restore a regular course of business; indeed, it is obvious that unless the work is well under control, or is not sufficient to occupy the entire time of the particular Judge, or an additional officer is sent to his assistance, order will not be restored. Unfortunately our Courts of first instance, except in rare instances, have more work than they can properly perform Where they can get through their work, it is in many respects, especially in matters of execution, done hurriedly and in a very perfunctory manner. The system, therefore, which I have described has degenerated into something more irregular, advantage has been taken of the tenderness of the Code in providing parties with the means of enforcing the attendance of unwilling witnesses, and the parties obtain a series of postponements, until the Court is really prepared to commence the trial, without the expense and inconvenience of having their witnesses in attendance on each day fixed for trial by having recourse to sham processes. It becomes recognised that the case will not be tried on the day fixed, so neither party has his evidence ready. But unless some excuse for asking for a postponement is forthcoming, the case may be called on and dismissed on default. The defendant, too, has to be prepared for the possible contingency of the case being heard on the evidence of the plaintiff, when he may suffer if he cannot furnish some excuse for the absence of his own witnesses. The pleaders of both sides generally settle such matters amongst themselves, although occasionally it may be necessary, as I have endeavoured to show, for each side to be prepared to act independently to provide against the risk of an adverse summary order.

The law provides a possible means of escape, and the laxness with which that law has been administered affords additional facilities. A representation is made by one of the parties that some witness has failed to attend on service of summons, and a postponement is asked for in order that he may be arrested. No enquiry is made whether the other evidence is forthcoming, or, if not forthcoming, why there has been this neglect. Rarely does it happen that both parties ask for a coercive process, and from this it may fairly be inferred that the pleaders for both parties have settled amongst themselves what course should be taken; I cannot recollect ever to have found that an objection was made to a postponement thus applied for. Again, a warrant for the arrest of a witness is hardly ever executed, from which it would seem that no attempt is made to arrest him. The case comes on again in due course with the same result, only the application made is varied. A proclamation is asked for and issued requiring the attendance of the witness on a specified day to which the trial is adjourned. Again is the case called on for hearing, and it not unfrequently happens that another application for postponement on the same ground is made, and the Court is asked to attach the property of the witness. A general order of attachment goes out, and the case is again postponed. Even then I have found further adjournments apparently for the same cause. In one district I found that a new kind of proclamation had been invented—a kind of desperate notice that the Court was this time in earnest, and that whatever happened the case would be tried. Sometimes also, after all these coercive processes had been exhausted, I have found an order passed that ten days' time is allowed to the parties to produce their evidence. In one case I found that on the day fixed for trial no evidence was forthcoming on either side, but the plaintiff's pleader obtained a warrant for the arrest of one of his witnesses, although some others amongst them had also been served, and were absent, and at each stage of the case the same witness was pursued by the entire series of processes until eventually the case was tried, no notice being taken of the contumacy of this witness who was eventually examined and discharged. Then the trial begins, the witnesses on whom repeated processes have failed to make any impression, attend of their own accord, the evidence is recorded, and judgment delivered; but no notice is ever taken of the contempt of Court committed. The witnesses are discharged without being even asked to explain the cause of their previous absence.

There is unfortunately nothing new in the practice that I have described. It was condemned by Mr Justice Loch and Mr. Justice Elphinstone Jackson in 1865, and it has been repeatedly denounced ever since whenever it has come under the notice of the High Court. But although I have found this system in full force everywhere, I am glad to be able to add that I have not found in any case that, when the trial has once commenced, its course has been interrupted by the discharge of witnesses in attendance and an order for their return for examination after an interval. The provisions of section 156 of the Code in this respect are, I believe, carefully observed.

The system has taken such firm root that it has become extremely difficult to eradicate it. Subordinate Judges who hear the majority of appeals have been brought up in it and are therefore inclined to regard any strictness of procedure on the part of a Munsif in trying cases on the days fixed and in dealing with them summarily on default of evidence as an unnecessary innovation resulting in hardship to the parties and a probable failure of justice. A Munsif may announce his determination to try cases out on the days fixed for trial on whatever evidence may be forthcoming, but the pleaders and parties will not readily accept this order, and the result will be that cases will be decided on deficient evidence, or decreed ex parte, or dismissed on default. The Munsif will become extremely unpopular. He will earn the unenviable reputation of being summary and unjust. Complaints will be made everywhere—in the Native Press, anonymously to all his superiors in turn, until they reach the High Court and even the Government. His labours to restore order will not be recognised, for his orders will, on appeal, be set aside by the Subordinate Judge, the cases being returned for re-trial; he will become disheartened; and he will probably suffer in promotion for the unfavourable reputation he has earned, without proper enquiry into its cause.

Any reform must, in my opinion, commence at the top. As Courts of first instance, Subordinate Judges have less excuse for postponing a case than Munsifs. The cases coming before them are fewer in number, and therefore their work shou'd be more under control. It should be impressed upon them that original suits, in which the persons concerned are more numerous, should always be heard before appeals, and that if the postponement of any case is necessary, an appeal should always make way for an original suit. In their desire to show good returns of work in mere figures. it has become the habit of Subordinate Judges to postpone original suits, especially a long and tedious one, at the end of a quarter, in order to decide a number of appeals. and so present a good array of figures in their returns of work. This must be watched and stringently repressed. The Courts of Appeal through an examination of the order sheet, have the means of learning the course of a trial ready at hand and can therefore easily take notice of any unnecessary postponements on frivolous grounds. If therefore the absolute necessity for a change of practice and regularity be enforced on the superior Courts of first instance, the Subordinate Judges, these officers will in turn realise the necessity of insisting on the same system in the Courts of the Munsifs. But here we are met with a very great difficulty. The Subordinate Judges generally can keep their files of original suits under control, for as Courts of first instance they are not overworked. It is only when in addition to such work they are required to try appeals that more work is thrown upon them than they can properly perform. Original suits; too, are instituted in the Courts of the Subordinate Judges without any remarkable increase at any particular period of the year. In both these respects the work in a Munsif's Court differs most materially. It is the exception, and a rare exception, to find that any Munsif can keep his work thoroughly under control. As a rule, every Munsif is called upon to do much more than he can properly undertake. They all feel that the work must be done, or their individual reputations will suffer. Incessant and most laborious application to his work may enable a Munsif to exhibit a clear file, but it rarely ensures at the same time a satisfactory result as regards the quality of his work. In April—that is, about the end of the Bengali year—there is always a rush of suits, principally rent-suits. Instead of coming in by tens they are instituted by hundreds, so as to obstruct and disarrange the work of the Courts. Many of these cases never come to trial, but are settled out of Court. Obviously no information can be obtained of this probable result in any case, so they have all to be set down for trial in the usual manner. The Munsifs, however, put on the daily board a larger number than usual, trusting to the probability of many being decided on default, or on compromise, or decreed ex-parte; but it constantly happens that some of the cases on any particular day are contested, and consequently postponements commence, and this with an overcrowded file means confusion. Additional officers must be appointed to meet this pressure and to ensure the regularity of the work in our Courts. I have in a separate memorandum shown the absolute necessity for adding to the number of our existing Courts by showing the gradual and enormous increase of work coming before those Courts, the heavy arrear accumulating on their files, and that the increase in the number of the Courts is not at all proportionate to the increase of work. If the number of cases that the majority of our Judges decide be taken into consideration, it will be seen that good work cannot reasonably be expected from them, and we too often find that the struggle to perform an almost impossible task had led to the most serious consequences to the health of our Judges. To ensure a better administration of justice more Judges must be appointed, and greater facilities must be given for the appointment of any additional officer to meet a sudden emergency. The fluctuations of work in the Munsifs' Courts no doubt present a great difficulty in enforcing any regular system, still more attention should be paid to the fixing of cases for particular days. A little experience and care in ascertaining the nature of a case when instituted, either from the plaint itself or from enquiry from the pleaders engaged, will enable a Munsif to avoid overcrowding his board. In the course of my inspection I found certainly one instance of such a careful practice which led to most excellent results. I have little doubt that, if not discouraged by the Courts of Appeal, Munsifs will enforce trials on the days fixed and refuse postponements on frivolous grounds, and that pleaders and parties will learn that they must be prepared with their evidence when their case is called on. There should also be a rule that a case once postponed for want of leisure shall never again be postponed, but that, except for very special reasons to be recorded, it will be heard on the second day fixed. care being taken that that day is tolerably clear from other work and not already occupied with numerous cases fixed for it. By such means I think that some improvement will be effected. The only substantial remedy is to appoint more Judges and to provide them with better accommodation and office establishments, stronger in numbers, and properly paid.

I have next found that, in consequence of their being overburdened with judicial work, the subordinate Judicial officers are unable to attend properly to matters connected with the execution of decrees or to any miscellaneous work. This work is, therefore, either with Amla, who are underpaid, or with apprentices, who are supposed to live on their prospects of future employment, and are engaged simply because the ordinary office establishments are altogether inadequate to discharge the duties expected from them. Our Judicial officers have justly earned the highest reputation for devotion to the service and integrity, but under the system under which they are obliged to work, the Civil Courts cannot be supposed to be above suspicion of corruption, and so long as sufficient and properly-paid establishments are not allowed, it is hopeless to expect that this stigma will be removed. I can imagine no fitter nursery for every malpractice than a service of some years as an unpaid apprentice, followed by appointment on the regular establishment on an inadequate salary. It has long been admitted by Government that the highest of the ministerial officers, Serishtadars, especially in District Courts, are underpaid; the Court-fees realised in the Civil Courts have, year after year, realized a large surplus income to Government after meeting all expenses connected with those Courts; the fees realised by affidavits in Mofussil Courts which have been earned by the additional work thrown on Serishtadars have in recent years yielded a very considerable sum, and yet the repeated and urgent representations of the High Court for an increase of pay to these officers have time after time met with no response from Government, except an admission of the necessity and the justice of the claim made on behalf of these officers, coupled with an almost indefinite postponement of any concession to them. Recently we have received a letter from Government deferring a consideration of the matter until the conclusion of an enquiry likely to last more than one year into the establishments of executive officers by a specially appointed Commission. It it is not easy to understand why there should be any postponement of recognised claims with money forthcoming to satisfy them, or why any preference should be shown to the establishments of executive officers.

The next matter to which I would draw attention is the insufficient and inappropriate accommodation generally given to Civil Courts. It cannot but be admitted that of late years there has been some improvement effected, but the first thing that must strike the most casual visitor at any civil station, either the head-quarters of a district or at a sub-division of a district, is the great inferiority of the accommodation given to Civil Judges as compared with every other department of Government. My observations are defective in so much as they are founded on visits to only some of the districts of Bengal, but still the places visited were selected at random, and there is no reason to believe that I was particularly unfortunate in the places inspected. The Munsifs' Courts are nearly always in most unsuitable structures. In many places the Munsifs sit in hovels unfit for human habitation—dark, badly ventilated, and filthy. At some places mat bungalows have been erected on a standard pattern. No doubt these are an improvement on the places in which the Courts used to be held, but still these cannot be regarded as suitable court-houses. The accommodation is generally insufficient, and the retention of valuable papers in a thatched mat-house is attended with the greatest risk. Let any one contrast even these improved court-houses with the Court of a Sub-divisional Magistrate or even the local post office or telegraph station, and the inferiority is most striking; but how much more so in the case of the huts or sheds in which many Munsifs' Courts are still located. The worst instances were found by me at Arrah, Hajeepore, Burrisaul, and Jessore. At Arrah there has been correspondence going on for some four years regarding the erection of the Civil Courts, which in course of time has developed the preparation of plans and estimates as well as the selection of a suitable site. Matters advanced up to the collection of material on that site, but because some other department required this material the bricks have been carted off elsewhere, and everything remains still on paper promises, the fulfilment of which depends on the existence of surplus funds, although these were available to use material specially collected for this purpose.

In Hajeepore, the Munsif's Court was held in a dirty, dark kutcha bungalow, a remarkable contrast to the Sub-divisional Magistrates' Courts, and the official residence, both of which have been recently added to and improved at some expense,—the Munsif's Court, although much worse than the then existing Criminal Courts, being, at the same time, neglected.

In Burrisaul I found four Munsifs huddled together in a dirty dilapidated house, one of these Munsifs sitting in an exposed side verandah indifferently protected by a slanting mat from sun and rain. The unsuitableness of this accommodation was noticed by the Lieutenant-Governor about two years ago, and orders were issued for the preparation of proper Courts, but there matters remain.

At Jessore a magnificient range of offices with all the newest improvements had just been finished for the Revenue and Magisterial officers, and thus had placed some rooms in the old court-house at the disposal of the District Judge: but I still found one of the Munsifs holding his Court in a hut affording a striking contrast to the spacious accommodation and æsthetic brick buildings of even the neighbouring Post Office and Registration Office.

The Patna offices are also exceedingly bad and unsuitable.

But at sub-divisions the contrast between the accommodation given to Judicial and Executive officials is especially remarkable in their private arrangements. I have already referred to Hajeepore, but the same unequality can be seen everywhere. The contrast is not only in the court-houses, but in arrangements made for private accommodation. The Deputy

Magistrate lives in comfort in a building belonging to Government; the Munsif must be content with the best lodging that he can procure; and when his Court is often placed in a small village, the only lodging procurable is so unsuitable that he is forced to send his wife and family to his own home. Is it surprising that, with such disadvantages the Executive should be regarded as the favoured service and that Judicial officers should feel that their interests and comforts are neglected? In education, in intelligence, in devotion to the public service, in public estimation, I venture to state that the officers of the Subordinate Judicial Service are not surpassed by those of any other department under Government. As a separate department Civil Justice yields a large income to Government. Why, then, should the claims of this branch of the public service always be deferred to those of other departments? It is notorious that a Collector, a District Magistrate, or even a District Superintendent of Police finds little difficulty in obtaining funds for any improvement to his offices or even to that of a subordinate. I have myself seen the most elaborate iron racks in the office of a District Officer at a cost of about Rs. 27,000. But the obstacles placed in the way of District Judges in course of time deter their asking for the most trifling extra expenditure, and even admitted claims are so constantly postponed that they are apt to be lost sight of. I do not pretend to have penetrated the system of the distribution of public funds among the different departments, but I am inclined to think from the indifferent state of the court-houses and the difficulty experienced in obtaining an increase of the salaries of Serishtadars and from similar matters that the interests of this important department are not properly advocated in the first instance, and are not properly maintained when, for some reason or other, a retrenchment is necessary in one of several departments I am conscious of my inability to ascertain the real cause of this persistent parsimony in the department of Civil Justice, but whatever be its cause, I trust that in the future its claims may be more recognised and more jealously watched until they are actually satisfied.

I now propose to consider points of procedure on which I would suggest some alterations so as to facilitate the work of our Courts.

There is a very great loss of time in recording evidence in the vernacular and reading it over to a witness at the close of his examination. This is most noticeable in Behar, where the Court language is Kaithee. It will, I think, be admitted that, as a rule, evidence is most carefully recorded in the Civil Courts Where the Judge is able to do so he himself record the evidence in his own handwriting, and where he cannot do so he records a full memo. nearly always in English, as the Amla records the deposition itself in the vernacular. The reading in Kaithee is very tedious, for it is notorious that a man finds difficulty in reading his own handwriting in that character. Now in criminal cases, for many years past, the records has been written in English by all European officers and by Native Magistrates specially empowered to do so. I can see no valid reason why this system should not be introduced into our Civil Courts. Where a Judge is able to write the deposition himself as made to him, this might continue, but where he cannot do so, I would suggest that he be empowered to write it in English. In the Bengal districts the law which requires evidence to be recorded in the Court language has the effect of making it impossible for the District Judge, and for him alone, to record the evidence of a witness himself, although he is the Chief Judge of the district. I have never been able to understand this restriction, specially as it has the effect of deterring a District Judge from trying original suits, for he finds—and I speak from personal experience—that his time can be better occupied on other work than in supervising the work of an unintelligent deposition-writer, so as to make the record correspond with his own memo. of the evidence.

Section 141 of the Code seems unnecessarily to impose too much work on Judicial officers. It requires that before a document shall be filed as part of the record of a suit under trial, it shall have been endorsed by the Judge with his own hand, with a statement that it was proved or admitted by the person against whom it is used. This is particularly onerous in rent-suits where a mass of rent receipts may have been tendered in evidence—indeed, from the size and description of the paper used for such documents, no such endorsement is possible. The Judges, however, as a rule, themselves number these papers, besides signing and dating them—a proceeding which interrupts the trial and occupies some time when this duty can be performed equally well by some ministerial officer. The use of some stamp would accelerate the despatch of business. Section 82 requires that evidence recorded even by the Judge himself shall be read over to the witness "in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and also in the presence of the parties or their pleaders." It seems to me that it is sufficient that this should be read over to the witness himself by a ministerial officer. The procedure prescribed tends very considerably to prolong the course of a trial, and the corrections made are exceedingly rare, probably not more than once in the trial of very many cases. The procedure suggested by me is adopted on the Original Side of the High Court and affords a sufficient safeguard against any mistake.

The system of giving copies works excellently under intelligent and careful supervision where the Serishtadar feels the importance of this department of the office and himself superintends it. Where he neglects this duty, confusion reigns; delays in furnishing copies are so great that parties do not find it worthwhile to enquire about them, and abuses of every kind naturally prevail. The rules introduced are good so far as they go, but they are not sufficiently precise so as to prescribe the duty of every one concerned in this work. Until this is done, every opportunity will be taken to evade the object of these rules and to place difficulties in the punctual despatch of business. (Since writing this I have learnt that such rules are under preparation.)

Complaints were made to me everywhere regarding the charge for copies. The matter has been under consideration by the High Court more than once. I am inclined to think that the average number of words in each line might be increased, and the comparing charges, which are as high as the copying charges, might be considerably reduced, having regard to the amount of smaller labour involved in comparing. I think also that the searching fees might be reduced. Where a full description of the record is given so as to enable the Record Officer easily to produce it, the fee should not be on the same scale as where a very insufficient or incorrect description is given. There is certainly no tendency either on the part of the Courts or their subordinate establishments to relax the rule regarding the levy of fees. The inclination is decidedly against affording any facilities to suitors. This was brought to my notice constantly in the matter of process-fees.

The process-fees fixed by Rules passed under the Court-Fees Act seem in many respects to be unnecessarily high. These fees were, like the copying-fees, fixed tentatively. The intention was to fix them at the lowest rates possible, consistent with providing for the expense caused, and in order to attain this it was necessary to give a margin to ensure against any loss to Government. No reliable data were available to guide those who fixed the rates. The result has been a very considerable profit to Government after providing for all charges. The fees for attachments of property are too heavy when applied to attachment of several properties. A separate fee should not be levied invariably for each property attached. In one case it was pointed out to me there were 150 properties to be attached; none of these were at any distance from the others, but yet 150 fees—that is, Rs. 150—were required before attachment was issued; and fees similarly calculated, but double, as the rate is Rs. 2, were levied for issue of proclamations of sale. These fees were more than sufficient to pay for the establishment employed by twenty or thirty fold Some provisions should be made for the payment of fees at a lower rate if more than four or five properties are to be attached or sold situate within a reasonable and specified distance from one another. The rates for the services of an officer to be left in possession of the attached property are also too high—6 annas per diem is at the rate of more than Rs. 11 per month, but only some of the peons receive monthly salaries so high as Rs. 10, and as a considerable time must necessarily expire between the dates of attachment and sale, the expense incurred on this account must be immoderate, especially in the case of crops.

I can understand why the fee for attachment of the person or arrest, as it is termed, in execution of decree has been fixed at a high rate, but the rate, Rs. 10, is prohibitory, which cannot have been intended. I would lower this fee by one-half.

To require a fee for an order for sale of attached property and again another fee for service of proclamation of sale seems unnecessarily severe.

The rule regarding the payment of poundage on the gross amount realised by an execution sale and then to charge it as costs as against the judgment-debtor is, in my opinion, open to objection. I can understand that a percentage should be levied on the amount realised towards satisfaction of a decree, but it is difficult to understand on what principle a debtor should be obliged to pay a percentage on anything over and above that sum. Commission is charged by an auctioneer at voluntary sales on the sum realised; but why should the difficulties of a debtor be enhanced by such a commission being charged on a forced sale? It is notorious that a lower price is realised at such sales, but yet the proprietor has to suffer additional loss by paying commission on the full sum realised though it may exceed the amount of the debt.

In connection with this matter of poundage on sales, I would refer to the practice in allowing a decree-holder to bid at an execution-sale. The law enables a person to purchase property put up for sale in execution of his decree only with the permission of the Court previously obtained. This I have found to be very rarely refused,—in fact it is never refused except when there is more than one decree to be satisfied. The reasons for withholding permission to bid in such cases is the difficulty of requiring the decree-holder to make payment in cash instead of setting off the amount of the decree in satisfaction of the price bid. Sometimes permission is granted conditional on cash payment being made so that a rateable distribution may be made amongst all the decree-holders. The law (section 294 of the Code) has apparently overlooked this contingency, as it leaves it optional with decree-holder purchasing with the permission of the Court to set off the amount of his decree against the purchase money. If the permission to purchase has been granted unconditionally, and the purchasing decree-holder should elect to set off the purchase-money against his decree, other decree-holders entitled to a rateable distribution are unable to obtain any satisfaction of their demands. It may well be considered whether, if a decree-holder applies for permission to puchase and becomes the purchaser, the charge on account of poundage should not fall only upon him, and whether the judgment-debtor should not be relieved from it in that contingency.

The rate fixed for notices and proclamations in suits for debt or damage to personal property, or for rent involving a lesser sum than Rs. 50, I observe is higher than the rate fixed for a summons on a defendant, whereas in other suits the rates are equal. The effect of this is to add materially to the costs of execution in such petty cases, whereas I apprehend the contrary object is desired.

I have endeavoured to show in what respects the fees are too heavy in execution proceedings, but these have been unfortunately increased, and without any corresponding benefit, by rules framed by the High Court under section 287 of the Code. The object of these rules was to have some enquiry made into the title of the judgment-debtor to the attached property, so as to notify that title with some accuracy in the proclamation of sale, and by affording some security to bidders as to its probable value, to realise a better price for the benefit of both decree-holder and judgment debtor. With this object it was directed that notice should be given to the parties to attend and settle the sale-proclamation. The decree-holder being present, verbal intimation sufficed, but it has become the practice to serve a regular notice on the judgment-debtor, who was almost invariably absent and unrepresented. This has necessitated the payment of a fee which varies from Rs. 2 in the superior to Re. 1 in the lower Courts. In the course of my inspection I have always asked whether judgment-debtors ever attend on service of this notice, and I have always been told that they never do attend unless it be to object to the regularity of some of the previous proceedings in execution. The cost of the notice, however, adds materially to the costs of these proceedings. (It may perhaps be said, and with some force, that the conduct of debtors shows that they are not entitled to any consideration in this respect. But we should rather consider the full operation of these rules and how far they have succeeded in any respect except in adding to the cost and delays in bringing about the sale.) The next step is the affidavit of the decree-holder that he has made search in the Registration Office for incumbrances on the particular property and the result of such enquiry. The same information comes from every Court regarding this proceeding. As a rule, no enquiry is made or indeed can be made. If any endeavour is made in this direction, the Registration Officers point to some twenty registers, in some of which information, such as is required, may possibly be found. Few persons are competent, and still fewer have any leisure or inclination, to undertake such a task. So an affidavit sufficient to satisfy the Court is made that after search no incumbrance has been discovered, and to this affidavit there is attached, as a sort of voucher, that some search has been made, the receipt given by the Registration Officer for searching-fees paid. As a matter of fact, in nearly every case no real search has ever been made. If any incumbrance is notified, it is because it is a matter of local notoriety, or the incumbrancer has learnt of the attachment, and comes forward to protect himself. The affidavit and search, however, involve additional expenditure, and add further to the costs without any corresponding advantage to any one except the Government which takes the fees. So after some delay and the incurring of these additional costs, the sale-proclamation is settled almost always precisely in the terms in which the property was described by the decree-holder when he asked for an order of sale. The rules were primarily to relieve judgment-debtors by endeavouring to secure a better price for properties sold. I have failed to obtain any reliable information that this result has been attained. And, after all, it may well be asked whether judgment-debtors, who have studiously abstained from assisting the Courts thus benevolently endeavouring to relieve them, or who have even, as frequently happens, striven to obscure or repudiate their own title by setting up directly or indirectly that of a relative or dependent, are entitled to such consideration. To punish them by adding to the costs incurred in bringing the property to sale seems a strange departure from the original intention, while the delays which necessarily result are a serious inconvenience and vexation to decree-holders. It must naturally be a matter for mere speculation, since statistics could not be obtained on which any reliable conclusion could be formed, but I do not believe that any litigation has been avoided by such attempts to obtain better titles for auction-purchasers under these rules. Some improvement might be attained if a certificate were required from a Registration Officer regarding the result of enquiry into the title of an attached property, but I doubt extremely whether these officers would accept such a responsibility, and even if they did it would be impossible for any Court to control them so as to insist on a return being made within a reasonable time. The result would probably be a further delay in the holding of sales, and in the realisation of judgment-debts. I think therefore that a very radical alteration should be made in the rules.

The efficiency of the process-serving establishment naturally depends upon the capacity and supervision of the nazir. This has varied very considerably in the districts that I have visited. Sometimes I have found a regular system and a careful supervision that was most creditable. Complaints were rare, and when made they were carefully attended to. In other districts I found that matters were ill-regulated; in the desire to show a large surplus revenue, too many processes were made over at one time to the same peon with the certain consequence that either service was not properly made, or that returns were not made to the Courts on or before the days fixed for trial. In such districts, too, I heard complaints of delay in service of notices of appeal to respondents, such as to prevent their having an opportunity of objecting to a portion of the decree. I also occasionally found, with much regret, that in these districts complaints of the misconduct of peons received little attention; that there were delays in hearing them so as to discourage those who had suffered and had been compelled to make them; and that sometimes the punishments awarded were altogether inadequate to the character of the misconduct. These are matters that cannot be dealt with except by the Courts immediately concerned. I lost no opportunity of impressing the great importance of attention and strict discipline everywhere. I regretted also to find that some peons were still retained in nearly every district visited by me who were unable to read and write. These peons, I was always told, were old officers. Many years have, however, passed since the salaries of peons were raised, and the necessity for some education amongst the men employed was strictly enjoined. I cannot understand how a man who cannot read and write can possibly distinguish between a bundle of some twenty processes made over for service, or at all events, how he can possibly hope to distinguish amongst them so as to make proper returns of their service. No doubt some hardship must follow, but it is high time now that some term should be fixed within which the services of such men should be dispensed with in the interests of the public service.

I observed that in every station many peons, sometimes nearly one quarter of the total number, were not employed on serving processes but on other work, although their salaries were charged to the process-serving fund. Their duties were to keep order in Court, to wait on the various branches in the office, to assist the Record Office, or to guard the Court premises. The process fund is a special fund designed for a special purpose. Monies derived from process-fees cannot fairly be applied in maintaining establishments the duties of which are entirely of a different character. The fees realised might as properly be applied to the maintenance of police. The fact is that certain chuprassees are absolutely necessary in all these offices. These chuprassees some years ago used to be specially entertained for the Courts. For purposes of economy they were abolished, but without proper consideration of the probable result. They have now been retained in another form, but the expenditure falls on suitors rather than on Government. I wish prominently to call attention to this, because, although there is a large surplus shown to the credit of the process-serving establishment, a much larger surplus should be shown if the salaries of these men be excluded. The results therefore are such as justify a reduction in the fees charged such as I have recommended, or even to a still greater extent

I have occasionally had complaints made to me regarding the manner in which Amins do their work. It was fairly said that the power in the hands of such men with some professional knowledge is almost absolute, and is very often improperly exercised with little possibility of supervision. A slight alteration in an angle may cost one of the parties the loss of a considerable piece of land, and though the injustice of this result may be patent, it requires professional knowledge which may not be available to detect and expose the source of the error. The remedy is to employ a superior class of men, and this necessarily involves the payment of higher salaries. The difficulty in altering the system arises from the attempt to adjust all receipts and expenditure on this account, not only in the general result, but district by district. This is, I think, attempting more than should be expected. Unfortunately, too, the spread of professional knowledge for such work has been slow, and there are seldom available for employment competent persons unconnected with the Courts whose services can be utilised to check the proceedings of Court Amins. The income derived from other sources connected with the administration of civil justice is so considerable that I think a small deficiency in one department, which cannot be made self-supporting, consistent with a proper administration, may be conceded. I would therefore recommend the gradual employment of a superior and higher class of Amins in some districts, where cases of some importance requiring their services are of comparatively frequent occurrence. The more insignificant cases might be left to an Amin of a lower grade, and the more competent and reliable officer might occasionally be employed to check the work of these officers. Some such reform is absolutely necessary, for the inferior and unreliable work of the Amins is a blot on our administration, and the necessity which too frequently occurs for a second, and even a third, measurement and survey leads to much confusion, and adds considerably to the expenses of a suit.

I have carefully examined the Record Officers of the District Courts that I inspected, and I also examined the Record Office at Patna, though I was unable to stop to inspect the Courts at that station. In each instance, I have noted separately the result of my examination. Except in Chittagong, where a new Record Office should be built, and at Suri (Beerbhoom) where the opening of communication with an adjoining room and a slight re-arrangement of the office accommodation is necessary, the Record Offices inspected—that is, at Arrah, Mozufferpore, Bankipore, Krishnagur, Jessore, Backergunge and Cuttack—are sufficiently commodious for the requirements of several years to come. In some instances better racks should be given, and in others some new racks, reaching to the ceiling, should be constructed. I have pointed out these defects to the District Judges concerned, and recommended that they should apply for what is needed. The work in the Record Offices is generally much in arrear. At Chittagong, as I have already reported, the Record Office is in a state of utter confusion; at Jessore, though there is some attempt at arrangement, there are no catalogues of the records preserved, and there are considerable arrears in the current work. Elsewhere there are arrears varying in magnitude for which extra temporary establishments have been obtained, or are necessary. The state of the record-rooms generally requires more personal attention from District Judges. The existence of such arrears everywhere is principally due to the gradual increase of litigation for many years past, which has thrown much additional work on the record establishments. These establishments have, however, remained stationary, and have not been strengthened so as to deal with this additional work. The work thrown upon Record-keepers and the responsibilities of that office have largely increased under the practice introduced by the Government and the High Court of examining court-fee labels on the records and re-punching them: also of granting certificates of monies realised in execution of decrees. The duty of supplying any new statistics that may be required is also thrown upon the Record Office. All this has contributed to the accumulation of arrears, and not only are additional temporay establishments necessary, but the office allowed must permanently be strengthened. I have endeavoured, in communication with the District Judges whom I have met, to make some recommendations on both these points. It will be a matter of no difficulty to determine what is required elsewhere, having regard to the existing state of the record rooms and the number of records annually received. In connection with this subject I would mention that I have occasionally found apprentices and even process-serving peons employed in Record Offices. I have not attempted to order them to be excluded, because I felt that until a proper establishment was sanctioned, serious inconvenience would result from depriving the Record Officers of such assistance. At the same time, I think that this system of employing irresponsible and unpaid men in such an office cannot be too strongly condemned, and I trust that orders may soon be passed which will enable the District Judges to dispense with the services of such men.

It is probably unnecessary to say much on what is known as the system of Rent-Suit Munsif, by which is meant the practice under which, where there are two or more Munsifs at the same station, it is usual to vest one with powers of a Small Cause Judge to try suits of value not exceeding Rs 50, and to direct that he do also try all rent-suits, while the more difficult suits, connected with title to land, are tried by the other Munsif. The primary object is to accelerate the decision of petty cases and suits under the Rent Law, and it was calculated that ordinarily this would effect a fair division of the work. I am inclined to think that in both these objects this system has failed, and that in other respects it is undesirable. A system is in force under which all petty suits and rent-suits, as well as uncontested suits of all kinds, are always first taken up by Civil Courts, the preference alone being given to a part-heard case of the previous day. If, therefore, these petty suits and rent-suits be tried by two or more Munsifs instead of by only one, they are more likely to be tried by a greater number of officers instead of constituting the sole work of one officer. By these means also the labours of all officers will be equalised, whereas under the special system one officer becomes a machine to decide the easiest class of cases, while the other officer is called upon constantly to exercise all his powers in the decision of difficult and involved cases. Nor is the division of the work at all equal. Towards the end of March and during April, the end of the Bengali year, there is an extraordinary flood of suits under the Rent Law. The Special Munsif and his establishment have the greatest difficulty in dealing with these suits in their preliminary stages; eventually the pressure is more than one officer can bear, and so it nearly always happens that a large number of these suits are transferred to the other Munsif. Later in the year, the Special Munsif frequently finds himself with little work, whereas the transfer of rent-suits has deranged the file of the other Munsif, and thus a transfer of the other kind of suits becomes necessary, and all attempts to ensure any regularity in either Court fails. I should have thought that, with the practice of invariably giving precedence to petty cases, rent-suits, and uncontested cases which is everywhere prevalent, it would require little argument to show that a division of local jurisdiction among the Munsifs, instead of a division of their actual work, would be an arrangement infinitely preferable. However, the new Rent Law will introduce a change in the manner of trying the less important cases under it, and therefore it is hardly necessary to pay much attention to a system which must be re considered.

I have already adverted to the insufficiency of the ministerial establishments allowed to the Subordinate Civil Courts and the inadequacy in the rates of pay. During my tour I have had brought to my notice several instances in which it was clear that particular Amla should be transferred to another locality, either because they were employed where they had many local connections, or for some other similar reason. For many years it has been the rule to transfer Judicial officers after service in any particular place, and the benefits of such a system have been admitted But it is even more necessary occasionally to transfer ministerial officers, for it not unfrequently happens that a Munsif finds it almost impossible to counteract the influence of his Amla. Ministerial establishments have, since 1871, been placed directly under Government, and therefore in representing this matter I trust that District Judges may be directed occasionally to transfer subordinate Amla I am aware that such transfer must be attended with much hardship. The pay of an Amla is not more than sufficient to maintain him near his own home, and he can ill-afford the expense of a transfer. Still the interests of the public service, in my opinion, demand occasional removals, and this will, I trust, be borne in mind in any re-adjustment of salaries. It is especially desirable that the higher ministerial officers should not be employed in districts in which their homes are, and though from the higher character of such officers occasional transfers are not so necessary as in the case of the ordinary Amla, I am inclined to think that such transfers are often attended with the best results.

I trust that I have shown the necessity for a more complete and early inspection of our Civil Courts, and I strongly recommend that such inspections shall in future be at shorter intervals than heretofore. I feel sure that much benefit must result from such inspections, especially amongst the less experienced of our officers. The faults of many of our Judges are, I believe, due to their never having learnt how to do their work, and to their having generally, through a mistaken idea of their own responsibilities and duties, follwed a wrong system. They thus occupy themselves in enquiring into details so as to lose sight of the real points at issue, and needlessly waste their time, while failing to grasp the merits of a case. It is almost hopeless to expect that any Judge, who after several years has become inured to such a system, can be induced to adopt another, but the younger officer will always be found most anxious to receive any instruction. I have thus observed Judges hearing Civil Appeals, reading the entire record for themselves instead of adopting the usual course of requiring the pleaders to point to the evidence on which they rely in support of their arguments. Some I have seen with the entire record transliterated for easy reference, and others I have found following a practice introduced by a predecessor which they have hesitated to alter, although it did not commend itself to them. There are minor points of practice to which I might also refer, on all of which, even during a very short, visit I was able to afford instruction.

The object of my deputation was not to inspect the Criminal Courts, and the time at my disposal would not have admitted of my doing so, but I desire to state my opinion that an inspection by a Judge or Judges of the High Court is necessary, especially to ascertain the manner in which business is transacted by Benches of Magistrates. It has also been brought to my notice that the Sessions Judges, who, as Courts of Appeal, alone see the original work done by Magistrates of the first class, and as Sessions Courts try cases committed by them, have no opportunity of expressing any opinion, and as a matter of fact are never sked their opinions regarding such officers. It is only in somewhat recent years that this has been discontinued. Promotion is accordingly given on opinions expressed by District Magistrates and Commissioners, and therefore only on executive capacity exhibited. This is as great a mistake as to promote such officers solely for judicial capacity, and cannot but act prejudicially to the proper performance of their judicial work. On the other hand, the opinions of Sessions Judges are asked regarding Magistrates of the second class before they receive higher powers, when obviously the Judges can have had little opportunity of forming any opinion of the work of these officers, since they can see only cases committed by Magistrates of the second class, and necessarily few, and those very unimportant cases, are so committed, the bulk of this class of work falling to the more experienced Magistrates of the first class.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 77.

The 4th March 1886.

The following annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the Districts of 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Jessore, Khoolna, and Moorshedabad, for the cess year 1884-85, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, are published for general information.

D. B. HORN,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 88R, dated Alipore, the 8th December 1885.

From—A. W. PAUL, Esq., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith the annual accounts and reports of the District Committee for the past cess year 1884-85, which have been duly approved at a special meeting of the said Committee held for the purpose on the 30th November 1885.

2. There were five meetings of the District Committee held during the year, and a quorum was present at each of them. Copies of the proceedings of the six Branch Committees in the district were duly received by the District Committee, and anything requiring sanction or notice in those proceedings was promptly taken up and disposed of by the District Committee.

3. Only three meetings were held by the Bussirhat and two by the Dum-Dum Branch Committees. This was apparently owing to there having been no necessity for more. The attention of the Chairmen of those Committees, however, has been drawn to section 119 of the Cess Act, and they have been asked to see that in future the provision in the law, which enjoins that there should at least be four meetings during the year, is strictly observed.

4. The main business of Branch Committees in this district is to distribute funds to the several village roads within their respective jurisdiction according to the requirements of each, and to supervise their construction or repairs, as the case may be, through such members of the Committees as take special interest in localities through which the roads pass. The Chairmen of all such Branch Committees are satisfied that this procedure worked well, and remark that almost all the members of Branch Committees take a lively interest in all matters connected with the road cess. In addition to this, three of the Branch Committees deputed each one of their members under section 161 of the Act to be an additional member of the District Committee, and I may remark that the local experience of those additional members has been of much help to the District Committee.

5. Small advances have to be made at the commencement of the work connected with the repairs or construction of village roads, but, as a rule, the Chairman of each Branch Committee personally, or through his subordinate officers, tests the quality and quantity of each work before making final payment for it. I have received no complaint of any irregularity in the execution of any such work.

6. As in the past few years the District Committee were not able, during the year under report, to place any considerable amounts at the disposal of Branch Committees for the improvement of village roads. A sum of Rs. 14,500 only was allotted for the purpose, and it was distributed amongst the Branch Committees with reference to the requirements of each as follows:—

Bussirhat	2,000	0	0
Diamond Harbour	2,700	0	0
Dum-Dum	500	0	0
Barrackpore	1,200	0	0
Baraset	2,000	0	0
Total	14,500	0	0

7. I am glad to state that the little that was given to each Branch Committee was most usefully and economically spent, and that with this small aid from the District Fund, supplemented at times by private donations and contributions, the Committees were able to maintain their roads in some sort of condition during fair weather. During the recent heavy rains most of the village roads were more or less damaged.

8. A liberal donation of Rs. 400 was obtained by the Branch Committee of Barrackpore from Maharajah Nurrendra Krishna Bahadoor, for the improvement of the Natagore khal which borders on his estate called Natagore. In addition to the above, Rs. 125 worth of work was done at the khal by the villagers of Natagore. The re-excavation of this khal ha proved a special boon to the people this year, and the Cantonment Magistrate reports that a great many houses, and in fact several villages in the neighbourhood, have escaped the effects of the late heavy rains.

9. The pucca roads under the charge of the Committee, that is, those which are on the list approved by Government, are all reported by the District Engineer to be in fair drivable condition, except some portions of the Takee road which have been cut up owing to very heavy traffic on the road. Attempts will, however, be made in the present year to put the road in a better state. Provision has been made in the current year's budget for the thorough repairs of the portions of this road which have been cut up. As this Bussirhat and Takee road has now become of the greatest importance as a feeder to the Central Bengal Railway from the east, and as this same railway has enormously reduced the expense to Government of maintaining the Jessore road, it would be a great boon if Government would take over the Takee road, and maintain from the savings from the former expenditure on the Jessore road. I have myself, in company of the District Engineer, specially inspected several of the more important roads, and am satisfied that the small sums allotted have been judiciously spent.

10. There are about 138 miles of pucca roads under the charge of the Committee, and the amount spent for their repairs during the year under report was Rs. 58,874, or an average of Rs. 425 per mile. The funds at the disposal of the Committee are insufficient for the maintenance even of the existing roads in proper order. The cost of keeping up the roads in the district owing to its peculiar position is heavier than in any other district. The traffic on the roads is exceptionally great, as the neighbouring districts, which contribute nothing towards our expenses, send large numbers of carts along our roads into Calcutta and its suburbs. The demand for increased road communication has also within the last few years considerably increased, owing chiefly to the extension of railways in the district, although those railways have only in a very slight degree relieved our important and expensive roads from local cart traffic. The Committee therefore have been obliged to refuse several applications from the different parts of the country for the construction of roads and village paths, except in a few instances where the people offered to contribute towards the expenses of a work. The North Dum-Dum Municipality having offered to contribute Rs. 2,000 towards the cost of metalling the kutcha portion of the Nimta road, which has been estimated by the District Engineer at Rs. 6,786, provision has been made for the work in the current year's budget. No original work was executed during the year under report, except that a pipe culvert was constructed on the Culpee road at a cost of Rs. 157.

11. It is at the same time satisfactory to note that none of the pucca roads under the charge of the Committee in the district have deteriorated. The same cannot be said of the kutcha roads. The District Engineer reports that on account of the heavy and unusual rains of the past season most of the kutcha roads have been damaged to a great extent and will require heavy repairs. This remark also applies to the village roads.

12. The Committee paid due attention to the Government circular directing that endeavours should be made as much as possible to the planting of fruit-trees on sides of district roads. At present there are over 3,300 young trees flourishing along the sides of the roads in charge of the Committee, some of which have begun to bear fruit. The Committee engaged the services of malees to plant the trees, and no-coor-coolies to water them during the dry season, and provided bamboo enclosures, &c., for the protection of such trees as were still within the grasp of animals. At the same time I personally do not consider such planting of trees either necessary or desirable in a damp climate like that of the 24-Pergunnahs, where shade to travellers is not so essential to their comfort as in Behar, and where the constant drip from their branches seriously damages the road itself.

13. At the end of the year the treasury cash balance of the Committee became very low owing to certain extra payments made by them during the year, so that some of the contractor's bills have not yet been paid. This has formed the subject of separate correspondence.

14. The several establishments under the Committee are reported to have worked well during the year.

RAJENDRA NATH MITTER,
Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, 24-Pergunnahs.

Explanatory Memorandum to accompany the Road Cess Annual Account of the district of 24-Pergunnahs for the cess year 1884-85 under paragraph 14 of the instructions from Government for the preparation of the annual account, conveyed in its Circular No. 8A., dated the 14th February 1879, of the Public Works Department.

As per budget head.	Increase or decrease.	EXPLANATION.
		Receipts.
Land cess ...	Decrease ...	The decrease of Rs. 4,540 was owing to a falling off in the collections, some of the zemindars having withheld payment of the September kist.
Fines and fees.	Ditto ...	Rupees 478. The fees advanced for the realization of the arrears of cess under the certificate procedure have not all been fully recouped, as some of the certificates are still undisposed of.
Interest ...	Ditto ...	Rupees 388. This amount will be realized along with the arrear cess as soon as the pending certificates have been disposed of.
Miscellaneous.	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 3,975 owing partly on account of non receipt of the full contributions expected from the several municipalities and to non-payment of full rent of the fishery in the Sorissa khall within the year.
Grant from Government.	Increase ...	The increase of Rs. 253 under this head is due to a larger amount received from the 10 per cent. contribution from Government estates during the year.
		Expenditure.
Refunds ...	Increase ...	Rupees 1,464. This is due to an unexpected refund of road cess to Maharajah Nurrendra Krishna Bahadoor on account of collections made from him for some years owing to mistakes in the assessment of the cess.
Establishment on provincial rates.	Decrease ...	Rupees 2,633. The full amount provided under this head was not spent, as the cost for only 11 months was charged within the year, and the extra establishment for the full year provided for in the budget was entertained in the middle of the year.
Establishment on administration.	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 211 also was due to the cost for 11 months having been charged during the year.
Stationery and printing	Ditto ...	Rupees 346. All the articles of stationery and printing were not required. Hence the decrease in the budgetted amount.
Original works	Ditto ...	The saving of Rs. 1,042 or decrease of expenditure under this head was owing to there having been no necessity for any relief works.
Repairs ...	Ditto ...	The decrease of Rs. 4,970 was due to the full estimated amounts not having been paid to the contractors owing to lower rates for works offered by them under tender system.
Tools and plant	Ditto ...	Rupees 38. The full amount provided in the budget was not spent in repairs of tools.
Miscellaneous.	Ditto ...	Rupees 299. This was due to a smaller amount of court fees spent on account of process fees for the realization of the arrear cess than that for which provision was made under this head.

RAJENDRA NATH MITTER, Vice-Chairman.

No. 182R.F., dated Krishnaghur, the 31st December 1885.

From—The Magistrate and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Nuddea,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to your letter No. 33P.R., dated the 19th instant, I have the honor to submit the Annual Accounts and the following Administration Report for the last cess year.

2. The financial condition of the Committee during the year was just the same as before. Their income, including the opening balance, was Rs. 76,944. The funds available for work were barely sufficient for the annual maintenance of existing roads. They could not therefore execute any important work, many of which are urgently wanted. Rupees 3,500 was allotted for the improvement and extension of metalling of the Krishnaghur and Nuddea road, but this sum was mostly withdrawn subsequently to meet the demands of some urgent repair works. The completion of a timber bridge on the Meherpore and Kanyedanga road, and the construction of a few small culverts on the Chapra and Nischindpore road, were the principal original works of the year under review. The outlay on these works was Rs. 489.

3. All the existing unmetalled roads, measuring aggregately 558 miles in length, were repaired during the year with an efficiency compatible with the funds which were forthcoming for their maintenance. But the repairs did not last long. Shortly after their completion almost of all of the roads were overtopped by the last destructive floods and severely damaged.

4. The year was exceptionally unfavorable for the metalled roads, which in this district measure 133¾ miles in length, mostly being feeders of the Eastern Bengal Railway. An utter absence of rains in the first seven months of the year was greatly detrimental to their metalling, and when the south-west monsoon set in full strength, the rain was unusually heavy and almost incessant, and thus, instead of being beneficial, as it generally is when its fall is seasonable and moderate, it was injurious to the metalling, rendering it extremely soft by supersaturation. The wear and tear of the metalling was therefore unusually great on most of the roads having heavy wheel-traffic. Their repairs, however, were carried out with considerable energy and skill; they were almost completed when the floods overwhelmed and damaged them again. The Krishnaghur and Santipore road alone escaped the damage running along a water-shed ridge, which was no where overtopped by the floods.

5. As in the previous years the works on village roads in the sudder were executed through village agencies under the special control of a Sub-committee. In the sub-divisions the Branch Committees did the work through their members and reliable village people. The result on the whole was satisfactory. The total outlay on the work was Rs. 4,034-10, viz:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
„ Chuadanga	1,200	0	0
„ Meherpore	593	10	3
„ Kushtea	998	5	6
„ Ranaghat	773	10	3
	4,034	10	0

The outlay was small in the Sudder, simply because Rs. 591 was transferred from this work in the beginning of the year for the relief work undertaken on the Mira and Kaligunge road. The Branch Committees, with the exception of Chuadanga, failed to spend their allotments in full owing to interruption caused by the rains and floods.

6. Few young trees were planted along the roads during the year: the existing young trees were carefully nursed and protected at an expense of Rs. 697-1-6. The floods destroyed only 145 trees, of which 105 were in the first three miles of the Boggulla road. The nurseries are full with grown-up plants. No fresh seedlings were therefore sown in any of them.

7. There was some apprehension of distress in the northern part of the Kaligunge thana in the beginning of the year. The Committee therefore did some earthwork on the relief road from Mira to Kaligunge to supply employment to the day labourers of the place. The outlay on the work was Rs. 549-5-6.

8. The floods at the end of the year were exceptionally severe and destructive. It is said to be the highest flood that has visited this part of the country since the great flood of the year 1823. It became alarming first in the Kustia sub-division in the triangular area enclosed between the Ganges and the Gorie, both of which overtopped their banks and flooded the intervening country, causing considerable damage and loss to agricultural classes. All roads in the tract were damaged more or less, but the damage on the highly-embanked road from Kumarkhally to Kanchadiar was very considerable. It offered a strong resistance to the flood lying as it does transversely across its passage. More than five miles of it were overtopped and severely scoured and breached. A large timber bridge having eigh openings, two of 6 feet spans, and the other 20 feet each, was destroyed on the 3rd mile in spite of the protective measures which were adopted early for its safety. The foundations were scoured out; the materials were mostly saved. The total loss on this road is calculated at Rs. 4,072.

9. In the remaining part of the sub-division, as well as in the Chuadanga and in the part of Meherpore, east of the Bhyrub river, the floods were less destructive, but were extremely severe and disastrous in the south-western parts of Meherpore, in the whole of the Sudder, and in the north-eastern part of the Ranaghat sub-division. Here the three floods, viz., the Bhagirutty and Jellinghy spills and the cross-country floods from Lalitakuri side, combined and became formidable. The roads which suffered most severely in these parts were the following:—

Debogram	to Kaligunge	Road.
Krishnaghur	to Barhampore	,,
Ditto	to Meherpore	,,
Ditto	to Nuddea	,,
Ditto	to Kissengunge	,,
Ditto	to Boggulla	,,
Kissengunge	to Barromasia	,,
Ranaghat	to Santipore	,,

The Debogram and Kaligunge road suffered from the Bhagirutty spills. About a mile and half of it were overtopped and swept away. The loss has been calculated at Rs. 1,286.

10. The Krishnaghur and Barhampore road, which runs nearly parallel to the general direction of the Bhagirutty, was affected partly by the Bhagirutty spills and partly by the combined floods. The damage of its earthwork was very great, and a large timber bridge in the 22nd mile was irreparably damaged. The other bridges and culverts escaped with partial damage. The loss, however, amounted to Rs. 1,934.

11. The Krishnaghur and Meherpore road offered a great resistance to the flood, but it was ultimately overtopped and broken through. A bridge which stood in the 6th mile was destroyed, and the earthwork of more than 20 miles of it was seriously damaged. The total loss has been estimated at Rs 4,060.

12. The Krishnaghur and Kissengunge road offered the strongest resistance to the flood and sustained the greatest damage; it extends transversely across the line of passage with a bold and high embankment, about three-fourths of which were metalled. The flood passed over the formation surface of more than 10 miles of the road with a very considerable velocity doing very great damage to its earthwork, metalling and bridges and culverts. About two miles of the road were entirely destroyed, and a large bridge of two openings, each of 16 feet clear span, was carried away from the 8th mile of it before the floods could overtop it. The total loss on this road amounts to Rs. 13,696.

13 The Krishnaghur and Nuddea road was overtopped at many places and badly damaged. The loss in metalling and earthwork was Rs. 1,008. The bridges and culverts escaped with slight injury.

14. The first four miles of the Krishnaghur and Boggulla road were deeply flooded, and the 5th and 6th miles were badly affected but not overtopped. The bridges and culverts escaped without much damage, but the special repair rendered necessary for the metalling and earthwork will alone cost Rs. 4,725. The submersion of this road was of the greatest inconvenience to the general public.

15. The Ranaghat and Santipore road suffered equally with the last mentioned road. The first four miles from Ranaghat were very badly affected and breached, but none of the bridges sustained any serious damage. The loss in earthwork and metalling has been estimated at Rs. 4,117.

16. The next road is the feeder from Kissengunge to Barromasia. It was affected by the floods which escaped through the openings and breaches of the Eastern Bengal Railway line. The rush of the flood current was therefore not very great anywhere on this road. The damage however was not small. Rs. 2,480 has been estimated to be the total loss in earthwork and metalling.

17. The total of loss caused by the last flood, including that on roads which has not been specially mentioned in this report, has been calculated at Rs. 54,229, which is larger than the fund which the Committee has annually at its disposal for road works. There is therefore hardly any possibility of meeting this heavy loss for some years to come unless aid is given to the fund.

18. In thanas Kaligunge, Nakasipara, and Chapra distress and want appeared on account of the inundation, and day-laborers, being without work, required relief at the close of the year under review. The Committee therefore advanced Rs. 3,000 to the local zemindars to start works on village roads to supply them relief by giving employment.

19 As usual the District Committee worked satisfactorily throughout the year. They met seven times, and all of their meetings were well attended.

20. There were four meetings of the Ranaghat, two of Kustia, one of Chuadanga, and two of the Meherpure Branch Committees, during the year. A quorum was present in each of these meetings, and the business was transacted as usual. The Chairmen of the Ranaghat, Chuadanga, and Kustia Branch Committees complained that their members failed to take their full share of work.

21. The benefit of the cess is now well appreciated by the people of this district. The only complaints now made are that the funds are insufficient for more extended operations. In Kustia and Meherpore some people complained of the insuffiency of the money annually spent in their sub-divisions. The fact is there are very few important metalled roads requiring large outlays in those sub-divisions.

22. The works provided for the current year are chiefly repairs of the existing lines of main and village communications and construction of village roads. Rs. 2,300 has also been re-allotted for the extension of metalling of the Krishnaghur and Nuddea road. The financial condition of the Committee not having been good, they were unable to provide money for the maintenance of all of their unmettalled existing roads. Their embarrassment has been rendered worse now by the recent destructive floods and the imperative necessity for relief works which arose in the beginning of this year, in consequence of the great devastations caused by it. The Committee had to withdraw from some of their urgent repair works a sum of Rs. 5,000 to meet the demand of the relief operation.

23. The establishment worked satisfactorily.

R. C. MOOKERJI,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 85 R., dated Jessore, the 23rd January 1886.

From—E. J. BARTON, Esq., Magistrate and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Jessore,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit herewith the Road Fund annual report and accounts for the cess year 1884-85, together with the requisite explanatory notes required under Government circular No. 8A, dated the 4th February 1878.

2. The estimates of income and expenditure for the year under review were considered and passed by the District Committee at a meeting held on the 15th August 1884, and subsequently the supplementary budget on the 18th March 1885. The receipts were estimated at Rs. 99,901, and the expenditure at Rs. 91,222. The actual receipts were Rs. 1,04,214, and the expenditure Rs. 1,01,089 The details of expenditure were shown in Form No. 6, Part II, of the annual accounts. The local works were carried out as usual by the District Engineer and his staff. Village roads and minor works were conducted by the Branch Committees under the supervison of the Chairmen and members.

3. The District Committee met three times during the year, and at all the meetings there was quorum.

One meeting was held in the beginning of the year to elect Vice-Chairman, and pass estimates and Road Fund annual report and accounts for 1883-84.

Another meeting was held in March 1885, to pass supplementary budget estimate for 1884-85, and estimates for road works.

And the last meeting, at the close of the year, to pass budget estimates for 1885-86, and to fix the rate of cess for that year. To elect a Vice-Chairman and to sanction District Engineer's application for one month and five days' privilege leave.

4. The Committee resolved at a meeting held on the 13th July 1885 to levy the maximum rate of cess for the ensuing year to meet the estimate of expenditure.

5. With very few exceptions the non-official members took but little interest in the administration of the fund at their disposal.

6. The accounts now submitted were laid before a meeting held on the 23rd instant after being previously examined and passed by a Sub-Committee. The report of the Sub-Committee is herewith attached, vide statement marked B.

7. The following is a brief description of the principal works carried out during the year:—

(a). Surface repairs have been executed on 487 miles of roads, that is, on all the roads entered in the printed list.

(b). Metal has been renewed on eight of the principal roads, and there have been two miles of new construction.

(c). All the bridges and culverts have been maintained throughout the district, and 17 new culverts have been constructed.

(d). Inspection bungalows have been constructed at Monirampore, in the Sudder sub-division, and at Mulnahautee, in the Bongong sub-division, to facilitate the better supervision of work along these long lines of roads. All the existing bungalows throughout the district have been maintained in proper order.

(e). Arboriculture.—The fruit trees planted out on the road sides have been maintained.

8. Station roads.—The sum of Rs. 450 was expended in repairing the roads in the different sub-divisions and the works were carried out under the immediate superintendence of the sub-divisional officers.

9. Village roads.—A sum of Rs. 3,000 was expended on village roads in the different sub-divisions of this district in the maintenance and construction of roads and bridges. These works were also carried out under the immediate supervision of the sub-divisional officers and members of the Committees.

10. I now proceed to state briefly the road cess operations which have been projected for the ensuing year 1885-86, as required by Government circular No. 50, dated the 23rd July 1873. The expected income from cess leviable under the Act and from other sources is estimated at Rs. 88,856, of which sum it is proposed to expend Rs. 12,143 on original works, and Rs. 53,074 on maintanance and repairs, exclusive of repairs to staging bungalows.

11. The principal works for execution are the following:—

(a). 487 miles of main lines of roads which are exclusive of station and village roads will be repaired and kept in order.

(b). About 1½ miles of new metalling will be executed on the Rajahat and Keshubpore, and Kallygunge, and Jhenidah roads.

(c). Portions of metalling will be renewed on eight of the principal roads.

(d). The bridges and culverts will be repaired to the extent of Rs. 7,330 as provided in the budget estimate, and 13 new culverts will be constructed, as also three causeways.

(e). Arboriculture will be carried out as usual to the extent of the budget allotment.

13. As usual the sub-divisional officers have taken an interest in the roads of their sub-divisions. They have supervised the construction and repairs of village roads. The Indigo Planters and a few native members have likewise rendered assistance.

14. Flood of 1885.—In the Bongong sub-division the flood rose to about 8 inches over that of 1871, and submerged all the roads with the exception of portions of the Bongong-Chogda and Kotchandpore-Kissengunge metalled roads, causing much damage to them and to many of the bridges, although the latter were relieved by cuts made in the road embankment. In the northern parts of the district the flood submerged many of the roads and caused considerable damage, especially to the temporary bridges on the Jhenidah-Magura and Magura-Benodepore roads. It rose to about the same height as that of 1879, that is, from 2 to 2½ feet below the flood of 1871.

15. Road Cess Collection—Establishment.—The total demand of both Road and Public Works Cesses for the year 1884-85 was Rs. 1,57,458, to which should be added the sum of Rs. 28,203, the arrears outstanding from the last year. The total realizable gross demand for the year will therefore be Rs. 1,85,661. Out of this amount, Rs. 1,58,395 was collected during the year, i.e., 85·32 per cent. on the gross demand. Excluding the sum of Rs. 105 on account of remission, there is a balance of Rs. 27,114. From this amount again the sum of Rs. 1,164 should be deducted on account of advance payments made for this year. This will reduce the balance to Rs. 25,950. Out of this balance again the sum of Rs. 21,632 has been realized since the close of the quarter. Out of the arrear balance of Rs. 28,203, with which the year opened, Rs. 28,059, or 99·5 per cent., has been realized.

16. Engineering Establishment.—Mr. Burt, the District Engineer, has continued to give satisfaction in the discharge of his work. Amongst the Subordinate Engineering Establishment, Baboo Uma Churn Ghose, Overseer, is deserving of notice. The new Accountant, Baboo Kartickya Biswas, also has satisfactorily performed the onerous duties of his office.

THE accounts for the past year were examined and passed, subject to the following remarks.

The register of bills passed has not been kept with sufficient care. The Accountant says that he never examines this book. Attention is drawn to the following items:—

1885.		Rs.	A.	P.
16th March	Bill for	210	0	0	All supposed to have been returned and re-submitted in other bills. This, if correct, should have been noted in ink, and the words "not passed" written through the columns for figures of amounts paid.

H. LEE,

The 14th January 1886.

No. 55R., dated Khulna, the 13th January 1886.

From—The Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Khulna,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts of the District Road Cess Committee, Khulna, for the cess year 1884-85, together with the following report.

2. The accounts were duly audited and passed by the Audit Sub-Committee on the 30th December 1885.

The delay in audit has caused this delay in the report, as the audited accounts could not be put before the Committee till their meeting of the 12th instant.

3. During the year there was one ordinary and seven special meetings of the District Committee, at all of which there was a quorum. The average attendance was 10, the average number of members being 22·5. * * * *

4. The full number of members was reduced by seven during 1883-84, leaving only 19 members at the beginning of the year, of whom one died, one was transferred, and three ceased to be members under section 115 of the Act. Twelve new members were appointed in the places vacant.

5. The District Committee worked satisfactorily, the members, both official and non-official, continuing to take intelligent interest in matters brought up before them. The attendance at meetings is good, considering the distances and inconvenience of travelling in this district.

6. The members of Branch Committees with a few exceptions were not regular in their attendance, and complaints have been made by the Chairmen of both the Branch Committees of Bagirhat and Satkhira of indifference towards the business of the Committee.

7. The monthly accounts have been regularly audited by a Standing Sub-Committee formed under section 174 of the Cess Act, and the accounts and books are reported to have been carefully and correctly kept.

8. The financial condition of the Committee was much the same as in the previous year. The total receipts of the year, including the balance of the previous year, had been estimated at Rs. 93,660, and the expenditure at Rs. 77,313. The actual receipts as per detailed account submitted were Rs. 93,462, and the expenditure Rs. 58,526, exclusive of the suspense account, leaving a balance of Rs. 33,706.

9. This rather large balance remained in the hand of the Committee from the following new projects not being taken in hand during the year:—

(a) Construction of bridges on the Rohimabad and Horikhali khals in the Bagirhat road, Rs. 8,300.
(b) Construction of a road from Benerpota to Sankdah, Rs. 4,000.
(c) Construction of a road from Satkhira to Magoora, Rs. 3,600.

10. Estimates for the construction of two iron bridges with masonry abutments on the Rohimabad and Horikhali khals were framed and submitted to the Superintending Engineer, but were returned for revision after testing the soil in the bed of the khals, and the Committee has since spent Rs. 735 in purchasing boring instruments and in testing the soil. A part of this allotment has been spent on the works,—vide revised budget, dated 26th September 1885.

11. The other two projects were schemes for direct road communication between Satkhira and Khulna. A temporary establishment was employed in the beginning of the year to survey this important scheme of communication, and survey work has been completed at an expense of Rs. 1,440. The works had then to be stopped for preparing an estimate of the whole of the proposed road between Khulna and Satkhira, as pointed out by the Executive Engineer, Jessore Division, at a meeting held on the 26th September 1885.

12. Two other projects for widening Bagirhat and Khulna road, and for a diversion road on the 7th mile of Jessore road near Moheswarpasha, estimated at Rs. 1,441 and Rs. 778, respectively, were taken in hand, and some money was spent on both, but their completion had to be deferred owing to the lands not having yet been acquired.

13. An estimate and project for constructing a light iron bridge on Joogikhali khal, amounting to Rs. 1,500, was sanctioned, and the work taken in hand; but owing to an accident, as noticed in the proceedings of the Committee held on the 11th August last, the bridge materials sank with a boat in the river Bhyrub while being carried to the site of work, which, in consequence, has not yet been completed. The loss estimated by the Committee for the value of materials amounted to Rs. 522.

14. An estimate for Rs. 2,494 was sanctioned by the Committee in 1883-84 for metalling one mile of Bhomra road. The work made some progress, but could not be completed owing to the floods.

15. All the other works mentioned in the list of original works in the account have been satisfactorily done.

16. The existing metalled and fair-weather roads and culverts and bridges over a total length of 102 miles were maintained throughout the year, and are now in passable order.

17. Fruit-trees have been planted in 1½ miles of the Jessore road, and in 1½ miles of Khulna and Bagirhat road; and the trees planted last year in the Satkhira and Kullaroa and Satkhira and Chanduria roads were maintained throughout the year. Two nurseries in Khulna and in Satkhira have been successfully made, and the plants are thriving.

18. A sum of Rs. 12,000, allotted for contribution for steam communication between Khulna and Satkhira, was re-appropriated (vide revised budget) on other works, as the project was considered less beneficial to the district than a direct communication by land.

19. The Satkhira portion of the district was touched by the flood during September and October. The water which passed through the Bongong sub-division into the Ichamutti river spread into the large chain of bheels (Danthbhanga and others) lying on the western limit of that sub-division, and passed over and through the road which connects Satkhira with Bassirhat. The platforms of the bridges were almost all carried away, but the roadway was not much damaged. The flood-water also passed over the road between Chanduria and Kullaroa, and in some places was from five to six feet above the roadway; but the damage done was not great, owing to the road being at a very low level.

20. During the year a subsidy of Rs. 100 per month was paid to the Flotilla Company plying between Khulna and Barisal. By a mistake in account, the subsidy was paid for 13 months. The Committee also received an application from the rival Company established by the Tagores for a similar subsidy, but it was considered that as both companies had made a good start, there was no need to continue any subsidy, and this has not been continued after the close of the year 1884-85.

21. The District Committee has nothing to do with the tow-paths which form an important means of communication in connection with the large boat traffic passing through the district, which are in the charge of the Public Works Department; but it may be stated that there is room for much improvement in them, and that by reason of want of funds or other causes they are not kept up throughout the district in an efficient state.

22. A sum of Rs. 14,500 was allotted for village roads in the district and placed at the control of the Branch Committees in sub-divisions and of the Vice-Chairman at head-quarters, and good progress has been made during the year in both the Sudder and Bagirhat sub-divisions; several village paths have been so improved as to become fit for being taken in as district roads. A large number of earthenware pipe culverts have been made in most of the village roads in the Sudder sub-division, but very little progress seems to have been made in the Satkhira sub-division. The fund available for this purpose, however, does not at all meet the requirements of the several applications, so that some of them numerously signed could not be attended to.

23. The different establishments under the Committee have worked satisfactorily.

KHULNA, A. C. MITTRA, AMBIKA CHURN SEN, W. CLAY,

The 30th December 1885. Accountant. Vice-Chairman Chairman.

WE examined the annual accounts of the District Road Cess Committee, Khulna, on the 28th and 30th December 1885. The accounts showed a total receipt of Rs 70,549-3-1 (seventy thousand five hundred and forty-nine rupees, three annas and one pie), excluding last year's balance (rupees thirty-two thousand three hundred and sixteen, annas fifteen and pies four only). The expenditure amounted to Rs. 69,159-13-6 sixty-nine thousand one hundred and fifty-nine rupees, annas thirteen and pies six only), including suspense account of nine thousand nine hundred and fifteen rupees, annas six and pies six only. We observed that in the column of expenditure a sum of Rs. 1,631-12-9 under the head of Refund of Cess, was not provided for in the budget, and a further sum of Rs. 982-5-7 under the head of Percentage Cost of Establishment of Offices of Account and Control exceeded the budget amount (Rs 935) by Rs. 47-5-7. We further observed that the budget provided for Rs 1,200 on account of Ferry, whereas the actual expenditure under this head had been Rs. 1,300. The rest of the account was found correct, and we accordingly pass the same.

The 30th December 1885.

No. 114 dated Berhampore, the 31st December 1885.

From—H. FARRER, Esq, Vice-Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee of Moorshedabad,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual report on the working of the Moorshedabad District Road Fund from 1st October 1884 to 30th September 1885; also the annual accounts connected with the same.

2. The members of the District Committee, with few exceptions, attended the meetings with regularity, and no difficulty was experienced in securing a quorum. * * *

3. There are three branch committees—at Jungipore, Kandee, and Choa. The two former took a considerable amount of interest in their duties, and were regular in submitting their accounts and returns. But in the latter respect such has not been the case with the Choa Branch Committee.

4. A sum of Rs. 10,000 was allotted for repairs to village roads in the year under report, and the work done with this is believed to have given satisfaction

5. The maximum rate of cess was levied during the year. The Road Cess Act, as far as the collection of cess was concerned, worked well. The zemindars, generally speaking, paid the sums due from them on the revenue days. Only the instalments of cess due from some of the estates under the general Manager of the Court of Wards could not be realized regularly. The percentage of collection to demand was 95·61.

6. As regards the nature of the feelings of the people towards the levy of the road cess, it is believed that they generally realize the benefits which the application of the tax confers, however averse they may be to its impositio

7. The establishment under the Road Cess Deputy Collector and the District Engineer appear to have worked well under their supervision.

8. All the main roads, except one, which is a mere track, and the drainage cuts, included in the printed list sanctioned by Government, were repaired and kept in good order; but the inundations of the Bhagirathi and Bhoyrab rivers in August and September damaged most of the roads to a considerable extent.

9. Original Works.—The only original work of any importance that was carried out during the year under report was the construction of a diversion of the Jungipore and Khamra road near Jungipore. The whole of the first mile of this road had been washed away by the river Bhagirathi, and a new line, about 3,700 feet in length, was constructed and opened to traffic.

10. Repairs, metalled roads.—There are about 26¾ miles of metalled roads maintained by the Road Cess Committee of this district. About six miles of these received a new coat of metal 3 inches thick, and the remainder was patched and repaired.

11. Kutcha roads.—The total mileage of kutcha roads brought under the operation of the Road Cess Act is some 575 miles: of these, 207½ miles are embanked and bridged and were kept in good repair; 278 miles are embanked, but temporarily bridged, and were also repaired throughout; and the remainder are unraised tracks, which received the ordinary surface repairs.

12. Drainage cuts.—The two main drainage cuts (northern and southern drainage cuts) that drain the jheels and low lands between the station and the Gobra nullah were cleaned throughout and repaired.

13. Village roads.—Most of the village roads within the Sudder and the Lalbagh sub-divisions and under the Branch Road Cess Committees of Kandee, Jungipore, and Choa, as provided in the budget estimates, were constructed and repaired. Some of these roads are important and may be considered as main roads. They were repaired throughout and kept in fair order.

14. Tree planting.—The fruit-bearing trees planted along sides of roads were regularly watered and protected.

15. At a meeting held on the 10th August 1885 the estimates for 1885-86 were passed. The total income, including the estimated balance, has been set down at Rs. 97,139, and the expenditure at Rs. 77,111. A sum of Rs. 1,933 was all the Committee were able to allot for original works, and for maintaining trees planted along the roads. A sum of Rs. 46,406 was allotted for repairs to main roads and drainage cuts, and Rs. 10,000 were allotted for village roads.

H. FARRER,
Vice-Chairman.

Report by the members of the District Road Cess Audit Sub-Committee of Moorshedabad on an examination of the Road Cess Accounts unaer Section 179 of the Road Cess Act.

WE, the undersigned members of the Audit Sub-Committee, beg leave to report that we have examined the annual accounts of the Vice-Chairman for the road cess year 1884-85, as required in section 179 of Road Cess Act, and found them to be correct.

H. FARRER, Vice-Chairman.
RADHIKA CHURN SEN.
RAM DASS SEN.

BERHAMPORE,
The 2nd December 1885.

No. 5P.R., dated Calcutta, the 27th January 1886.

From—A. SMITH, ESQ., Commissioner of the Presidency Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts of income and expenditure, of the several district road funds in this division for the cess year ending 30th September 1885, together with copies of the administration reports received from the Chairmen of the District Road Cess Committees.

2. The total income of the several districts, including the balance of the preceding year, amounted to Rs. 4,98,580 in the year under review, and the total expenditure to Rs. 4,27,134. The income of the Committees being very small, they could not meet all the legimitate claims upon them, and much that it would have been well to do had to be left undone. Most of the income was swallowed up in the maintenance and repair of existing works. Out of a total expenditure of Rs. 4,27,134, a sum of Rs. 43,368 was spent on original works, being 9·8 per cent. of the total amount spent. With this small amount, the Committees could not be expected to execute important original works. A part of the money originally allotted for this purpose had to be transferred to the head of repairs owing to damages to certain important lines of communication caused by the recent destructive flood. As in the previous year, the Road Cess Committees of the 24-Pergunnahs and Moorshedabad spent a very small percentage of their total income on original works.

3. It will be seen from the accompanying reports that the late inundation affected all the districts of this division more or less, and the damage done to the roads was very considerable in some of the districts. The Committees worked very energetically and did what they could to put the roads in proper order, so far as the funds at their disposal allowed. Much, however, is still wanted. In the 24-Pergunnahs and Nuddea the complaint that funds are insufficient is specially strong, and it seems to me that before long the question of increasing the rate which now stands in all the districts at the legal maximum will have to be fixed.

DISTRICTS.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
24-Pergunnahs	11,000	12,387	14,500
Nuddea	6,265	5,132	4,034
Jessore	4,882	4,300	3,150
Moorshadabad	10,000	10,000	10,000
Khulna	7,120	12,836	14,500

4. The statement in the margin shows the grants made by the District Road Cess Committees for the improvement of village roads during the year under report as compared with those of the two preceding years.

5. In all the districts due attention was paid to the planting and rearing of trees along the road sides.

ALEXANDER PEDLER,

Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1886.

THE normal meteorological conditions obtaining in the Province of Bengal during the month of February show clearly the commencement of the transition from the cold to the hot season. The most important feature is undoubtedly the rapid increase of temperature which usually commences this month, and which is continued during the following two or three months. The rapid increase of temperature is due to the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, and from well-known principles, this heating effect is much more pronounced and clearly marked over the land area than over the sea. Temperature therefore not only increases rapidly, but also at different rates in different parts of the country, determined mainly by their position with reference to the sea, and with reference to neighbouring ranges of hills.

The seat of maximum temperature in the actual cold-weather months is generally in Southern India, but with the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, the seat of maximum temperature moves northwards until at the close of February, the hottest parts of India are the western and northern parts of the Deccan. As pointed out previously, a land area is very much more rapidly heated than a sea area, and consequently in Bengal the air over the land surface becomes hotter than that over the sea, and the dry northerly winds of the north-east monsoon are gradually replaced by southerly moist winds. The change usually commences on the coast of Orissa and South-West Bengal, some time in February, where the winds are at first very local, but the southerly winds, produced of course by similar causes acting over the whole of Northern India, gradually extend their influence seaward and landward, until they finally replace the north-east monsoon winds by the south-west monsoon current. The establishment of the southerly moist winds in Bengal is not, however, a steady and continuous process, but usually a series of oscillations takes place before the southerly winds become thoroughly established, the number and extent of which probably depend on the strength of the previous north-east monsoon, and on the strength of the southerly winds produced by the unequal heating effect of the sun's rays over the land and sea area.

The normal conditions of February in Bengal are therefore comparatively simple. Temperature increases steadily and rapidly; winds are light and in some cases very variable, usually alternating between north-west and south-west along the sea-coast. In the interior the air is dry, but near the coast it is subject to sudden changes according as the wind shifts from north to south. The sky is generally clear, and little or no rain falls, unless the normal meteorological conditions are reversed by occasional disturbances. The disturbances which may occur are of two or three kinds. The first are those which have been termed in previous reports north-east monsoon storms, which commence as barometric depressions over Northern India, and drift eastwards and southwards, generally reaching as far as Behar, and in some cases entering Bengal. A second kind of disturbance appears to be due to the interaction of the northerly and southerly wind currents, which apparently results in ascensional motion of the air, and, with the rising of the moist winds, cloud is formed, and such actions are frequently attended by the precipitation of rain. In certain cases, too, from causes difficult to explain, and still more difficult to foresee, though probably connected with vertical ascending air motion, the barometer falls locally over Bengal, the sky clouds over and rain falls. The last class of disturbances, which generally occur only towards the end of the month or the commencement of March, are more local in character, and are probably also due to interaction between the dry land winds and the southerly moist winds. These storms are known as nor'westers, and they bring strong winds, and in many cases heavy rain, and those occurring in February are frequently noticeable from being accompanied by hail.

The average normal rainfall for the month over the Province is small, though somewhat larger than in January. It averages half an inch in Behar, about two thirds of an inch in North Bengal, four-fifths of an inch in Chutia Nagpur, and a little over an inch in Orissa and in East and South-West Bengal.

The chief features in the meteorology of the past month have been—

1. Slight excess pressure over all districts.
2. Diminished temperature in all districts with very decided defect in North Behar.
3. Comparative dryness of the air, particularly in South-West Bengal.
4. Cloud proportion decidedly below the normal
5. The formation of two disturbances over Upper India of the kind described under the normal meteorology, and absence of the other forms of disturbance.
6. Almost entire absence of rainfall in Orissa, South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, with very light, but general, rain on one or two days in North Bengal and Behar.

At the commencement of the month the north-east monsoon had rather fallen off in strength, but at this time a depression was forming over Northern India, which gave rather heavy rainfall over Upper India, and brought heavy falls of snow to the North-Western Himalaya. The disturbance extended and brought a few very light local showers to this province, which fell principally in Orissa, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur, and with its disappearance a steady northerly wind current again set in, which caused a very rapid reduction of humidity and temperature over Bengal. These strongly developed north-east monsoon conditions continued till about the middle of the month, and they were again followed by a few days of rather variable winds with increasing temperature and humidity, when another and very considerable barometric depression was formed over Northern India, and these disturbed conditions brought general rain to North Bengal and Behar generally on the 17th and 18th. A fairly strong and steady northerly wind current then again set in over Bengal, and again temperature and humidity rapidly decreased, and generally remained comparatively low till nearly the end of the month, when temperature and humidity rapidly increased with the setting in of southerly winds. The month has then been marked by several sudden transitions of meteorological conditions of the kind previously referred to.

Pressure was, the first few days of the week decidedly below the normal, and the defect for the first week was 0·046″. During the second week the defect became entirely obliterated, and was replaced by an excess of 0·061″. In the third week the excess had been reduced to 0·018″, and in the last week the excess was 0·024.″ For the whole month the average pressure has therefore not been very far removed from the normal, and the variation of the mean pressure of the province from the normal is an excess of only 0·011″. This excess is fairly evenly distributed, as the excess pressure of the districts only varies between 0·017″ in East Bengal to 0·004″ in South Behar.

Temperature has been pretty steadily below the normal for the whole month. The largest average variation occurred during the second week, when a period of considerable comparative coldness was registered. In this week the mean temperature of the province was nearly 4° below the normal, and in some districts the defect was nearly 5°. For the whole month the mean temperature of the province has been about 2·2° below the normal, but by far the greatest variation has been shown by North Behar, where temperature has been 5·4° below the normal. In Orissa, South-West Bengal and East Bengal the defect has been about 2°, while in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur the defect has only been about 1°.

Rainfall, except for the very light and general fall over North Bengal and Behar, brought by the disturbed conditions from Northern India on the 16th to the 18th, has been practically absent over the whole province. The largest average rainfall of any meteorological division for the month has been only 0·21 inch in North Bengal, the next largest is only 0·18 inch in South Behar, while North Behar has received 0·09 inch. In other divisions the rainfall has been so small that it only amounts to one or two hundredths of an inch. It is therefore scarcely necessary to say that in all cases rainfall has been largely below the normal for the month.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological Divisions of the Province for the month of February 1886 :—

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 5TH OF MARCH 1886.

For the first three or four days of the week the meteorological conditions were those of the commencement of the hot weather, and pressure fell generally, temperature rose rapidly, the average daily rise being about two and in some cases three degrees, humidity also rose rapidly, and generally winds were south-westerly over the greater part of the province. On the 1st of March, in particular, the conditions appeared to be approaching closely those of the hot weather, but a rather rapid series of barometric changes took place, which resulted on the 4th instant in the formation of a distinct, but shallow, area of barometric depression over part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and which influenced the wind directions of a considerable area of country. These disturbed conditions on the following day brought a few small local storms, in most cases accompanied by rain, and in some cases by hail also, over parts of Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, but except for these showers the whole province has again been practically rainless for the week.

Pressure has varied rather considerably during the week, for the first-half falling rapidly, while during the second-half there was a considerable recovery. In the previous week pressure was 0·024″ in excess of the normal, but for the present week, the mean pressure of the province shows a defect of 0·049″ below the normal. The defect has been largest in Behar, where at Gya it equals 0·083,″ while it has been comparatively small in East Bengal, where the defect is 0·022″.

Temperature, as above stated, rose with great rapidity for the greater part of the week, and it is now very largely above the normal, the mean temperature over the whole Province being between 4° and 5° above the normal. The largest excess has been in Chutia Nagpur, where it averages 5·4°, and in South-West Bengal the average excess was 4·9°.

This excess temperature has been rather unequally distributed over the night and day, as is shewn clearly in the table below, where the mean maximum and minimum temperatures for the week at eight selected stations are compared with the normal temperatures for the same period. From this table it will be seen that the average day temperatures at the eight stations have been 4·3° in excess of the normal, while the average night temperatures have been 6·7° in excess. In some cases the excess in minimum temperature has been very large, thus at Hazaribagh the excess in the night temperature is no less than 11·5°, while at Jessore the excess has been 9·5°.

The changes in humidity during the week have been very large and rapid, and thus at Calcutta, from 10 A. M. of the 1st to the morning of the 2nd, there was a decrease in the humidity equal to 50 per cent., and from the 2nd to the 3rd there was an increase equal to 44 per cent.

The distribution of the small amounts of rain which have fallen has already been referred to. East Bengal has averaged 0·20 inch, while in Orissa and East Bengal the amounts are so small, that they only average a few hundredths of an inch. Over the remainder of the province rainfall has been absent.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 5th March 1886 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of former years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2°·1 lower; and, finally, the thermometer, which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 96 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

7. The power of hearing and passing orders on petitions of objection, under section 26 of the Act, shall not be exercised by Income-tax Deputy Collectors, except in cases where the amount of assessment to which the petition relates is less than rupees two hundred and fifty.

Consistently with these rules, the Commissioner of Income Tax may alter these forms, or prescribe other forms as may from time to time be required. ASSESSED TAXES.

No. 593.

The 5th February 1886.

IN exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Act II of 1886, and of all other power enabling him in this behalf, the Honourable the President in Council is pleased to make the following rules under the said Act:—

1. The time within which amounts deducted from salary, annuity, pension, or gratuity paid by a local authority under section 8, sub-section (1) of the Act must be paid to the credit of the Government of India is fixed at one week from the date of payment of the salary, pension, annuity, or gratuity. The payment to the credit of the Government shall be made by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement giving the following particulars for each person from whom the tax has been realised:—

(1) Name.
(2) Period for which the salary has been paid.
(3) Amount of salary paid.
(4) Amount of tax.

2. The return required by section 10 of the Act shall be in Form A hereto appended.

3. Any sums, such as payments to regimental mess or band funds or the like, compulsorily stopped from salary by the orders, or with the approval, of Government, shall be deducted from the salary previous to assessment.

A portion of salary withheld in persuance of an order of a Court is not a sum compulsorily stopped from salary within the meaning of this rule.

4. A deduction made from the amount of salary, pension, or annuity liable to assessment on account of a payment made to a life insurance company must be supported by the receipt of the insurance company for the payment and a copy thereof. When the deduction is claimed by a servant of the Government, or of a local authority, the officer paying the salary, pension, or annuity will compare the original receipt with the copy, return the original, and attach the copy to the salary, pension or annuity bill if the payee is a Government servant, and to the statement forwarded with the amount of the tax realised under Rule 1, if the payee is a servant of a local authority.

Where the Collector is satisfied that the original receipt of the insurance company cannot be produced without an amount of delay, expense, or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, he may accept such other proof of payment of the premium as he may deem sufficient.

5. The amounts exempted from assessment by section 5, sub-section (1), clause (g) of the Act and by rule 4 above shall not be deducted from income for the purpose of determining whether the income is liable to the tax, or of determining the rate at which the tax shall be levied.

6. The amount to be assessed under section 24, sub-section (1) of the Act on account of a building occupied by the owner thereof shall not in any case exceed 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner derived from all sources. It will not, however, be understood from this that a maximum of 10 per cent. of the aggregate income of the owner is to be considered equivalent to the letting-value of his house. The letting-value will, in all cases, be ascertained on the best data available, in view of the circumstances of the locality in which the house is situated.

7. Salaries, annuities, and pensions paid in April 1886, though on account of March 1886, are liable to the tax.

8. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General or other auditing officer shall submit Return No. I in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

9. The certificates referred to in the second column of Part III of Schedule II of the Act shall be in Form B or in Form C hereto appended.

10. Any claim under section 5, sub-section (1), clause (e) of the Act to exemption from the levy of the tax on the interest of securities employed solely for religious or public charitable purposes within the meaning of that clause must be supported by a certificate from the Collector, which shall be in Form D hereto appended.

11. In the case of securities, the interest on which is payable by the Government of India, the amount deducted on account of the tax under section 13, sub-section (1) of the Act shall be paid to the credit of the Government on the same day as the payment of the interest is made.

12. In the case of securities, the interest on which is not payable by the Government of India, the amount so deducted shall be paid to the credit of the Government within one week from the date on which interest is paid. The person deducting the amount should pay it to the credit of the Government by remitting the amount to the Collector with a statement showing the following particulars:—

(1) Name of owner.
(2) Description of security.
(3) Number of ,,
(4) Date of ,,
(5) Amount of ,,
(6) Period for which interest is drawn.
(7) Amount of interest.
(8) Amount of tax.

13. Interest on securities belonging to Service Funds shall not be assessed.

14. After the close of the year of assessment each Accountant-General and Comptroller shall submit Return No. II in the form hereto appended to such officer as the Local Government may direct.

15. In calculating the amount of tax payable, the amount due on a fraction of a rupee shall be neglected. Thus the tax to be realised on a monthly salary of Rs. 166-10-8 is Rs. 4-5-2 only.

16. All public servants are forbidden to make public or disclose, except for the purpose of the working of Act II of 1886, any information contained in documents delivered or produced with respect to assessments under Part IV of the said Act, and any public servant committing a breach of this rule shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 166 of the Indian Penal Code.

17. Power to make further rules is hereby delegated to the several Local Governments.

18. Each Local Government will prescribe form of registers to be maintained by Collectors and others for the purpose of showing the demand and collections of the tax, the various classes of incomes assessed, and the working of the several provisions of the Act.

19. After the close of the year of assessment each Local Government will submit to the Government of India in the Financial Department a report on the working of the Act.

20. The following returns in the forms hereto appended will be submitted with that report —

Change in the Anchorage limits of the Port of Mangalore.

IN supersession of all previous Notices to Mariners issued from this Department, notice is hereby given that the Gúrpúr, or Northern mouth of the harbour at Mangalore is closed for traffic for sea-going vessels, owing to the bad state of the mouth and the intricacy of the channel leading into the port.

Pattimars and other small native craft may enter at high-water by the Ullal or Southern mouth, and will find good anchorage inside the sand spit near the Southern Boundary Pillar; but as the bar is very shallow, no buggalows, kotias, or other large native vessels can enter the harbour laden, nor find any shelter from North-Westers prevailing in March, April, and May. All such vessels bound for the Port of Mangalore should therefore be provided with good ground tackle for anchoring in the outer roadstead in not less than 4 fathoms of water (low water), with the lighthouse bearing between E. by N. and N.E. by E.

The Bearings are Magnetic.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Resolution No. 4161, dated 11th November 1881, authorising the establishment of Government Savings Banks at certain Post Offices in India and prescribing rules for the guidance of depositors in these Banks.

The following Orders sanctioning certain changes in the rules published in November 1881:—

No. 1460, dated 2nd June 1882.
„ 3775, „ 16th September 1882.
„ 40, „ 31st March 1883.

„ 1052, „ 28th May 1885.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of all existing orders on the subject, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prescribe the following revised rules for the guidance of depositors in Post Office Savings Banks:—

DEFINITIONS.

1. For the purposes of these rules—

Deposit means money paid into a Post Office Savings Bank by, or on behalf of, a depositor.

Depositor means the person by whom, or on whose behalf, money is deposited.

Account means the account of a depositor in a Post Office Savings Bank.

Balance means the balance at credit of an account.

Minor means a person who has not completed the age of 18 years.

Legal guardian means not only any guardian constituted by law for the time being, but also includes a father, or, if the father be dead, a mother.

Postmaster General means the chief postal authority in any province or place to which the system of Post Office Savings Banks is extended.

OBJECT OF GOVERNMENT IN ESTABLISHING POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

2. The object of Government in establishing Post Office Savings Banks is to provide a ready means for the deposit of savings, and so to encourage thrift. Savings Banks are not to be used for the purpose of keeping a current account, and the Comptroller, Post Office, is empowered to close an account should he have reason to believe that the depositor has used the Savings Bank for a purpose for which it was not intended.

BUSINESS HOURS.

3. Post Office Savings Banks will be open for the transaction of business between the hours of noon and 4 P.M. every day, with the exception of Sundays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, and the Queen's Birthday. These hours may, under the authority of the Postmaster General, be altered to suit local circumstances.

POSTAL OFFICIALS BOUND TO SECRECY.

4. The officers of the Postal Department engaged in the receipt or payment of deposits are not allowed to disclose the name of any depositor, or the amount deposited or withdrawn by him, except to the Postmaster General or other officers of the Department engaged in carrying out the provisions of these rules.

PERSONS WHO MAY DEPOSIT MONEY.

5. Any person may deposit money in a Post Office Savings Bank (a) on his own behalf, or (b) on behalf of any adult relative, or (c) on behalf of any minor relative, or (d) on behalf of any minor of whom he is the guardian.

Explanation.—Minors are allowed to deposit money in their own names, and women, whether married or single, are allowed to deposit money in their own names, but subject, in the case of married women, to the limitation laid down in Rule 6.

LIMITATIONS AS TO OPENING ACCOUNTS.

6. (i) A person may open an account on his own behalf or on behalf of an adult relative, but may not have more than one such account open. If he has an account open on his own behalf, he may not open another on behalf of an adult relative; and similarly, if he has an account open on behalf of an adult relative, he may not open another on his own behalf. If an account is opened on behalf of an adult relative, the account must be in the name of that relative, and should set forth the relationship that subsists between him and the person who opened the account on his behalf.

(ii) In addition to the account which a person may open on his own behalf or on behalf of an adult relative, he may open any number of separate accounts on behalf of any minor related to him or of whom he is the guardian, provided that he shall not open more than on account on behalf of each such minor.

(iii) The fact that an account has been opened on behalf of a minor shall not prevent such minor from opening an account in his own name; nor shall the fact that a married man has an account in his own name prevent his wife from opening a separate account in her own name, provided the money to be deposited by her is her own property or earning.

NOTE A.—This rule is not meant to prevent any one from opening more than one ex-officio or public account (vide Rule 9).

NOTE B.—Warrant and Non-Commissioned officers and men serving in British Regiments can open accounts in Post Office Savings Banks even though already depositors in Military Savings Banks.

7. Deposits in trust are not allowed, and cannot be recognised. Money cannot be deposited in the name of two or more persons jointly, provided that nothing in this rule shall prevent the deposit of money in the name of a known firm, or on behalf of a benevolent or quasi-public institution.

8. The smallest sum of money that can be deposited at any time is four annas; and no sum can be deposited that is not a multiple of four annas. A depositor cannot deposit a larger sum than five hundred rupees in all between the 31st March of any year and the 1st April of the following year.

NOTE A.—The limit of R500 is to be reckoned irrespective of withdrawals, that is, withdrawals are not to be deducted in applying it.

NOTE B.—The limit of R500 may be exceeded—
(1) in the case of Public Accounts;
(2) in the case of Regimental and Police Accounts.

NOTE C.—When an account is transferred from one Savings Bank (whether Post Office or Presidency) to another, the amount so transferred shall not be included in calculating the limit of R500, save that portion of it deposited in the current year.

NOTE D.—Deposits made for the purpose of immediate investment in Government Securities are not reckoned in calculating the limit of R500.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

9. The following conditions govern the opening of "Public Accounts":—

(a) Accounts may be opened by officers of Government who have charge of money as Secretaries or Managers of Dispensary, Church, or other religious Institution, School, Orphanage, Asylum, or Library Funds, or any funds contributed for purposes other than the private advantage or amusement of the contributors. Race, Racquet, Billiard, Mess, and similar funds, whose objects are of a private or personal nature, are not within this definition, and such accounts may not be admitted. Band Funds may be admitted if there is no private bank in the place.

(b) Secretaries and Managers of Dispensary and similar funds (as above mentioned), if they are not officers of Government and the institution is not subject to Government control, can be allowed Savings Bank accounts only if there is no respectable private bank of deposit in the place.

(c) Secretaries and Managers of Benevolent Funds (that is funds formed by mutual subscription as an insurance against domestic misfortune) may be allowed accounts.

(d) Officers of Government or of public institutions, such as Railway and Steamer Companies, and the like, who collect subscriptions, voluntary or departmental, from their subordinates for departmental purposes, may be allowed accounts.

(e) Government officials and others who are required to deposit security may be allowed a separate account for the security deposit only. Such officials will be required to give notice pledging their deposit.

(f) Public accounts of the kind specified above must be designated by a name indicating the object to which the money is devoted, as A—pore Dispensary Fund, Workman's Sick Fund, &c. They are exempted from the rules limiting the amount of deposit within one year to R500 (provided the deposit is the bonâ fide income of the fund), and interest will be paid upon their full balance, notwithstanding that it exceeds R9-6 a month. But a reduction of balance by more than R3,000 within twelve consecutive months will not be permitted, unless the Secretary or Manager gives six months' notice of his intention to make additional withdrawals, such notice to specify the precise amount to be withdrawn.

10. No account may be allwoed for money—

(1) which is the property of Government, or

(2) which has been received for credit of Government, or

(3) which has been drawn from the Treasury for expenditure on account of Government, or

(4) which is collected or received or held in trust by any public officer or Court in accordance with any law, or

(5) which is raised by taxation, either local or municipal.

REGIMENTAL AND POLICE ACCOUNTS.

11. The Commanding Officer of a Native regiment may open a single account with the Post Office Savings Bank on account of the men of his regiment, making his own arrangements about the separate accounts of the individuals, and about the distribution to them of the interest credited upon the conjoint account. This account shall be subject to the usual rules, save that the limits of R500 for deposits and of R9-6 for monthly interest shall not apply. The Commanding Officer must, however, in presenting any deposits, sign a certificate that, to the best of his belief, the money is the property of the men of the regiment. District Superintendents of Police may have accounts under this rule on account of men in the police force.

N. B.—This rule shall not be held to prevent any Native soldier, or any member of the police force, opening an account of his own in his individual capacity.

POWERS TO WITHDRAW MONEY, AND LIMITATIONS AS TO WITHDRAWAL.

12. A depositor can withdraw money from his account once a week. By the term "week" is meant the period from Monday to Saturday, both days inclusive. A depositor can, therefore, withdraw money from his account on Saturday and again on the following Monday.

13. Money deposited on behalf of an adult relative can be withdrawn, not by the person who deposits the money, but only by the adult relative himself. A minor can withdraw money deposited by him in his own name; but money deposited on behalf of a minor can only be withdrawn during his minority by his legal guardian.

14. Women, whether married or single, can withdraw money deposited by them in their own names; and married women can also withdraw money deposited by them as single women in their own names, their marriage notwithstanding. The fact that a female minor, on whose behalf money has been deposited, is married or becomes married after the account has been opened on her behalf, shall not prevent her from withdrawing the money so deposited on attaining majority.

15. A depositor cannot withdraw a smaller sum than four annas, and he cannot withdraw any sum which is not a multiple of four annas, unless it be to close his account, in which case he can withdraw the balance at his credit..

HOW TO OPEN AN ACCOUNT.

16. Any person wishing to open an account should apply to the nearest Post Office that is a Savings Bank. Application need not necessarily be made in person; but the applicant must state his name, his occupation or profession, and his place of residence. If he be a Native, he must also state his father's name and caste.

17. The intending depositor must sign a declaration, in the following form, that he has read and accepted the Post Office Savings Bank rules. If he be unable to write, he must attend personally, and, in the presence of a witness, affix his mark or seal to the declaration to be attested by the signature of the witness. If he should apply in person, a copy of the Rules will be given to him to read, or they will be read and explained to him should he be unable to read. If he should not apply in person, a copy of the Rules, with the form of declaration, will be sent to him, and he must present the declaration duly signed with the first deposit.

Form of Declaration to be signed by Depositor on making first deposit.

I hereby declare that the Post Office Savings Banks Rules have been read $\left\{\begin{matrix}\text{by me}\\\text{to me}\end{matrix}\right\}$, and that I accept them as binding upon me.

I further declare that I have no account either in my own name or in the name of an adult relative at any Post Office Savings Bank.

18. Women who, by the custom of the country, are not allowed to appear in public, may open accounts in their own names through their agents, or, if they are married women, through their husbands or agents. The agent or husband will be required to sign the declaration that the depositor understands and accepts the rules.

19. When the declaration is presented, duly signed, with the amount of the first deposit, or when it has been signed by a depositor attending in person to make a deposit, the amount of the deposit will be entered in a Pass-book, which will be supplied to the depositor, and the entry will be initialled by the Postmaster and stamped with the office stamp. The depositor will be required to sign a receipt for the Pass-book.

20. If the account be opened at a Sub-Post Office, the Pass-book for the depositor will have to be obtained from the Head Office. A preliminary receipt for the amount of the first deposit will, therefore, be given to the depositor, who will be informed of the date on which he should call to receive the Pass-book. When the Pass-book is handed over to the depositor he will be required to return this preliminary receipt, and to sign an acknowledgment for the Pass-book. The amount of the original deposit will be entered in the Pass-book at the Head Office, and the depositor will therefore have a guarantee that the sum has been received in that office. He should be careful to see that the entry in the Pass-book corresponds with the amount entered in the preliminary receipt before giving up the latter.

PASS-BOOK AND ITS IMPORTANCE.

21. The Pass-book will show, in the vernacular of the district or in English, as the depositor may wish, the number of his account, with the name of the office from which the book is issued, his own name, occupation or profession, and address. No deposit can be made, and no money can be withdrawn, from an account without its production, and the Post Office will not be responsible for any sum not acknowledged in the Pass-book. Depositors should carefully examine their books before leaving the offices, and ascertain that the entries are correct. They should also be careful to keep their Pass-books in their own possession, as the Post Office will not be responsible for any loss caused to a depositor, if any person shall obtain possession of the book and fraudulently obtain the payment of any sum belonging to the depositor.

LOSS OF PASS-BOOK.

22. No charge will be made for the book at first supplied to a depositor, or for any book issued to him in continuation of the original book. But if a book be lost or spoiled, or if any account be re-opened after it has been closed, the depositor will have to pay one rupee for a fresh book.

MODE OF DEPOSITING MONEY AFTER AN ACCOUNT HAS BEEN OPENED.

23. A depositor may deposit money at the Post Office at which his account stands as often as he wishes, so long as the prescribed yearly limit is not exceeded. All that he is required to do is to take or send the amount to be deposited with his Pass-book to the Post Office. The amount of his deposit will be entered in the Pass-book, and the balance struck as shown below. The entry will then be initialled by the Postmaster and stamped with the dated stamp of the office, and the Pass-book returned :—

DATE.	Dated stamp of the Post Office.	Amount of each deposit or withdrawal (to be entered in words).	Amount deposited.	Amount withdrawn.	Balance at credit of the Depositor.	Initials of the Post-master
3rd April 1883	...	Deposited ten rupees.	10 0 0	...	10 0 0	A.B.C.

12th May „	...	Withdrawn three rupees.	...	3 0 0	32 0 0	A.B.C.

24. If the amount be deposited at a Sub-Post Office, the depositor will receive, in addition to the receipt in his Pass-book, an acknowledgment from the Head Office, which will generally be the office at the head-quarters station of the district. This acknowledgment will be delivered to him in ordinary course through the Post Office. If it should not reach the depositor in proper time, or if, when it reaches him, it should show any signs of erasure, or should not agree with the entry in the Pass-book, the depositor should immediately apply to the Postmaster of the Head Office, the name of which is in the Pass-book, and renew his application again and again until he receives a satisfactory reply.

MODE OF WITHDRAWING MONEY.

25. When a depositor wishes to withdraw money, he must present his Pass-book personally or by agent (whose name must be entered in the application for withdrawal) at the Post Office at which his account stands, with a printed form of application for withdrawal, which can be obtained at the Post Office, signed by himself and showing the balance at his credit and the amount which he wishes to withdraw. If he is unable to write, he must attend personally and affix his mark or seal to the application, to be attested by the signature of a witness. Should he be absolutely unable to attend personally, he must have his mark or seal affixed to the application and attested by some respectable witness, and the Postmaster will make payment to the person presenting this application with the Pass-book, after satisfying himself, by such enquiry as he may think proper, of the inability of the depositor to attend and of the genuine character of the application.

26. The amount to be withdrawn will be entered in the Pass-book and a fresh balance, struck, as in the case of a deposit, under the initials of the Postmaster and the dated stamp of the office. The amount will then be paid to the depositor or to the person presenting the Pass-book and application, and his receipt taken, in all cases without a receipt stamp, on the Warrant of Payment.

27. If the amount be withdrawn at a Sub-Post Office, payment cannot be made until a Warrant of Payment is received from the Head Office * The depositor, therefore, or other person presenting the Pass-book and application, will be informed of the date on which he should come to the Post Office to receive payment, and will have the Pass-book returned to him. On presentation of the Pass-book on that date, or any subsequent date after the arrival of the Warrant of Payment, the amount will be paid to the depositor, or other person presenting the Pass-book, and his receipt taken, in all cases without a receipt stamp, upon the Warrant. The necessary entries will then be made in the Pass-book, under the initials of the Sub-Postmaster and attested by the stamp of the office.

INTEREST.

28. Interest will be allowed at the rate of 3¾ per cent. per annum, until further orders on all deposits, subject to the conditions of this rule. This interest will be allowed for each calendar month on the lowest balance at credit of an account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month: provided that interest shall only be calculated at the rate of three pies a month on every complete sum of five rupees: provided also that no higher monthly interest than R9-6 shall be allowed on the balance of any account, except as provided for under Rules 8, 9, and 11.

29. The interest calculated as above for each month will be added to the balance of each account after the 31st of March of each year. Depositors will be called upon to present their Pass-books in order that the necessary entries may be made in them. If the Pass-book be not presented for this purpose, in response to the notice sent by the Post Office to the depositor, the entry will be made on the next occasion when a deposit is made or when money is withdrawn.

NOTE.—Pass-books of depositors in Sub-Post Offices will be sent to the Head office for the purpose of adding interest under this rule.

TRANSFER OF ACCOUNTS.

30. A depositor may have his account transferred free of charge to any Post Office that is a Savings Bank, provided that the account shall have been in existence for three months previous to the transfer. If he should wish to transfer his account, he must present his Pass-book at the Post Office personally, or send it with a written application for transfer. The Pass-book will be retained by the Postmaster, and a certificate given to him showing the amount at his credit. On presenting this at the Post Office to which his account has been transferred, he will receive back his Pass-book. A depositor in a Presidency Savings Bank may, by application to the Presidency Savings Bank, have his account transferred, free of charge, to any Post Office Savings Bank.

CLOSING AN ACCOUNT.

31. When a depositor wishes to close his account, he must present his Pass-book with a form of Application for Withdrawal of the net amount at his credit. The amount of interest due on his account up to the end of the calendar month preceding the date of presentation will be entered in the Pass-book, and a final balance struck. The amount will then be paid to the depositor, and his receipt taken on the Warrant of Payment. The Pass-book will be retained in the Post Office. If the application for closing an account be presented at a Sub-Office, the same procedure will be followed as in the case of an ordinary withdrawal, except that the Pass-book will be retained.

32. If an account be closed under the orders of the Comptroller, Post Office, notice in writing will be sent to the depositor, requiring him to present his Pass-book and receive payment of his balance at his credit as soon as convenient. After the date of such notice, no deposit will be accepted on the account so closed, and no interest will be allowed upon the balance after the end of the calendar month preceding such date.

* NOTE.—Except in the case of certain selected Sub-Offices which are authorised to grant Warrant of Payments.

RE-OPENING AN ACCOUNT.

33. A depositor who has once closed an account cannot open another account until after the expiration of three months from the date of closure, without the permission of the Comptroller, Post Office; and a depositor whose account has been closed by order cannot open a fresh account in any case without the permission of the Comptroller, Post Office.

POWERS OF POSTMASTER GENERAL IN CERTAIN SPECIAL CASES.

34. If a depositor should die, leaving in a Post Office Savings Bank a sum of money not exceeding one thousand rupees, and if probate of his will or letter of administration of his estate, or a certificate granted under Act No. XXVII of 1860 be not produced to the Postmaster General within three months of the death of the said depositor, the Postmaster General may pay the said sum of money to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it, or to administer the estate of the deceased.

Balances in excess of ₹1,000 may be paid on production of probate, letters of administration or a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860 unless otherwise ordered by the Director General of the Post Office who has discretionary power to dispense with such evidence in cases where he is of opinion that to require it would cause hardship and that to dispense with it would involve no appreciable risk.

35. If any depositor become insane, or otherwise incapable of managing his affairs, and if such insanity or incapacity be proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, then the Postmaster General may, from time to time, make payment out of the deposits to any proper person.

PURCHASE, SALE, AND CUSTODY OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

Purchase of Government Securities.

36. Any bonâ fide depositor may invest the amount of his balance or a portion of it in Government Securities through the Post Office. Any such depositor may also purchase through the Post Office Government Securities not exceeding in nominal value ₹1,000 in one year and ₹3,000 in all by tendering in cash the amount necessary to complete the purchase. A written application should be presented together with his Pass-book by a depositor desiring to make an investment under this rule. The application will be forwarded to the Comptroller, Post Office, who will take the necessary steps for making the purchase through the Comptroller General.

(a) The paper purchased will be of the 4 per cent. loans, unless 4½ per cent. paper is specially applied for.

(b) The investor may also specially apply that the paper remain in the custody of the Comptroller General. In this case the Comptroller General will, if necessary, transfer the paper to the 4 per cent. loan of 1865. The investor may at any time apply through the local Post Office for the delivery to him of paper thus held by the Comptroller General. If application is not made under this clause, the paper purchased by the Comptroller General will be enfaced for payment of interest at the local Treasury and forwarded to the Post Office for delivery to the investor.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

37. Any depositor may apply for the sale through the Post Office of Government Securities which have been purchased for him through the Post Office whether held by himself or held for him by the Comptroller General. If the securities are presented with the application, they must be endorsed in favour of the Comptroller General.

SAFE CUSTODY OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

38. A depositor may tender at a Post Office Savings Bank Government Securities for safe custody by the Comptroller General. The amount so tendered must not exceed in nominal value ₹1,000 in any year or ₹3,000 in all. The securities so tendered must be endorsed to the Comptroller General.

INTEREST ON GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

39. So long as the Government Securities remain in the custody of the Comptroller General, interest, when due, will be drawn and advised to the local Post Office Savings Bank through the Comptroller, Post Office, for credit to the depositor's account.

FEES.

40. The following fees will be charged :—

On purchase : 4 annas per cent.

On realization and remittance of interest : 4 annas per cent. on the amount of the interest.

On delivery out of custody : 4 annas per cent., unless the application for delivery is made within a year of the purchase.

On sales : 4 annas per cent., and any actual outlay upon brokerage.

From Assistant Secretary to Chief Commissioner Central Provinces, No. 2445—118, dated 30th June, 1885 [Paper No. 18].

2. We have, on the advice of a leading member of the Parsi community at Bombay, proposed to extend to the scattered Parsi communities resident beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court at Bombay the same provisions for the more effectual registration of marriages as were proposed by the Bill to be conferred on the classes to whom Act III of 1872 and the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, apply.

3. By section 11, sub-section (2), we propose to enable Local Governments, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to extend the operation of the chapter respecting the registration of births and deaths to any classes of the community which may be desirous of taking advantage of the provisions of that chapter.

4. By sections 12 and 13 we have proposed to enable Local Governments in British India, and the Governor General in Council in States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, to appoint Registrars of Births and Deaths for classes of persons as well as for local areas. It will thus be practicable to appoint ministers of religion to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for their own congregations only, without imposing on them duties for which they might have neither leisure nor inclination.

5. In section 14 we have provided that every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall be deemed to be a public servant. This provision appears to us to render it unnecessary to retain section 24 of the Bill as introduced.

6. By section 19 we have provided that if a Registrar of Births and Deaths has reason to believe any notice given to him to be in any respect false he may refuse to register the birth or death until he receives an order from the District Court directing him to make the entry and prescribing the manner in which the entry is to be made.

In the same section and in section 22, sub-section (3), we have reproduced the provisions of section 7 of the Statute 37 & 38 Vic., cap. 88.

7. In sections 20 and 21 we have classified, in a modified form, the persons authorised to give notices of births and deaths.

8. We have provided in section 24 that clergymen who may become Registrars of Births and Deaths shall send certified copies of the entries in their registers direct to the Registrar General unless they are required by their ecclesiastical superiors to transmit the copies through them.

9. By section 26 we have proposed to empower the Governor General in Council to make rules authorising Registrars of Births and Deaths, on conditions and in circumstances to be specified in the rules, to register births and deaths occurring outside the local areas or classes for which they have been appointed. Events occurring in the course of journeys, or in places for which Registrars of Births and Deaths have not been appointed, may by those rules be made registrable.

10. We have made fine an alternative punishment for the offence made punishable under section 27.

11. To section 36 we have added a clause enabling the Governor General in Council to make rules as to the custody of registers and records sent to the Registrar General under section 32.

12. The other amendments of the Bill are unimportant and do not call for special remark.

13. In regard to the argument which has been urged in some of the papers before us that the existing registers of certain religious bodies are admissible in evidence, we are informed that the legal value of those registers has been questioned by high authority, on the ground that they are not maintained under any special injunction of law, or in the ordinary course of business, within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

14. As regards the working of the proposed Act we understand that existing machinery will, so far as possible, be utilised, and that expenses will be defrayed from fees payable under the Act.

15. Other objections taken to the Bill are (a) that some Registrars may object to the provisions of section 16, sub-section (2), and (b) that difficulties may result from the requirement of section 22, sub-section (1), that the person giving notice of a birth or death must sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar. As regards the first of these objections we observe that section 16, sub-section (2), will not apply to all Registrars, but only to those to whom the Local Government applies the sub-section. As regards the second objection the risk of difficulties arising may be diminished, if not removed, by provision being made, in the rules under clause (c) of section 36, for an enlargement under certain circumstances of the time within which notices may be given of births and deaths.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th February, 1886:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Indian Registration Act, 1877, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted on the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

From Chief Secretary to Government, Bengal, No. 273 P., dated 23rd January, 1886, and enclosures [Papers No. 16].

2. The Bill as introduced has been approved by the authorities to whose criticism it was submitted. Some suggestions for the further amendment of the Act have been made; but, as the revision of the law relating to registration is understood to be under the consideration of the Government of India, we have deemed it advisable not to deal with them generally in this Bill. On one suggestion, however, we have deemed it necessary to act at once. It was that the law should declare receipts for payments of mortgage-money to be optionally, and not compulsorily, registrable. In connection with this suggestion we have considered the case reported at I. L. R. 6 All. 335, and the cases there cited, and the replies of Local Governments and High Courts to a letter addressed to them by the Government of India on the subject of those cases. The authorities to whom the letter was addressed are almost unanimously of opinion that, on grounds of convenience, receipts for payment of mortgage-money ought not to be compulsorily registrable. We concur in that opinion, and have added to the Bill a clause (section 4) excepting from the operation of clauses (b) and (c) of section 17 of the Act (i) any endorsement on a mortgage-deed acknowledging the payment of the whole or any part of the mortgage-money, whether the endorsement does or does not purport to extinguish the mortgage, and (ii) any other receipt for payment of money due under a mortgage when the receipt does not purport to extinguish the mortgage. In so framing the clause we have, as regards endorsements, followed the course recommended by the High Court at Bombay, and, as regards other receipts, the general tenor of the opinions expressed by the authorities whom the Government of India has consulted.

3. The amendments which the Bill renders it necessary to make in section 50 of the Act have been made in a separate clause (section 5).

4. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

2. The object of the Bill was, as remarked in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, to correct certain minor defects of the criminal law which had been brought to the notice of the Government of India since the passing of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882. The papers laid before us contain numerous suggestions for other amendments in the Code. We have given our careful attention to these suggestions, but have come to the conclusion that, subject to a very few exceptions, it would not be expedient to act upon them without giving further notice to the public, and, for this reason, we have abstained from dealing with them in the present Bill. Among the sections to which our attention has been thus directed, and the propriety of amending which should, we think, be considered by the legislature on the next suitable opportunity, are section 107 (with advertence to the cases reported at I. L. R. 6 All. 26 and 11 Cal. 737), section 110 (with respect to habitual protectors or harbourers of thieves and habitual aiders in the concealment or disposal of stolen property), section 145 (with advertence to the case reported at I. L. R. 11 Cal. 413), section 9 or section 193 (with respect to the powers of Additional or Joint Sessions Judges), section 239 (with respect to the meaning of the words "in the same transaction"), section 348 (for applying the procedure of section 349 to habitual offenders forwarded to the Court of Session), and section 437 (for the purpose of reconciling the conflicting rulings as to the meaning of the words "further inquiry").

3. We will now notice in consecutive order such sections of the Bill as appear to us to call for remark.

4. Sections 1 and 2.—There are sections of the Indian Penal Code under which transportation for shorter terms than seven years may be awarded, but we are of opinion that any sentence of transportation passed by an Assistant Sessions Judge or District Magistrate should be subject to confirmation by the Sessions Judge.

5. Section 3.—We have added this section at the instance of the Government of Bengal. It appears to us that sections 55 and 56 of the Code should apply to the police in the towns of Calcutta and Bombay as they do to the police in the town of Madras and in the rest of British India.

6. Section 4.—The Chief Presidency Magistrate of Madras has pointed out that there is the same defect in section 514 as in section 88.

7. Section 7.—The practice of submitting final police reports through a superior officer of police depends on circumstances varying from season to season and from province to province and even from district to district, and should, in our opinion, be left to be regulated by the Local Government.

8. Section 9.—We have, on the recommendation of the Madras Government and High Court, amended section 269 of the Code so that, where an accused person is charged at the same trial with several offences of which some are and some are not triable by jury, he shall be tried by jury for such of those offences as are triable by jury, and by the Court of Session, with the aid of the jurors as assessors, for such of them as are not triable by jury.

9. Section 10.—The object of the amendment made by this section is to secure uniformity of practice with respect to the time when imprisonment in default of payment of fine is to be undergone where there are other substantive sentences of imprisonment to be undergone after the execution of the sentence to which the award of imprisonment in default of payment of fine was annexed.

10. Section 11.—There has been some misunderstanding in regard to the proposed amendment of section 401. It was originally proposed to meet a technical difficulty arising out of the case of a prisoner who had become insane after his discharge, and it appears to us that in the case of political offenders it may be useful as enabling the Government to set them at large on the understanding that, if any movement with which they were connected revives, they will, in the interests of the public safety, be re-arrested and detained until either the movement again subsides or they complete their sentences, whichever event may first occur.

11. Section 12.—We have, on the recommendation of the Bombay Government, authorised Local Governments to empower officers in charge of jails to discharge certain functions of the Inspector General of Prisons. It is often impossible for the Inspector General punctually to discharge the functions personally.

12. Section 13.—Difficulty has been caused by the specification in the Code of the rank of the police-officer who may be permitted to conduct a prosecution. Inspectors are officers of different rank in different parts of the country. We have, therefore, left it to Local Governments to prescribe the rank with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, but we have provided that an officer of police shall not be permitted to conduct the prosecution if he has taken any part in the investigation into the offence with respect to which the accused is being prosecuted.

13. Section 16.—A case which has recently occurred in the Bombay Presidency has suggested the introduction into the Code of Criminal Procedure of a section on the lines of section 292 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

14. Section 17.—This section in the Bill has been misunderstood. In Schedule II to the Code of Criminal Procedure as it now stands, the punishment for making a false charge of an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term of seven years appears as imprisonment for two years only, whereas the punishment may under the Indian Penal Code be imprisonment extending to seven years.

15. Section 21.—The object of this section is to make the provisions of section 67 of the Indian Penal Code applicable to all fines imposed under any law, and to make it clear that section 64 applies to offences punishable with imprisonment or fine as well as to offences punishable with both imprisonment and fine.

16. Section 22.—We agree with the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the High Court at Madras and the other authorities who have directed attention to section 75 of the Indian Penal Code, in considering that the alternative penalties prescribed by the section must often be either inadequate or excessive, and that a wider discretion should be given to the Courts. We have provided therefore that on repeated conviction of an offence punishable under Chapter XII or Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code the offender shall be subject to transportation for life or, in the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding ten years.

17. Section 23.—At present there is no provision of law for the punishment of a person who, knowing that a warrant has been issued by a Magistrate for the apprehension of a foreign subject under the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879, harbours that subject. The inconvenience resulting from the absence of such a provision has been pointed out by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and ought in our opinion to be removed.

18. Section 24.—We have added a section suggested by the case reported at I. L. R. 12 Cal. 190.

19. Section 25.—We have proposed to re-enact in an amended form the whole of the three sections of the Prisoners' Act, 1871, relating to the removal of prisoners, instead of merely patching the existing sections.

(3) "road-authority", in relation to a road, means—

(b) by any person with the consent of the local authority of the circle, and of the road-authority of any road or part of a road which is to be traversed by the tramway and of which the local authority is not the road-authority:

5. When it is proposed to lay a tramway in two or more circles, and a local authority or road-authority having control in either or any of the circles does not consent thereto, or attaches conditions to its consent, the Local Government may, nevertheless, make an order authorising the construction of the tramway in the circle, or by the order impose on the promoter any conditions which it deems fit, if, after considering the reasons of the authority for withholding its consent or attaching the conditions thereto, it is satisfied that the construction of the tramway in the circle is expedient, or, as the case may be, that the conditions attached by the authority to its consent ought not to be imposed.

Procedure for making order.

6. (1) The Local Government on receiving an application shall consider it, and, if satisfied as to the propriety of proceeding thereon, publish in the official Gazette, and in such other manner as it deems sufficient for giving information to persons interested, a draft of a proposed order authorising the construction of the tramway.

(3) If, after considering any objections or suggestions which may have been made with respect to the draft on or before the date so specified, the Local Government is of opinion that the application should be granted, with or without addition or modification, or subject or not to any restriction or condition, it may make an order accordingly.

(4) Every order authorising the construction of a tramway shall be published in the official Gazette in English, and in the other prescribed language or languages, if any; and that publication shall be conclusive proof that the order has been made as required by this section.

(ii) as to so much of the tramway as is then completed, the Local Government may either permit, or refuse to permit, the powers given by the order to continue;

(iii) if the Local Government refuses to permit the powers to continue, then so much of the tramway as is then completed may be dealt with, under the provisions of this Act relating to the discontinuance of tramways, as a tramway of the working whereof the discontinuance has been proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government.

(2) A notification published by the Local Government in the official Gazette to the effect that on a date specified in the notification the construction of a tramway had not been substantially commenced or a tramway had not been completed and opened for public traffic, or that the construction of a tramway had been suspended without sufficient reason, shall, for the purposes of this section, be conclusive proof of the matter stated therein.

Construction and Maintenance of Tramways.

11. A tramway shall be constructed and maintained in the manner provided by the order.

13. Subject to the provisions of any order for the time being in force with respect to the matters mentioned in section 7, sub-section (2), clause (g), the road-authority and the promoter may from time to time enter into agreements as to the keeping in repair of the whole or a part of a road traversed by a tramway, and as to the proportion to be paid by either of them of the expense of keeping the road or part in repair.

Traffic on Tramways.

Rights of promoters and the public over tramways.

14. (1) The promoter of a tramway shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) and to the other provisions of this Act and of the order, have the exclusive use of the tramway for carriages with flange-wheels or other wheels suitable to run on the rail described in the order as the rail to be used on the tramway:

Provided that nothing in this Act or in the order or any rule made under this Act shall affect the right of any person authorised to use a tramway or railway to pass across a tramway constructed under this Act with carriages having wheels suitable to run on the rail thereof.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Traffic on Tramways.—Licenses to use Tramways.—Secs. 15-18.)

(2) The public shall have a right to pass along or across any part of a road along or across which a tramway is constructed, whether on or off the tramway, with carriages not having flange-wheels or other wheels suitable to run on the rail of the tramway: Provided—

(a) that this sub-section shall not apply where the tramway is constructed on land the right to the exclusive possession of which has been acquired by the promoter; and

(b) that the Local Government may by an order authorise the construction of a tramway on any part of a road with rails raised above the surface of the road, if it is satisfied that the convenience of the public will not be injuriously affected thereby.

Tolls leviable by promoter or lessee.

15. (1) The promoter or lessee may demand and take, in respect of the tramway, tolls not exceeding the limits specified in or determinable under the order, or, if the order contains no provision in this behalf, then such sums as may from time to time be fixed by the promoter or lessee with the previous sanction of the Local Government.

(2) A list of all the tolls authorised to be levied shall be exhibited, in such languages as the District Magistrate may direct, in a conspicuous place inside and outside each of the carriages used upon the tramway.

Carriage of dangerous or offensive goods.

16. (1) A person shall not be entitled to carry or to require to be carried, on a tramway constructed under this Act, any goods of a dangerous or offensive nature.

(2) A person taking such goods with him on the tramway shall, before entering the carriage, give notice of their nature to the servant of the promoter or lessee in charge of the carriage.

(3) A person sending such goods by the tramway shall distinctly mark their nature on the outside of the package containing them, or otherwise give notice thereof in writing to the servant of the promoter or lessee with whom he leaves them for the purpose of their being sent by the tramway.

(4) Any servant of the promoter or lessee may refuse to carry upon the tramway a parcel which he suspects to contain goods of a dangerous or offensive nature, and, if any such parcel has been received for the purpose of being carried upon the tramway, may stop the transit thereof until he is satisfied as to the nature of its contents.

(5) Where a servant of the promoter or lessee refuses under sub-section (4) to carry a parcel which has been received for the purpose of being carried upon the tramway, he shall, as soon as may be, give notice of his refusal to the consignor or consignee if he refuses at a time when neither of them is present.

Licenses to use Tramways.

Grant to third parties of licenses to use tramway in certain events.

17. If, at any time after a tramway or part of a tramway has been for three years opened for public traffic in a circle, the local authority of the circle represents in writing to the Local Government that the public is deprived of the full benefit of the tramway or of the part thereof, the Local Government may, if after considering any statement which the promoter or lessee or both may desire to make, and after such further enquiry as it deems necessary, it is satisfied as to the truth of the representation, grant a license to any person to use the tramway conformably to this Act and to the order and the rules made under this Act, subject to the following provisions, namely:—

(a) the license shall be for a period not less than one year or more than three years from the date of the license, but the Local Government may in its discretion renew it;

(b) the license shall be to use the whole of the tramway for the time being opened for public traffic, or such part or parts of the tramway as the Local Government, having regard to the cause for granting the license, thinks fit;

(c) the license shall specify the number of carriages which the licensee shall run upon the tramway, the mode in which, and times at which, the carriages shall be run, the tolls to be paid to the promoter or lessee by the licensee for the use of the tramway, and the tolls, being those for the time being leviable by the promoter or lessee, which the licensee may demand and take for the use of his carriages;

(d) the licensee and his officers and servants shall permit one person, duly authorised for that purpose by the promoter or lessee, to travel free of toll in or upon each carriage of the licensee run upon the tramway for the whole or any part of a journey;

(e) any provision of this Act, or of the order or rules made under this Act, relating to the functions of a servant of a promoter or lessee shall be construed, so far as may be, as referring to a servant of the licensee; and

(f) the Local Government may revoke, alter or modify the license for any cause sufficient in its opinion to warrant the revocation, alteration or modification thereof.

Licensee to give to promoter or lessee an account of traffic.

18. A licensee shall, on demand, give to an officer or servant authorised in that behalf by the promoter or lessee an exact account in writing, signed by the licensee, of the number of passengers, or number or quantity of goods, conveyed by any and every carriage used by him on the tramway.

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(Discontinuance of Tramways.—Insolvency of Promoter.—Sections 19-21)
(Purchase of Tramways.—Section 22.)

Discontinuance of Tramways.

Cessation of powers of promoter and lessee on discontinuance of tramway.

19. If it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the opening of a tramway for public traffic, that the working of the tramway, or any part thereof, has been practically discontinued, for the space of three months, without a reason sufficient, in the opinion of the Local Government, to warrant the discontinuance, the Local Government, if it thinks fit, may, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that the powers of the promoter and of the lessee, if any, in respect of the tramway or the part thereof of which the working has been so discontinued, shall, from the date of the notification, be at an end; and thereupon the said powers shall cease and determine, except in so far as they may be purchased by a local authority in manner by this Act provided.

Powers of road-authority on cessation of powers of promoter.

20. (1) Where a notification has been published under section 19, the road-authority may, at any time after the expiration of two months from the date of the notification, remove the tramway or part of the tramway of which the working has been so discontinued, and use the materials thereof in re-instating the road.

(2) The promoter shall pay to the road-authority the cost incurred by that authority in removing the tramway or the part thereof and in re-instating the road.

(3) The cost shall be certified by an officer of the road-authority, and his certificate, countersigned by the District Magistrate, shall be conclusive proof as to the cost incurred.

(4) If the promoter does not pay the amount so certified within one month after the delivery to him of the certificate or of a copy thereof, the road-authority may, without any previous notice to the promoter and without prejudice to any other remedy which it may have for the recovery of the amount, sell and dispose of such materials of the tramway or part thereof removed as it has not used in re-instating the road, either by public auction or by private sale, and for such sum or sums, and to such person or persons, as it thinks fit, and may, out of the proceeds of the sale, pay and reimburse itself the amount of the cost aforesaid and of the expenses of the sale, and shall pay over the residue (if any) of the proceeds of the sale to the promoter.

Insolvency of Promoter.

Proceedings in case of insolvency of promoter.

21. (1) If, at any time after the opening of a tramway in a circle for public traffic, it appears to the road-authority or local authority of the circle that the promoter of the tramway is insolvent, so that he is unable to maintain the tramway, or to work it with advantage to the public, and either of those authorities makes a representation to that effect to the Local Government, the Local Government may, if after considering any statement which the promoter may desire to make, and after such further enquiry as it deems necessary, it is satisfied as to the truth of the representation, declare, by notification in the official Gazette, that the powers of the promoter shall, at the expiration of six months from the publication of the notification, be at an end; and the powers of the promoter shall cease and determine at the expiration of that period, except in so far as they may be purchased by a local authority in manner by this Act provided.

(2) Where a notification has been published under sub-section (1), the road-authority may, at any time after the expiration of six months from the date thereof, remove the tramway in the same manner, and subject to the same provisions as to the payment of the cost of the removal and to the same remedy for recovery of the cost, in every respect as in cases of removal under section 20.

Purchase of Tramways.

Future purchase of undertaking by local authority.

22. (1) Where the promoter of a tramway in a circle is not the local authority, the local authority, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, may—

(a) within such limits of time as may be specified in this behalf in the order, or

(b) if a time was not specified in the order, then within six months after the expiration of a period of twenty-one years from the date of the order, and within six months after the expiration of every subsequent period of seven years, or

(c) within two months after the publication of a notification under section 19 or within six months after the publication of a notification under section 21,

(5) If the local authority cannot by means of a lease obtain what it deems to be a fair rent for the tramway, it may itself, with the previous sanction of the Local Government and for such term as the Local Government directs, place and run carriages upon the tramway, and demand and take the authorised tolls in respect of the use of the carriages.

(2) Where the difference is—

(a) between the promoter or lessee on the one hand and the Local Government, either as such or as the road-authority, on the other, or

(b) between the promoter on the one hand and the local authority on the other, with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking or part of an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22,

The Indian Tramways Act, 1886.

(5) In other cases the referee shall be appointed by the Local Government.

(4) Except where the referee is the District Court, the powers and procedure of the referee may be prescribed.

(5) In the case of a difference between a promoter on the one hand and a local authority on the other, with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking or part of an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the award of the referee as from an original decree of the District Court.

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorise the arrest of the promoter or lessee or his surety in execution of any process issued by the Collector.

Recovery of tolls from licensees.

37. (1) If a licensee fails to pay on demand the tolls due for the use of a tramway, the promoter or lessee to whom the tolls are due may, without prejudice to the remedy which he may have by suit, apply to a Magistrate to recover the amount of the tolls, and the Magistrate may, after giving notice to the licensee if possible and allowing him an opportunity of being heard, proceed to recover the amount by distress and sale of any carriages or other moveable property of the licensee which may be found on the tramway or on premises connected therewith.

(2) When a licensee has failed to pay on demand the tolls due from him, the promoter or lessee to whom the tolls are due may seize any carriage or other moveable property of the licensee on the tramway or on premises connected therewith, and detain the same for forty-eight hours unless the tolls are sooner paid.

(2) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, fix rates at which a promoter, lessee or licensee may compound for the charges payable in respect of the use of a road or bridge.

Saving of power over roads traversed by tramways.

40. (1) Nothing in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, shall take away or abridge any power which a road-authority, local-authority or other person has by law to break up, widen, alter, divert or improve a road, railroad or tramway along or across which a tramway is laid.

(2) The road-authority, local authority or other person executing any work referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be liable to pay to a promoter, lessee or licensee any compensation for injury done to a tramway by the execution of the work or for loss of traffic occasioned by the reasonable use of any power lawfully exercised for the execution thereof.

Saving of power of local authority and police to regulate traffic on roads.

41. Nothing in this Act, or in an order or any rule made under this Act, shall affect the powers of a local authority or of a Magistrate or police-officer to regulate the passage of traffic along or across a road along or across which a tramway is laid; and the authority, Magistrate or officer aforesaid may exercise its or his powers as well on as off the tramway and with respect as well to the traffic

44. When a tramway is constructed under this Act within the limits of a municipality, the Local Government may exempt the animals, plant, rolling-stock, yards, workshops, engine-sheds and depôts of the promoter, lessee or licensee, for such period as it thinks fit, from all or any municipal taxes leviable within those limits.

(2) The fund shall also be applicable, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, to a guarantee of the payment of interest on money to be applied, with the concurrence in writing of the local authority, within the limits of the local area under its control, to any of the purposes to which the fund might be applied by the local authority under sub-section (1).

2. The object of the proviso to section 4, sub-section (1), of the Bill does not appear to have been understood. In the case of lines extending beyond municipal limits, it is often difficult to say whether the line ought to be treated as a tramway or as a light railway, and the object of the proviso is to give the Government of India an opportunity of determining, with reference to particular cases or classes of cases, to which of the two categories such lines ought to be treated as belonging.

3. By section 5 we have empowered the Local Government to modify conditions sought to be imposed by a local authority with respect to the construction within its circle of part of a tramway which is to be laid in two or more circles.

4. In sections 17 and 21 we have provided for an opportunity being given to the promoter to state his case before the Local Government either grants licenses under the former section or determines the powers of the promoter under the latter section.

5. By clauses (g) and (h) of sub-section (1) of section 24 we have enabled the Local Government to make rules as to the periodical submission of statistics relating to tramways, and as to the accidents of which report is to be made.

6. By clause (e) of sub-section (2) of the same section we have empowered local authorities to make rules as to the manner in which carriages using the tramway after sunset and before sunrise are to be lighted.

7. By section 27 we have made the previous sanction of the District Magistrate a condition precedent to the institution by a private person of criminal proceedings against a promoter, lessee or licensee for breach of any provision of the Act or of any direction of an order authorizing the construction of a tramway.

8. By section 35 we have provided that, except where the parties to a difference elect to proceed under section 523 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the matter in difference between them shall be settled, on the application of either party, by a referee, and that, where the difference is between the promoter on the one hand and the local authority on the other with respect to the sum to be paid by the local authority for an undertaking which that authority has required the promoter to sell under section 22, the referee shall be the District Court. We have also provided that, in that case, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the award of the District Court.

9. To section 45 we have added a sub-section supplementary to Act XV of 1885 (an Act to amend the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1879).

10. By section 47 of the Bill we have proposed that, in places to which the Act extends, tramways of which the construction has not been authorised before the passing of the Act shall not be constructed, after the passing of the Act, otherwise than in pursuance of an order made under the Act.

11. By section 48 we have made provision for cases in which a local area comprising a tramway is excluded from the circle of one local authority and included in that of another.

12. By section 49 we have proposed so to amend section 54 of the Indian Railway Act, 1879, as to enable the Governor General in Council to apply that Act or any portion thereof to a tramway worked by any mechanical power.

13. The other amendments of the Bill are few and unimportant, and do not call for special notice.

THE SCHEDULE.

An Act to regulate the importation, possession and transport of Petroleum and other fluids of a like nature.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the importation, possession and transport of petroleum and other fluids of a like nature; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title, commencement and local extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Petroleum Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force on such day as the Governor General in Council, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoints.

(3) The provisions of this Act relating to dangerous petroleum, and the importation of petroleum, extend to the whole of British India. The rest of this Act extends only to such local areas as the Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, direct.

(4) Any power conferred by this Act to make rules or issue orders may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a rule or order so made or issued shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the day on which this Act comes into force, the Petroleum Act, 1881, shall be repealed: VIII of 1881.

(2) But all notifications issued, rules made, licenses granted, powers conferred and certificates given under that Act shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been issued, made, granted, conferred and given under this Act.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "petroleum" includes also the liquids commonly known by the names of rock oil, Rangoon oil, Burma oil, kerosine, paraffine oil, mineral oil, petroline, gasoline, benzol, benzoline, benzine, and any inflammable liquid which is made from petroleum, coal, schist, shale, peat or any other bituminous substance, or from any products of petroleum; but it does not include any oil ordinarily used for lubricating purposes and having its flashing point at or above two hundred degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer:

(2) "dangerous petroleum" means petroleum having its flashing point below seventy-six degrees

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(Dangerous Petroleum.—Sections 4-8.)

of Fahrenheit's thermometer: Provided that, when all or any of the petroleum on board a ship, or in the possession of a dealer, is declared by the master of the ship or the consignee of the cargo, or by the dealer, as the case may be, to be of one uniform quality, the petroleum shall not be deemed to be dangerous if the samples selected from the petroleum have their flashing points, on an average, at or above seventy-three degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, and if no one of those samples has its flashing point below seventy degrees of that thermometer:

(3) "import" means to bring into British India by sea or land, and "importation" means the bringing into British India as aforesaid:

(4) "transport" means to remove from one place to another within British India: and

(5) "ship" includes anything made for the conveyance by water of human beings or property.

Matters supplemental to the definitions.

4. (1) The flashing point of petroleum means the lowest temperature at which the petroleum yields a vapour which will furnish a momentary flash or flame when tested in accordance with the directions in the schedule to this Act with an apparatus which has been stamped and certified as provided by this Act within a period of five years immediately preceding the date on which the apparatus is used for the testing, and after the corrections (if any) which the certificate declares are to be applied to the results of the testing have been made.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in the definitions of "import", "importation" and "transport", the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare—

(a) that petroleum imported into its territories from any part of British India, by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India, shall, for all or any of the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be transported; and

(b) that petroleum transported into its territories from any place in British India shall, for all or any of those purposes, be deemed to be imported; and thereupon the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made under this Act, with respect to transport and import, respectively, shall apply to petroleum so imported or transported.

Dangerous Petroleum.

Dangerous petroleum in quantities exceeding forty gallons.

5. (1) No quantity of dangerous petroleum exceeding forty gallons shall be imported or transported, or kept by any one person or on the same premises, except under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a license from the Local Government granted as next hereinafter provided.

(2) Every application for such a license shall be in writing, and shall declare—

(a) the quantity of the petroleum which it is desired to import, transport or possess, as the case may be;

(b) the purpose for which the applicant believes that the petroleum will be used; and

(c) that petroleum other than dangerous petroleum cannot be used for that purpose.

(3) If the Local Government sees reason to believe that the petroleum will be used for that purpose, and that no petroleum other than dangerous petroleum can be used for the purpose, it may grant the license for the importation, transport or possession (as the case may be) of the petroleum, absolutely or subject to such conditions as it thinks fit.

Dangerous petroleum in quantities not exceeding forty gallons.

6. No quantity of dangerous petroleum equal to or less than forty gallons shall be kept or transported without a license:

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply in any case when the quantity of the petroleum kept by any one person or on the same premises, or transported, does not exceed three gallons, and the petroleum is placed in separate glass, stoneware or metal vessels, each of which contains not more than a pint and is securely stopped.

Vessels containing dangerous petroleum to be labelled.

7. Dangerous petroleum—

(a) which is kept at any place after seven days from the date on which it is imported, or

(b) which is transported, or

(c) which is sold or exposed for sale, shall be contained in vessels having attached thereto a label in conspicuous characters stating the description of the petroleum, with the addition of the words "highly inflammable" and with the addition—

(d) in the case of a vessel kept, of the name and address of the consignee or owner;

(e) in the case of a vessel transported, of the name and address of the sender; and

(f) in the case of a vessel sold or exposed for sale, of the name and address of the vendor.

Petroleum generally.

Power for Local Government to make rules as to importation and refining of petroleum.

8. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may make rules consistent with this Act to regulate the importation of petroleum, and in particular—

(a) to determine the ports at which only petroleum may be imported;

(b) to ascertain the quantity and description of any petroleum on board any ship;

(c) to determine the places at which, and the conditions on and subject to which petroleum may be discharged into boats, landed, transhipped or stored;

(d) to provide for the selection by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and for the delivery to him, either after or before petroleum has been landed, of samples of all petroleum landed or intended to be landed;

(e) to provide, in the case of each consignment which is stated to be of one uniform quality, for the number of samples to be selected, and for the averaging of the results of the testing of those samples;

(f) to provide, where the results of the testing of the samples raise a doubt as to the uniformity of the quality of the petroleum in any such consignment, for the division of the consignment into lots, and for the

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(Petroleum generally.— Sections 9-11.)

selection and testing of samples of each lot, and for the treatment of the lot in accordance with the results of the testing of those samples;

(g) to fix fees for the sampling and testing of petroleum; and

(h) to fix fees for the storage of petroleum unless a body of port commissioners or other like body is empowered in that behalf.

(2) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, with respect to any petroleum produced within its territories, make rules—

(a) to define the limits of the places where the petroleum is to be refined;

(b) to provide for the testing of the petroleum at or near those places; and

(c) to prevent the removal from those limits, otherwise than under the provisions of this Act applicable to dangerous petroleum, of petroleum which has not satisfied the tests prescribed by the rules.

Procedure after petroleum has been discharged or landed.

9. (1) Petroleum discharged into boats or landed in accordance with rules made under section 8, sub-section (1), shall not be removed from the boats or places in or at which it is stored until the samples selected therefrom in accordance with those rules have been tested by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf in the manner described in the schedule to this Act with an apparatus which has been stamped and certified as provided by this Act, and until the officer has given a certificate that the petroleum is not dangerous petroleum.

(2) If the officer after testing the samples refuses to give the certificate in respect of any petroleum, the Local Government may permit the consignee, within a time to be fixed by the Local Government in this behalf,—

(a) to rectify the petroleum,

(b) to apply for a license to import the petroleum as dangerous petroleum, or

(c) to re-export the petroleum.

(3) If the consignee does not within the time fixed under sub-section (2) avail himself of the permission granted under that sub section, the petroleum may be disposed of as the Local Government directs.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing portions of this section, the Local Government in its discretion may, where the officer has refused the certificate, direct that the petroleum be re-tested by another officer appointed by it in this behalf, and may, if that officer advises that the petroleum is not dangerous petroleum, authorise its removal from the boats or places in or at which it is stored.

Possession and transport of petroleum.

10. No quantity of petroleum exceeding five hundred gallons shall be kept by any one person or on the same premises or shall be transported except under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a license granted under this Act.

Power to make rules as to possession and transport.

11. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may make rules consistent with this Act as to the granting of licenses to possess or transport petroleum in cases where such licenses are by law required.

(2) The rules may provide for the following among other matters, that is to say:—

in the case of licenses to possess petroleum—

(a) the nature and situation of the premises for which they may be granted, and in the case of licenses to transport petroleum—

(b) the inspection of the premises and the testing of petroleum found thereon;

(c) the manner in which the petroleum is to be packed, the mode and time of transit, and the route by which it is to be taken, and in the case of both such licenses—

(d) the stoppage and inspection of it during transit;

(e) the authority by which the license may be granted;

(f) the fee to be charged for it;

(g) the quantity of petroleum it is to cover;

(h) the conditions which may be inserted in it;

(i) the time during which it is to continue in force; and

(j) the renewal of the license.

(3) The Governor General in Council may make rules consistent with this Act as to the granting of licenses to transport petroleum from any part of British India to any other part of British India in cases where such licenses are by law required; and those rules may provide, among other matters, for those mentioned in sub-section (2) as matters for which rules made by a Local Government with respect to licenses to transport petroleum may provide.

Power to inspect and require dealer to sell samples.

12. Any officer specially authorized by name or by virtue of his office in this behalf by the Local Government may require any dealer in petroleum to show him any place and any of the vessels in which any petroleum in his possession is stored or contained, to give him such assistance as he may require for examining the same, and to deliver to him samples of the petroleum on payment of the value of the samples.

Notice to be given when officer proposes to test samples.

13. When any such officer has, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 12, or by purchase, obtained a sample of petroleum in the possession of a dealer, he may give a notice in writing to the dealer informing him that he is about to test the sample or cause it to be tested with the apparatus and in the manner described in the schedule to this Act, at a time and place to be fixed in the notice, and that the dealer or his agent may be present at the testing.

Certificate as to result of testing.

14. On any such testing, if it appears to the officer or other person so testing that the petroleum from which the sample has been taken is or is not dangerous petroleum, the officer or other person may certify the fact; and the certificate so given shall be receivable as evidence in any proceedings which may be taken under this Act against the dealer in whose possession the petroleum was found, and shall, until the contrary is proved, be evidence of the fact stated therein; and a certified copy of the certificate shall be given free of charge to the dealer at his request.

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

THE SCHEDULE.

I.—Nature of the Test-apparatus.

The apparatus consists of the following parts:—

(1) the oil-cup;

(2) the cover, with slide, test-lamp, and clockwork arrangement for opening and closing the holes in the cover and for dipping the test-flame;

(3) the water-bath or heating vessel;

(4) the tripod stand, with jacket and spirit-lamp for heating the water-bath;

(5) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil in the oil-cup;

(6) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the water in the water-bath;

(7) the thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil before it is poured into the oil-cup;

(8) the dropping bottle or pipette for replenishing the test-lamp; and

(9) a barometer standardised at the Meteorological Office of the province or at any other place appointed by the Local Government.

The oil-cup is a cylindrical flat-bottomed vessel, made of gun-metal or brass, and tinned or silvered inside. A gauge is fixed to the inside of the cup to regulate the height to which it is to be filled with the sample under examination.

The cup is provided with a close fitting overlapping cover, which carries the thermometer, the test-lamp and the adjuncts thereto. The test-lamp is suspended upon two supports by means of trunnions, which allow it to be easily inclined to a particular angle and restored to its original position. The socket in the cover, which is to hold a round bulb thermometer for indicating the temperature of the oil during the testing operation, is so adjusted that the bulb of the latter is always inserted in a definite position below the surface of the liquid.

The cover is provided with three holes, one in the centre and two smaller ones close to the sides. These are closed and opened by means of a pivoted slide. When the slide is moved so as to uncover the holes, the suspended lamp is caught by a projection fixed on the slide, and tilted in such a way as to bring the end of the spout just below the surface of the lid. As the slide moves back so as to cover the holes, the lamp returns to its original position. Upon the cover, in front of and in a line with the nozzle of the lamp, is fixed a white bead, the diameter of which represents the size of the test-flame to be used.

The water-bath or heating vessel is so constructed that, when the oil-cup is placed in position in it, an air-space or air-chamber intervenes between the two; consequently, in applying the test under ordinary circumstances, the heat is transmitted gradually to the oil from the hot water through the air-space. The water-bath is fitted with a socket for receiving a long bulb thermometer, to indicate the temperature of the water. It is also provided with a funnel, an overflow-pipe and two handles.

The water-bath rests upon a tripod stand, which is fitted with a copper cylinder or jacket, so that the bath is surrounded by an enclosed air-space, which retains and regulates the heat. One of the legs of the stand serves as a support for a spirit-lamp, which is attached to it by a small swing bracket.

The clockwork arrangement, by which during the operation of testing the slide is withdrawn, and the test-flame dipped into the cup and raised again as the slide is replaced, is provided with a ratchet key for setting it in action for each test, and with a trigger for starting it each time that the test-flame is applied.

II.—Directions for drawing the Sample and preparing it for Testing.

1. Drawing the sample.—In all cases the testing officer or some person duly authorised by him shall personally superintend the drawing of the sample from an original unopened tin or other vessel.

An opening sufficiently large to admit of the oil being rapidly poured or syphoned from the tin or other vessel shall be made.

Two bottles, each of the capacity of about 40 fluid ounces, are to be filled with the oil. One of these, the contents of which is intended to be preserved for reference in case of need, is to be carefully corked, the cork being well driven home,

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(The Schedule.)

cut off level with the neck, and melted sealing-wax worked into it. The other bottle may be either stoppered or corked.

2. Preparing the sample for testing.—About ten fluid ounces of the oil, sufficient for three tests, are transferred from the bottle into which the sample has been drawn to a pint flask or bottle, which is to be immersed in water artificially cooled until a thermometer, introduced into the oil, indicates a temperature not exceeding 50° Fahrenheit.

III.—Directions for preparing and using the Test-apparatus.

1. Preparing the water-bath.—The water-bath is filled by pouring water into the funnel until it begins to flow out at the overflow-pipe. The temperature of the water at the commencement of each test, as indicated by the long bulb thermometer, is to be 130° Fahrenheit, and this is attained in the first instance by mixing hot and cold water, either in the bath or in a vessel from which the bath is filled, until the thermometer which is provided for testing the temperature of the water gives the proper indication; or the water is heated by means of the spirit-lamp (which is attached to the stand of the apparatus) until the required temperature is indicated.

2. Preparing the test-lamp.—The test-lamp is fitted with a piece of cylindrical wick of such thickness that it fills the wick-holder, but may readily be moved to and fro for the purpose of adjusting the size of the flame. In the body of the lamp, upon the wick, which is coiled within it, is placed a small tuft of cotton wool, moistened with petroleum, any oil not absorbed by the wool being removed. When the lamp has been lighted, the wick is adjusted by means of a pair of forceps until the flame is of the size of the bead fixed on the cover of the oil-cup; should a particular test occupy so long a time that the flame begins to get smaller, through the supply of oil in the lamp becoming exhausted, three or four drops of petroleum are allowed to fall upon the tuft of wool in the lamp from the dropping bottle or pipette provided for that purpose. This can be safely done without interrupting the test.

3. Filling the oil-cup.—The oil-cup having been previously cooled, by placing it bottom downwards in water at a temperature not exceeding 50° Fahrenheit, is to be rapidly wiped dry, placed on a level surface in a good light, and the oil to be tested is poured in very slowly, without splashing, until its surface is level with the point of the gauge which is fixed in the cup. The round bulb thermometer is inserted into the lid of the cup, care being taken that the projecting rim of the collar touches the edge of the socket; the test-lamp, prepared as already described, is placed in position, and the cover is then put on to the cup and pressed down so that its edge rests on the rim of the cup.

4. Application of the test.—The water-bath, with its thermometer in position, is placed in some locality where it is not exposed to currents of air, and where the light is sufficiently subdued to admit of the size of the entire test-flame being compared with that of the bead on the cover. The cup is carefully lifted without shaking it, and placed in the bath, the test-lamp is lighted, and the clockwork wound up by turning the key. The thermometer in the oil-cup is now watched, and when the temperature has reached 56° Fahrenheit the clockwork is set in motion by pressing the trigger.

If no flash takes place the clockwork is at once re-wound, and the trigger pressed at 57° Fahrenheit, and so on, at every degree rise of temperature, until the flash occurs, or until a temperature of 95° Fahrenheit has been reached.

If the flash takes place at any temperature below 77° Fahrenheit the temperature at which it occurs is to be recorded. The fresh portions of the sample are then to be successively tested in a similar manner and the results recorded. If no greater difference than 2° Fahrenheit exists between any two of the three recorded results, each result is to be corrected for atmospheric pressure, as hereafter described, and the average of the three corrected results is the flashing point of the sample. In the event of there being a greater difference than 2° Fahrenheit between any two of the results, the series of tests is to be rejected and a fresh series, of three, similarly obtained, and so on until a sufficiently concordant series is furnished, when the results are to be corrected and the average taken in the manner already described.

No flash which takes place within eight degrees of the temperature at which the testing is commenced shall be accepted as the true flashing point of the sample tested. In the event of a flash occurring at or below 64° when the test is applied in the manner above described, the next testing shall be commenced ten degrees lower than the temperature at which the flash had been previously obtained (that is to say, at 54° or thereunder), and this procedure shall be continued until the results of three consecutive tests do not show a greater difference than 2°.

If a temperature of 76° Fahrenheit has been reached without a flash occurring, the application of the test-flame is to be continued at every degree rise of temperature until a temperature of 95° Fahrenheit has been reached. If no flash has occurred up to this point, and if the petroleum is declared to be imported subject to the provisions of the Act, the tests shall not be continued, and the testing officer shall certify that the petroleum has a flashing point over 95° and is not dangerous. But if the petroleum is oil ordinarily used for lubricating purposes and is declared to have its flashing point at or above 200° degrees, or is oil to which a notification of the Local Government exempting it from the operation of the Act will be applicable in the event of the flashing point being found to be at or above 120°, the test shall be continued as follows:—The oil-cup is to be removed from the water-bath, and the temperature of the water in the water-bath is to be reduced to 95° Fahrenheit by pouring cold water into the funnel (the hot water escaping by the overflow-pipe). The air-chamber is then to be filled to a depth of 1½ inches with water at a temperature of about 95° Fahrenheit, the oil-cup is to be replaced in the water-bath and the spirit-lamp attached to the water-bath is to be lighted and placed underneath. The test-flame is then to be again applied, from 96° Fahrenheit, at every degree rise of temperature as indicated by the thermometer in the oil-cup until a flash takes place or until a temperature of 200° Fahrenheit or 120° Fahrenheit, as the case may be, has been reached. If during this operation the test-flame appears to diminish in size, the lamp is to be replenished in the manner prescribed at (2) without interrupting the test.

The Petroleum Act, 1886.

(The Schedule.)

If a flash occurs at any temperature between 76° and 200° Fahrenheit, the temperature at which it occurs, subject to correction for atmospheric pressure, is the flashing point of the sample.

In repeating a test a fresh sample of oil must always be used, the tested sample being thrown away, and the cup must be wiped dry from any adhering oil and cooled, as already described, before receiving the fresh sample.

5. Correction for atmospheric pressure.—As the flashing point of an oil is influenced by changes in atmospheric pressure to an average extent of 1·6° Fahrenheit for every inch of the barometer, a correction of the observed flashing point may become necessary. The height of the barometer must therefore be determined at the time of making the test for the flashing point. The true height of the barometer for the purpose of the test shall be considered to be the height of the column of mercury measured at 32° Fahrenheit, which is supported by the air pressure at the time of the experiment; that is, the actual height of the barometer at the time of observation duly corrected for any error of the instrument and for its temperature if necessary. For the purpose of applying the correction to the flashing point of the oil obtained by the test, a table is appended to this schedule, giving the flashing points of oils ranging from 65° to 80° Fahrenheit, under pressure ranging from 27 to 31 inches of mercury.

The table is used in the following manner:—

Example.—An oil has given a flashing point of 71°, the barometer being at 28·6 inches; take the nearest number to 71° in the vertical column headed 28·6. This number is 70·8. Substitute for this the number in the same horizontal line in the column headed 30 (the normal height of the barometer). The substituted number, that is, the true flashing point of the oil, is 73°.

2. On the general question of standards and the definition of dangerous petroleum, we adhere to the scheme laid down in section 3 of the Bill. But Dr. Warden and Mr. Pedler suggest that the lowest standard for lubricating oils (the attainment of which would exempt them from the operation of the Act) should be fixed at 200° instead of 250° as in the present Act. It is, they explain, practically impossible with the Abel apparatus to test up to 250°. They consider the limit of 150°, which is proposed in some of the papers, too low for this country, and believe 200° would meet all reasonable requirements. In this view we concur. We are also of opinion that Local Governments should be empowered to exempt from the operation of the Act and rules oil certified to be over 120° when imported as ordinary cargo and in limited quantities.

3. We consider that section 4 of the Bill should be omitted. Messrs. Warden and Pedler point out that the drawback of the fragility of glass for carriage is frequently more than counterbalanced by its impermeability. It is very difficult in this country to get tin or metal vessels made which shall be thoroughly impervious to highly volatile oil.

4. It is suggested by the Bombay Government and other authorities that it should be made clear that conveyance by sea from one part of British India to another is "transport" and not "import" within the meaning of the Act. We are of opinion that some discretion in the matter should be left to the Local Governments. It would be unsafe, for instance, at present to admit freely to Calcutta oil brought up from Burma. Experience has shown that in Burma refining is not yet thoroughly understood, and the local testing is not at present very trustworthy. The Local Governments in India should have power to treat such oil as foreign oil until its quality generally improves. On the other hand, there is no reason why foreign oil once properly tested should be re-tested on arrival at a second port. We have taken power for the Local Governments of territories, such as Burma and Assam, in which oil is or is likely to be produced, to appoint testing officers at or near refineries, and to prevent the removal from the refineries of oil which does not satisfy the tests otherwise than under the regulations for the control of dangeous petroleum.

5. Turning now to the question of the method of sampling cargoes, we concur with the Bombay Government and other authorities in thinking that it should be open to the Local Government by rule to provide for sampling either before or after landing; to prescribe the number of samples to be taken from a cargo or consignment or any part thereof; to provide, when the first test is unsatisfactory, or when doubt is felt as to the uniformity of quality in the cargo, for the landing and sorting of the cargo in lots, or its delivery into boats, each of a certain capacity; and for the sampling of each lot or boat-load, and its ultimate treatment in accordance with the results of the test in each case.

When a doubtful cargo has to be landed and stacked, substantial fees should be levied, as much additional work is thrown upon Government officers.

6. With reference to the objections taken by some Bombay officers to the provisions of the schedule requiring that the sample tin should be tapped in presence of the testing officer, we observe that Messrs. Warden and Pedler both attach importance to this, as all manipulation and airing of the oil tends to raise its flashing point, and the drawing of oil for testing purposes should in any case be under the control of a responsible officer of the testing department. They consider that in most cases the selection of one case from a cargo of oil certified before arrival to be ordinary petroleum is sufficient, if care is taken to get the sample from below, and thus to defeat any attempt at "facing" the cargo. The number of samples taken at Bombay appears to be unduly large, and has given rise to the objection that to convey them to the Chemical Examiner's laboratory would be an arduous task. We have so amended the Schedule, Part II, paragraph 1, as to provide that the testing officer or some person duly authorized by him shall superintend the drawing of the sample.

7. In revising the Bill we have had regard to the practice which obtains in Bombay of allowing delivery into cargo-boats pending the result of testing, and to the suggestion of the Bengal Government that the Local Government should have the power in special cases to order further tests in such manner as it may deem expedient.

8. As regards the suggestion of the Bombay Government that a second standard apparatus should be maintained at Bombay, it appears to us to be highly important to secure uniformity in the tests throughout India. To this end there should be but one absolute and ultimate standard, and this can most conveniently be maintained in Calcutta.

9. We are of opinion that the Chemical Examiner should stamp any apparatus sent to him not only with a special number but also with the date of his verification of the apparatus, and further that he should give a certificate in writing under his hand, in a form to be laid down by the Governor General in Council, to the effect that the apparatus has been compared and verified by him on a given date and been found to be correct, or correct subject to certain specified corrections to be applied to the results of tests.

10. The Chemical Examiner should also keep a register of verifications.

11. Messrs. Warden and Pedler suggest that in the Schedule, Part I, provision be made for "a barometer standardised at the Meteorological Office of the province, or at any other place appointed by the Local Government." We have accepted the suggestion.

12. With respect to the changes in the Schedule, Part III, proposed by Dr. Lyon, Messrs. Warden and Pedler are inclined to hold that Sir F. Abel has in a paper before us sufficiently met Dr. Lyon's difficulty, and they believe that in practice no difficulty is likely to arise of the kind Dr. Lyon puts forward. They have, however, suggested, and we have acted on the suggestion, that all possible objection would be removed if it were provided that no flashing point obtained should be accepted unless it be at least 8° above the temperature at which the testing commenced.

13. Messrs. Warden and Pedler are of opinion that it is unnecessary in the case of ordinary petroleum to continue the tests when no flash has been obtained up to 95° Fahrenheit. It is only in the case of petroleum for which exemption from the Act is claimed that the test need be continued in the manner laid down in the fourth paragraph of the rules for "application of the test". We have modified that paragraph accordingly.

14. In the Schedule, Part III, paragraph 5, we have pointed out that the height of the barometer must be determined at the time of making the test for the flashing point.

15. We are advised not to accept the suggestion made from Burma to adopt Howmann's apparatus in preference to Abel's.

16. We have had regard to the remarks of the Bombay Government with reference to the repeal of the municipal laws affecting petroleum, and to giving power to Port Trusts to regulate their own fees for the storage of petroleum

17. Having thus amended the Bill we have deemed it advisable to consolidate it and the Petroleum Act of 1881, and, in doing so, have taken the opportunity (a) to enhance the penalty for keeping, transporting, selling or exposing for sale dangerous petroleum in contravention of the Act, and (b) to empower the Governor General in Council to make rules as to the transport of petroleum from any part of British India to any other part.

18. The other alterations we have made in consolidating the Bill and the Act are few and unimportant and do not call for notice.

Calcutta, the 16*th March* 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 12TH OF MARCH 1886.

At the close of the previous week the meteorological conditions had become slightly disturbed over Bengal, and a few local storms had been reported. At the commencement of the present week, that is on the 6th instant, a further and rather rapid fall of pressure took place over parts of Upper India, and the dry westerly wind current gave way, and easterly moist winds re-appeared at most of the stations in North-Western and Central India. This was followed on the 7th by moderate rain over Northern India, while snow was reported in the Himalayas, and round Simla the snow fell as low as 7,500 feet. Rain was again reported over Northern India on the 8th. These disturbed conditions also apparently extended in an eastward and southward direction, and on the 8th rain, which fell generally during local storms, was received over considerable parts of Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, while a few showers fell in South-West Bengal. On the following day conditions became still more disturbed, and general and in many cases heavy rain was received in Orissa, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and over parts of South Behar. The disturbed conditions again travelled in an easterly direction, and on the 10th brought general rain to North Behar and North Bengal, while rain continued to fall in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. On the 10th and 11th pressure commenced to rise with very great rapidity over Northern India, and the seat of maximum pressure was transferred to the Punjab. Dry westerly and north-westerly winds then set in over Northern India, which gradually drove back the easterly humid current, and with the setting in of these north-westerly winds over Bengal on the 11th and 12th, weather conditions became settled and rain ceased to fall, except in some parts of Orissa, where up to the close of the week a few showers were reported. On the 12th instant winds in Bengal were generally westerly and north-westerly, skies were clearing rapidly and humidity was decreasing, but at many stations temperature was again increasing.

Pressure—Was in the previous week 0·049″ below the normal, the defect being largest in South Behar. In the present week pressure has been decidedly above the normal, the mean excess being 0·085″, while in some cases the excess has equalled more than a tenth of an inch.

Temperature—Has fallen decidedly during the week over the greater part of the province, owing to the occurrence of local storms accompanied by rain; and while during last week the mean temperature over the whole province was between 4° and 5° above the normal, in the present week temperature has been 3·4° in defect. The largest defect from normal temperature has been 5·3° in Chutia Nagpur, while in South-West Bengal and South Behar the defect has been between 4° and 5°. In East Bengal and North Behar on the other hand the defect has only equalled between 1° and 2°. The defects have been largest in the maximum or day temperatures, and thus at Hazaribagh the defect in the mean maximum temperature from the normal average of the week has been 7·6°, while at Burdwan, Jessore and Patna the defect has been between 6° and 7°.

The rainfall for the week has been most copious in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur. In these divisions rain has fallen on an average on about three days, and in Orissa the average rainfall recorded has been 2·00 inches and in Chutia Nagpur 1·73 inches. These amounts very largely exceed the normal rainfall for the period. In Orissa the districts which have received the largest falls are Cuttack and Balasore, while in Chutia Nagpur the Hazaribagh and Lohardugga districts have received the most copious falls. In South-West Bengal and South Behar rain has fallen on generally from one to two days in the week, and South-West Bengal records an average rainfall of 0·86 inch and South Behar 0·66 inch. These amounts are also considerably above the normal average. In other districts the rainfall has been comparatively scanty; North Behar has averaged 0·27 inch, North Bengal 0·12 inch and East Bengal 0·08 inch only.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 12th March 1886 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 96 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

General Remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during the month ended 30th January 1886.

INCREASES.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The increase in this staple is due to an abundant harvest this year.

Gram and Pulses.—Brisk local demand in the various mofussil trade centres, attended with low prices, resulted in the increase in these commodities.

Cotton.—The increase in this valuable staple of commerce is attributable to a good demand and fair prices in the Calcutta market for export

Fruits.—This increase was principally in betel-nuts, pomegranates, &c, and is accounted for by active trade in the up-country markets.

Piece-goods—The improvement in this staple was due to a rise in the rate of exchange during the first fortnight of January 1886

Hides.—This was due to ordinary fluctuation of trade.

Opium.—This increase is attributable to more opium having been manufactured this year.

Railway material, foreign.—Large despatches to Paleza ghât and Benares for works led to the increase in these articles.

Sugar. The increase in this commodity is accounted for by better prices and demand in the mofussil markets.

Government stores.—The military assemblage at Delhi upon the occasion of the Camp of Exercise accounts for this increase.

DECREASES.

Coal.—There has been an increase in the upwards and a decrease in the downwards coal, resulting in a net decrease which was due to want of demand in the Calcutta market.

Wheat.—The decrease in this important staple is accounted for by the remains of the old crop in the market being reported as weevily and inferior, and to the new crop not having yet been harvested.

Indigo.—This decrease was due to the market having been extremely flat and prices indifferent.

Iron.—A limited demand this year for iron has caused this decrease.

Salt—The decrease in this staple is attributable to less production at the Sambhar lakes.

Saltpetre.—This decrease may be attributable to ordinary fluctuation of trade.

Spices.—The apparent falling off in this staple is accounted for by there having been a large traffic in spices during January 1885.

Seeds.—Due to the old stocks having become exhausted and the new stock not being in the market.
